4th Corps.—Rebais.
3rd and 7th Corps.—South-west of Montmirail.

All these troops constituted the 1st German Army, which was directed against the French 6th Army on the Ourcq, and the British Forces and the left of the 5th French Army south of the Marne.

The 2nd German Army (IX., X., X.R. and Guard) was moving against the centre and right of the 5th French Army and the 9th French Army.

On the 7th September both the 5th and 6th French Armies were heavily engaged on our flank. The 2nd and 4th Reserve German Corps on the Ourcq vigorously opposed the advance of the French towards that river, but did not prevent the 6th Army from gaining some headway, the Germans themselves suffering serious losses. The French 5th Army threw the enemy back to the line of the Petit Morin river after inflicting severe losses upon them, especially about Monteeaux, which was carried at the point of the bayonet.

The enemy retreated before our advance, covered by his 2nd and 9th and Guard Cavalry Divisions, which suffered severely.

Our Cavalry acted with great vigour, especially General De Lisle's Brigade with the 9th Lancers and 18th Hussars.

On the 8th September the enemy continued his retreat northward, and our Army was successfully engaged during the day with strong rearguards of all arms on the Petit Morin River, thereby materially assisting the progress of the French Armies on our right and left, against whom the enemy was making his greatest efforts. On both sides the enemy was thrown back with very heavy loss. The first Army Corps encountered stubborn resistance at La Trétorie (north of Rebais). The enemy occupied a strong position with infantry and guns on the northern bank of the Petit Morin River; they were dislodged with considerable loss. Several machine guns and many prisoners were captured, and upwards of two hundred German dead were left on the ground.

The forcing of the Petit Morin at this point was much assisted by the Cavalry and the 1st Division, which crossed higher up the stream.

Later in the day a counter-attack by the enemy was well repulsed by the First Army Corps, a great many prisoners and some guns again falling into our hands.

On this day (8th September) the Second Army Corps encountered considerable opposition, but drove back the enemy at all points with great loss, making considerable captures.

The Third Army Corps also drove back considerable bodies of the enemy's infantry and made some captures.

On the 9th September the First and Second Army Corps forced the passage of the Marne and advanced some miles to the north of it. The Third Corps encountered considerable opposition, as the bridge at La Ferté was destroyed and the enemy held the town on the opposite bank in some strength, and thence persistently obstructed the construction of a bridge; so the passage was not effected until after nightfall.

During the day's pursuit the enemy suffered heavy loss in killed and wounded, some hundreds of prisoners fell into our hands and a battery of eight machine guns was captured by the 2nd Division.

On this day the 6th French Army was heavily engaged west of the river Ourcq. The enemy had largely increased his force opposing them; and very heavy fighting ensued, in which the French were successful throughout.

The left of the 5th French Army reached the neighbourhood of Château Thierry after the most severe fighting, having driven the enemy completely north of the river with great loss.

The fighting of this Army in the neighbourhood of Montmirail was very severe.

The advance was resumed at daybreak on the 10th up to the line of the Ourcq, opposed by strong rearguards of all arms. The 1st and 2nd Corps, assisted by the Cavalry Division on the right, the 3rd and 5th Cavalry Brigades on the left, drove the enemy northwards. Thirteen guns, seven machine guns, about 2,000 prisoners, and quantities of transport fell into our hands. The enemy left many dead on the field. On this day the French 5th and 6th Armies had little opposition.

As the 1st and 2nd German Armies were now in full retreat, this evening marks the end of the battle which practically commenced on the morning of the 6th instant; and it is at this point in the operations that I am concluding the present despatch.

Although I deeply regret to have had to report heavy losses in killed and wounded throughout these operations, I do not think they have been excessive in view of the magnitude of the great fight, the outlines of which I have only been able very briefly to describe, and the demoralisation and loss in killed and wounded which are known to have been caused to the enemy by the vigour and severity of the pursuit.

In concluding this despatch I must call your Lordship's special attention to the fact that from Sunday, August 23rd, up to the present date (September 17th), from Mons back almost to the Seine, and from the Seine to the Aisne, the Army under my command has been ceaselessly engaged without one single day's halt or rest of any kind.

Since the date to which in this despatch I have limited my report of the operations, a great battle on the Aisne has been proceeding. A full report of this battle will be made in an early further despatch.

It will, however, be of interest to say here that, in spite of a very determined resistance on the part of the enemy, who is holding in strength and great tenacity a position peculiarly favourable to defence, the battle which commenced on the evening of the 12th instant has, so far, forced the enemy back from his first position, secured the passage of the river, and inflicted great loss upon him, including the capture of over 2,000 prisoners and several guns.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

Commanding-in-Chief,

The following despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, British Forces in the Field :—

8th October 1914.

MY LORD,

I have the honour to report the operations in which the British Forces in France have been engaged since the evening of the 10th September.

1. In the early morning of the 11th the further pursuit of the enemy was commenced; and the three Corps crossed the Ourcq practically unopposed, the Cavalry reaching the line of the Aisne River; the 3rd and 5th Brigades south of Soissons, the 1st, 2nd and 4th on the high ground at Couvrelles and Cerseuil.

On the afternoon of the 12th from the opposition encountered by the 6th French Army to the west of Soissons, by the 3rd Corps south-east of that place, by the 2nd Corps south of Missy and Vailly, and certain indications all along the line, I formed the opinion that the enemy had, for the moment at any rate, arrested his retreat and was preparing to dispute the passage of the Aisne with some vigour.

South of Soissons the Germans were holding Mont de Paris against the attack of the right of the French 6th Army when the 3rd Corps reached the neighbourhood of Buzancy, south-east of that place. With the assistance of the Artillery of the 3rd Corps the French drove them back across the river at Soissons, where they destroyed the bridges.

The heavy artillery fire which was visible for several miles in a westerly direction in the valley of the Aisne showed that the 6th French Army was meeting with strong opposition all along the line.

On this day the Cavalry under General Allenby reached the neighbourhood of Braine and did good work in clearing the town and the high ground beyond it of strong hostile detachments. The Queen's Bays are particularly mentioned by the General as having assisted greatly in the success of this operation. They were well supported by the 3rd Division, which on this night bivouacked at Brenelle, south of the river.

The 5th Division approached Missy, but were unable to make headway.

The 1st Army Corps reached the neighbourhood of Vauxcéré without much opposition.

In this manner the Battle of the Aisne commenced.

2. The Aisne Valley runs generally east and west, and consists of a flat-bottomed depression of width varying from half a mile to two miles, down which the river follows a winding course to the west at some points near the southern slopes of the valley and at others near the northern. The high ground both on the north and south of the river is approximately 400 feet above the bottom of the valley and is very similar in character, as are both slopes of the valley itself, which are broken into numerous rounded spurs and re-entrants. The most prominent of the former are the Chivre spur on the right bank and Sermoise spur on the left. Near the latter place the general plateau on the south is divided by a subsidiary valley of much the same character down which the small River Vesle flows to the main stream near Sermoise. The slopes of the plateau overlooking the Aisne on the north and south are of varying steepness, and are covered with numerous patches of wood, which also stretch upwards and backwards over the edge on to the top of the high ground. There are several villages and small towns dotted about in the valley itself and along its sides, the chief of which is the town of Soissons.

The Aisne is a sluggish stream of some 170 feet in breadth, but, being 15 feet deep in the centre, it is unfordable. Between Soissons on the west and Villers on the east (the part of the river attacked and secured by the British Forces) there are eleven road bridges across it. On the north bank a narrow-gauge railway runs from Soissons to Vailly, where it crosses the river and continues eastward along the south bank. From Soissons to Sermoise a double line of railway runs along the south bank, turning at the latter place up the Vesle Valley towards Bazoches.

The position held by the enemy is a very strong one, either for a delaying action or for a defensive battle. One of its chief military characteristics is that from the high ground on neither side can the top of the plateau on the other side be seen except for small stretches. This is chiefly due to the woods on the edges of the slopes. Another important point is that all the bridges are under either direct or high angle artillery fire.

The tract of country above described, which lies north of the Aisne, is well adapted to concealment, and was so skilfully turned to account by the enemy as to render it impossible to judge the real nature of his opposition to our passage of the river, or to accurately gauge his strength; but I have every reason to conclude that strong rearguards of at least three army corps were holding the passages on the early morning of the 13th.

3. On that morning I ordered the British Forces to advance and make good the Aisne.

The 1st Corps and the Cavalry advanced on the river. The 1st Division was directed on Chanouille viâ the canal bridge at Bourg, and the 2nd Division on Courtecon and Presles viâ Pont-Arcy and on the canal to the north of Braye viâ Chavonne. On the right the Cavalry and 1st Division met with slight opposition, and found a passage by means of the canal which crosses the river by an aqueduct. The Division was therefore able to press on, supported by the Cavalry Division on its outer flank, driving back the enemy in front of it.

On the left the leading troops of the 2nd Division reached the river by 9 o'clock. The 5th Infantry Brigade were only enabled to cross, in single file and under considerable shell fire, by means of the broken girder of the bridge which was not entirely submerged in the river. The construction of a pontoon bridge was at once undertaken, and was completed by 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

On the extreme left the 4th Guards Brigade met with severe opposition at Chavonne, and it was only late in the afternoon that it was able to establish a foothold on the northern bank of the river by ferrying one battalion across in boats.

By nightfall the 1st Division occupied the area Moulins-Paissy-Geny, with posts in the village of Vendresse.

The 2nd Division bivouacked as a whole on the southern bank of the river, leaving only the 5th Brigade on the north bank to establish a bridge head.

The Second Corps found all the bridges in front of them destroyed, except that of Condé, which was in possession of the enemy, and remained so until the end of the battle.

In the approach to Missy, where the 5th Division eventually crossed there is some open ground which was swept by heavy fire from the opposite bank. The 13th Brigade was, therefore, unable to advance; but the 14th, which was directed to the east of Venizel at a less exposed point, was rafted across, and by night established itself with its left at St. Marguérite. They were followed by the 15th Brigade; and later on both the 14th and 15th supported the 4th Division on their left in repelling a heavy counter-attack on the Third Corps.

On the morning of the 13th the Third Corps found the enemy had established himself in strength on the Vregny Plateau. The road bridge at Venizel was repaired during the morning, and a reconnaissance was made with a view to throwing a pontoon bridge at Soissons.

The 12th Infantry Brigade crossed at Venizel, and was assembled at Bucy Le Long by 1 P.M., but the bridge was so far damaged that artillery could only be manhandled across it. Meanwhile the construction of a bridge was commenced close to the road bridge at Venizel.

At 2 P.M., the 12th Infantry Brigade attacked in the direction of Chivres and Vregny with the object of securing the high ground east of Chivres, as a necessary preliminary to a further advance northwards. This attack made good progress, but at 5-30 P.M. the enemy's artillery and machine-gun fire from the direction of Vregny became so severe that no further advance could be made. The positions reached were held till dark.

The pontoon bridge at Venizel was completed at 5-30 P.M., when the 10th Infantry Brigade crossed the river and moved to Bucy Le Long.

The 19th Infantry Brigade moved to Billy Sur Aisne, and before dark all the artillery of the Division had crossed the river, with the exception of the Heavy Battery and one Brigade of Field Artillery.

During the night the positions gained by the 12th Infantry Brigade to the east of the stream running through Chivres were handed over to the 5th Division.

The section of the Bridging Train allotted to the Third Corps began to arrive in the neighbourhood of Soissons late in the afternoon, when an attempt to throw a heavy pontoon bridge at Soissons had to be abandoned, owing to the fire of the enemy's heavy howitzers.

In the evening the enemy retired at all points and entrenched himself on the high ground about two miles north of the river along which runs the Chemin-des-Dames. Detachments of Infantry, however, strongly entrenched in commanding points down slopes of the various spurs, were left in front of all three corps with powerful artillery in support of them.

During the night of the 13th and on the 14th and following days the Field Companies were incessantly at work night and day. Eight pontoon bridges and one foot bridge were thrown across the river under generally very heavy artillery fire, which was incessantly kept up on to most of the crossings after completion. Three of the road bridges, i.e., Venizel, Missy and Vailly, and the railway bridge east of Vailly were temporarily repaired so as to take foot traffic and the Villers Bridge made fit to carry weights up to six tons.

Preparations were also made for the repair of the Missy, Vailly and Bourg Bridges so as to take mechanical transport.

The weather was very wet and added to the difficulties by cutting up the already indifferent approaches, entailing a large amount of work to repair and improve.

The operations of the Field Companies during this most trying time are worthy of the best traditions of the Royal Engineers.

4. On the evening of the 14th it was still impossible to decide whether the enemy was only making a temporary halt, covered by rear-guards, or whether he intended to stand and defend the position.

With a view to clearing up the situation, I ordered a general advance.

The action of the First Corps on this day under the direction and command of Sir Douglas Haig was of so skilful, bold and decisive a character that he gained positions which alone have enabled me to maintain my position for more than three weeks of very severe fighting on the north bank of the river.

The Corps was directed to cross the line Moulins—Moussy by 7 P.M.

On the right the General Officer Commanding the 1st Division directed the 2nd Infantry Brigade (which was in billets and bivouacked about Moulins), and the 25th Artillery Brigade (less one battery), under General Bulfin, to move forward before daybreak, in order to protect the advance of the Division sent up the valley to Vendresse. An officer's patrol sent out by this Brigade reported a considerable force of the enemy near the factory north of Troyon, and the Brigadier accordingly directed two regiments (the King's Royal Rifles and the Royal Sussex Regiment) to move at 3 A.M. The Northamptonshire Regiment was ordered to move at 4 A.M. to occupy the spur east of Troyon. The remaining regiment of the Brigade (the Loyal North Lancashire Regiment) moved at 5-30 A.M. to the village of Vendresse. The factory was found to be held in considerable strength by the enemy, and the Brigadier ordered the Loyal North Lancashire Regiment to support the King s Royal Rifles and the Sussex Regiment. Even with this support the force was unable to make headway and on the arrival of the 1st Brigade the Coldstream Guards were moved up to support the right of the leading Brigade (the 2nd), while the remainder of the 1st Brigade supported its left.

About noon the situation was, roughly, that the whole of these two brigades were extended along a line running east and west, north of the line Troyon and south of the Chemin-des-Dames. A party of the Royal North Lancashire Regiment had seized and were holding the factory. The enemy held a line of entrenchments north and east of the factory in considerable strength, and every effort to advance against this line was driven back by heavy shell and machine-gun fire. The morning was wet and a heavy mist hung over the hills, so that the 25th Artillery Brigade and the Divisional Artillery were unable to render effective support to the advanced troops until about 9 o'clock.

By 10 o'clock the 3rd Infantry Brigade had reached a point one mile south of Vendresse, and from there it was ordered to continue the line of the 1st Brigade and to connect with and help the right of the 2nd Division. A strong hostile column was found to be advancing, and by a vigorous counter stroke with two of his battalions the Brigadier checked the advance of this column and relieved the pressure on the 2nd Division. From this period until late in the afternoon the fighting consisted of a series of attacks and counter-attacks. The counter-strokes by the enemy were delivered at first with great vigour, but later on they decreased in strength, and all were driven off with heavy loss.

On the left the 6th Infantry Brigade had been ordered to cross the river and to pass through the line held during the preceding night by the 5th Infantry Brigade and occupy the Courtecon Ridge, whilst a detached force, consisting of the 4th Guards Brigade and the 36th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, under Brigadier-General Perceval, were ordered to proceed to a point east of the village of Ostel.

The 6th Infantry Brigade crossed the river at Pont-Arcy, moved up the valley towards Braye, and at 9 A.M. had reached the line Tilleul—La Buvelle. On this line they came under heavy artillery and rifle fire, and were unable to advance until supported by the 54th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery, and the 44th Howitzer Brigade and the Heavy Artillery.

The 4th Guards Brigade crossed the river at 10 A.M. and met with very heavy opposition. It had to pass through dense woods; field artillery support was difficult to obtain; but one section of a field battery pushed up to and within the firing line. At 1 P.M. the left of the Brigade was south of the Ostel Ridge.

At this period of the action the enemy obtained a footing between the First and Second Corps, and threatened to cut the communications of the latter.

Sir Douglas Haig was very hardly pressed and had no reserve in hand. I placed the Cavalry Division at his disposal, part of which he skilfully used to prolong and secure the left flank of the Guards Brigade. Some heavy fighting ensued, which resulted in the enemy being driven back with heavy loss.

About 4 o'clock the weakening of the counter-attacks by the enemy and other indications tended to show that his resistance was decreasing, and a general advance was ordered by the Army Corps Commander. Although meeting with considerable opposition and coming under very heavy artillery and rifle fire, the position of the corps at the end of the day's operations extended from the Chemin-des-Dames on the right, through Chivy, to Le Cour de Soupi with the 1st Cavalry Brigade extending to the Chavonne—Soissons road.

On the right the corps was in close touch with the French Moroccan troops of the 18th Corps, which were entrenched in échelon to its right rear. During the night they entrenched this position.

Throughout the Battle of the Aisne this advanced and commanding position was maintained, and I cannot speak too highly of the valuable services rendered by Sir Douglas Haig and the Army Corps under his command. Day after day and night after night the enemy's infantry has been hurled against him in violent counter-attack which has never on any one occasion succeeded, whilst the trenches all over his position have been under continuous heavy artillery fire.

The operations of the First Corps on this day resulted in the capture of several hundred prisoners, some field pieces, and machine guns.

The casualties were very severe, one brigade alone losing three of its four Colonels.

The 3rd Division commenced a further advance and had nearly reached the plateau of Aizy when they were driven back by a powerful counter-attack supported by heavy artillery. The Division, however, fell back in the best order, and finally entrenched itself about a mile north of Vailly Bridge, effectively covering the passage.

The 4th and 5th Divisions were unable to do more than maintain their ground.

5. On the morning of the 15th, after close examination of the position, it became clear to me that the enemy was making a determined stand; and this view was confirmed by reports which reached me from the French Armies fighting on my right and left, which clearly showed that a strongly entrenched line of defence was being taken up from the north of Compiégne, eastward and south-eastward, along the whole valley of the Aisne up to and beyond Rheims.

A few days previously the Fortress of Maubeuge fell, and a considerable quantity of siege artillery was brought down from that place to strengthen the enemy's position in front of us.

During the 15th shells fell in our position which have been judged by experts to be thrown by eight-inch siege guns with a range of 10,000 yards. Throughout the whole course of the battle our troops have suffered very heavily from this fire, although its effect latterly was largely mitigated by more efficient and thorough entrenching, the necessity for which I impressed strongly upon Army Corps Commanders. In order to assist them in this work, all villages within the area of our occupation were searched for heavy entrenching tools, a large number of which were collected.

In view of the peculiar formation of the ground on the north side of the river between Missy and Soissons, and its extraordinary adaptability to a force on the defensive, the 5th Division found it impossible to maintain its position on the southern edge of the Chivres Plateau, as the enemy in possession of the village of Vregny to the west was able to bring a flank fire to bear upon it. The Division had, therefore, to retire to a line the left of which was at the village of Marguérite, and thence ran by the north edge of Missy back to the river to the east of that place.

With great skill and tenacity Sir Charles Fergusson maintained this position throughout the whole battle, although his trenches were necessarily on lower ground than that occupied by the enemy on the southern edge of the plateau, which was only 400 yards away.

General Hamilton with the 3rd Division vigorously attacked to the north and regained all the ground he had lost on the 15th, which throughout the battle has formed a most powerful and effective bridge head.

6. On the 16th the 6th Division came up into line.

It had been my intention to direct the First Corps to attack and seize the enemy's position on the Chemin-des-Dames, supporting it with this new reinforcement. I hoped from the position thus gained to bring effective fire to bear across the front of the 3rd Division which, by securing the advance of the latter, would also take the pressure off the 5th Division and the Third Corps.

But any further advance of the First Corps would have dangerously exposed my right flank And, further, I learned from the French Commander-in-Chief that he was strongly reinforcing the 6th French Army on my left, with the intention of bringing up the Allied left to attack the enemy's flank and thus compel his retirement. I therefore sent the 6th Division to join the Third Corps with orders to keep it on the south side of the river, as it might be available in general reserve.

On the 17th, 18th and 19th the whole of our line was heavily bombarded, and the First Corps was constantly and heavily engaged. On the afternoon of the 17th the right flank of the 1st Division was seriously threatened. A counter-attack was made by the Northamptonshire Regiment in combination with the Queen's, and one battalion of the Divisional Reserve was moved up in support. The Northamptonshire Regiment, under cover of mist, crept up to within a hundred yards of the enemy's trenches and charged with the bayonet, driving them out of the trenches and up the hill. A very strong force of hostile infantry was then disclosed on the crest line. This new line was enfiladed by part of the Queen's and the King's Royal Rifles, which wheeled to their left on the extreme right of our infantry line, and were supported by a squadron of cavalry on their outer flank. The enemy's attack was ultimately driven back with heavy loss.

On the 18th, during the night, the Gloucestershire Regiment advanced from their position near Chivy, filled in the enemy's trenches and captured two maxim guns.

On the extreme right the Queen's were heavily attacked, but the enemy was repulsed with great loss. About midnight the attack was renewed on the First Division, supported by artillery fire, but was again repulsed.

Shortly after midnight an attack was made on the left of the 2nd Division with considerable force, which was also thrown back.

At about 1 P.M. on the 19th the 2nd Division drove back a heavy infantry attack strongly supported by artillery fire. At dusk the attack was renewed and again repulsed.

On the 18th I discussed with the General Officer Commanding the Second Army corps and his Divisional Commanders the possibility of driving the enemy out of Condé, which lay between his two Divisions, and seizing the bridge which has remained throughout in his possession.

As, however, I found that the bridge was closely commanded from all points on the south side and that satisfactory arrangements were made to prevent any issue from it by the enemy by day or night, I decided that it was not necessary to incur the losses which an attack would entail as in view of the position of the Second and Third Corps, the enemy could make no use of Condé, and would be automatically forced out of it by any advance which might become possible for us.

7. On this day information reached me from General Joffre that he had found it necessary to make a new plan, and to attack and envelop the German right flank.

It was now evident to me that the battle in which we had been engaged since the 12th instant must last some days longer until the effect of this new flank movement could be felt and a way opened to drive the enemy from his positions.

It thus became essential to establish some system of regular relief in the trenches, and I have used the infantry of the 6th Division for this purpose with good results. The relieved brigades were brought back alternately south of the river, and, with the artillery of the 6th Division, formed a general reserve on which I could rely in case of necessity.

The Cavalry has rendered most efficient and ready help in the trenches, and have done all they possibly could to lighten the arduous and trying task which has of necessity fallen to the lot of the Infantry.

On the evening of the 19th and throughout the 20th the enemy again commenced to show considerable activity. On the former night a severe counter-attack on the 3rd Division was repulsed with considerable loss, and from early on Sunday morning various hostile attempts were made on the trenches of the 1st Division. During the day the enemy suffered another severe repulse in front of the 2nd Division, losing heavily in the attempt. In the course of the afternoon the enemy made desperate attempts against the trenches all along the front of the First Corps, but with similar results.

After dark the enemy again attacked the 2nd Division, only to be again driven back.

Our losses on these two days were considerable, but the number, as obtained, of the enemy's killed and wounded vastly exceeded them.

As the troops of the First Army Corps were much exhausted by this continual fighting, I reinforced Sir Douglas Haig with a brigade from the reserve, and called upon the 1st Cavalry Division to assist them.

On the night of the 21st another violent counter-attack was repulsed by the 3rd Division, the enemy losing heavily.

On the 23rd the four six-inch howitzer batteries, which I had asked to be sent from home, arrived. Two batteries were handed over to the Second Corps and two to the First Corps. They were brought into action on the 24th with very good results.

Our experiences in this campaign seem to point to the employment of more heavy guns of a larger calibre in great battles which last for several days, during which time powerful entrenching work on both sides can be carried out.

These batteries were used with considerable effect on the 24th and the following days.

8. On the 23rd the action of General de Castelnau's Army on the Allied left developed considerably, and apparently withdrew considerable forces of the enemy away from the centre and east. I am not aware whether it was due to this cause or not, but until the 26th it appeared as though the enemy's opposition in our front was weakening. On that day, however, a very marked renewal of activity commenced. A constant and vigorous artillery bombardment was maintained all day, and the Germans in front of the 1st Division were observed to be "sapping" up to our lines and trying to establish new trenches. Renewed counter-attacks were delivered and beaten off during the course of the day, and in the afternoon a well-timed attack by the 1st Division stopped the enemy's entrenching work.

During the night of 27th-28th the enemy again made the most determined attempts to capture the trenches of the 1st Division, but without the slightest success.

Similar attacks were reported during these three days all along the line of the Allied front, and it is certain that the enemy then made one last great effort to establish ascendancy. He was, however, unsuccessful everywhere, and is reported to have suffered heavy losses. The same futile attempts were made all along our front up to the evening of the 28th, when they died away, and have not since been renewed.

On former occasions I have brought to your Lordship's notice the valuable services performed during this campaign by the Royal Artillery.

Throughout the Battle of the Aisne they have displayed the same skill, endurance and tenacity, and I deeply appreciate the work they have done.

Sir David Henderson and the Royal Flying Corps under his command have again proved their incalculable value. Great strides have been made in the development of the use of aircraft in the tactical sphere by establishing effective communication between aircraft and units in action.

It is difficult to describe adequately and accurately the great strain to which officers and men were subjected almost every hour of the day and night throughout this battle.

I have described above the severe character of the artillery fire which was directed from morning till night, not only upon the trenches, but over the whole surface of the ground occupied by our Forces. It was not until a few days before the position was evacuated that the heavy guns were removed and the fire slackened. Attack and counter-attack occurred at all hours of the night and day throughout the whole position, demanding extreme vigilance, the permitting only a minimum of rest.

The fact that between the 12th September to the date of this despatch the total numbers of killed, wounded and missing reached the figures amounting to 561 officers, 12,980 men, proves the severity of the struggle.

The tax on the endurance of the troops was further increased by the heavy rain and cold which prevailed for some ten or twelve days of this trying time.

The Battle of the Aisne has once more demonstrated the splendid spirit, gallantry and devotion which animates the officers and men of His Majesty's Forces.

With reference to the last paragraph of my despatch of September 7th, I append the names of officers, non-commissioned officers and men brought forward for special mention by Army Corps commanders and heads of departments for services rendered from the commencement of the campaign up to the present date.

I entirely agree with these recommendations and beg to submit them for your Lordship's consideration.

I further wish to bring forward the names of the following officers who have rendered valuable service:—General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien and Lieutenant-General Sir Douglas Haig (Commanding First and Second Corps respectively) I have already mentioned in the present and former despatches for particularly marked and distinguished service in critical situations.

Since the commencement of the campaign they have carried out all my orders and instructions with the utmost ability.

Lieutenant-General W. P. Pulteney took over the command of the Third Corps just before the commencement of the Battle of the Marne. Throughout the subsequent operations he showed himself to be a most capable commander in the field and has rendered very valuable services.

Major-General E. H. H. Allenby and Major-General H. de la P. Gough have proved themselves to be Cavalry leaders of a high order, and I am deeply indebted to them. The undoubted moral superiority which our Cavalry has obtained over that of the enemy has been due to the skill with which they have turned to the best account the qualities inherent in the splendid troops they command.

In my despatch of 7th September I mentioned the name of Brigadier-General Sir David Henderson and his valuable work in command of the Royal Flying Corps; and I have once more to express my deep appreciation of the help he has since rendered me.

Lieutenant-General Sir Archibald Murray has continued to render me invaluable help as Chief of the Staff; and in his arduous and responsible duties he has been ably assisted by Major-General Henry Wilson, Sub-Chief.

Lieutenant-General Sir Nevil Macready and Lieutenant-General Sir William Robertson have continued to perform excellent service as Adjutant-General and Quartermaster-General respectively.

The Director of Army Signals, Lieutenant-Colonel J. S. Fowler, has materially assisted the operations by the skill and energy which he has displayed in the working of the important department over which he presides.

My Military Secretary, Brigadier-General the Hon. W. Lambton, has performed his arduous and difficult duties with much zeal and great efficiency.

I am anxious also to bring to your Lordship's notice the following names of officers of my Personal Staff, who throughout these arduous operations have shown untiring zeal and energy in the performance of their duties:—

Aides-de-Camp.
Lieutenant-Colonel Stanley Barry.
Lieutenant-Colonel Lord Brooke.
Major Fitzgerald Watt.

Extra Aide-de-Camp.
Captain the Hon. F. E. Guest.

Private Secretary.
Lieutenant-Colonel Brindsley Fitzgerald.

Major His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught, K.G., joined my Staff as Aide-de-Camp on the 14th September.

His Royal Highness's intimate knowledge of languages enabled me to employ him with great advantage on confidential missions of some importance, and his services have proved of considerable value.

I cannot close this despatch without informing your Lordship of the valuable services rendered by the Chief of the French Millitary Mission at my Headquarters, Colonel Victor Huguet, of the French Artillery. He has displayed tact and judgment of a high order in many difficult situations, and has rendered conspicuous service to the Allied cause.

I have the honour to be,
Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,
(Signed) J. D. P. FRENCH, Field-Marshal,
Commanding-in-Chief,
The British Army in the Field.

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 313.—The following extracts are published for general information :—

Third Supplement, dated the 23rd October 1914, to the London Gazette, dated the 20th October 1914.

Admiralty,

21st October, 1914.

The following despatches have been received from Vice-Admiral (Acting) Sir David Beatty, K.C.B., M.V.O., D.S.O., H.M.S. "Lion," Rear-Admiral Arthur H. Christian, M.V.O., H.M.S. "Euryalus," Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt, Commodore (T), H.M.S. "Arethusa," and Commodore Roger J. B. Keyes, C.B., M.V.O., Commodore (S), reporting the engagement off Heligoland on Friday, the 28th August.

A memorandum by the Director of the Air Department, Admiralty, is annexed.

H.M.S. "Lion,"

1st September 1914.

Sir,—I have the honour to report that on Thursday, 27th August, at 5 A.M., I proceeded with the First Battle Cruiser Squadron and First Light Cruiser Squadron in company, to rendezvous with the Rear-Admiral, "Invincible."

At 4 A.M., 28th August, the movements of the Flotillas commenced as previously arranged, the Battle Cruiser Squadron and Light Cruiser Squadron supporting. The Rear-Admiral, "Invincible," with "New Zealand" and four Destroyers having joined my flag, the Squadron passed through the pre-arranged rendezvous.

At 8-10 A.M. I received a signal from the Commodore (T), informing me that the Flotilla was in action with the enemy. This was presumably in the vicinity of their pre-arranged rendezvous. From this time until 11 A.M. I remained about the vicinity ready to support as necessary, intercepting various signals, which contained no information on which I could act.

At 11 A.M. the Squadron was attacked by three Submarines. The attack was frustrated by rapid manœuvring and the four Destroyers were ordered to attack them. Shortly after 11 A.M. various signals having been received indicating that the Commodore (T) and Commodore (S) were both in need of assistance, I ordered the Light Cruiser Squadron to support the Torpedo Flotillas.

Later I received a signal from the Commodore (T), stating that he was being attacked by a large Cruiser, and a further signal informing me that he was being hard pressed and asking for assistance. The Captain (D), First Flotilla, also signalled that he was in need of help.

From the foregoing the situation appeared to me critical. The Flotillas had advanced only ten miles since 8 A.M., and were only about twenty-five miles from two enemy bases on their flank and rear respectively. Commodore Goodenough had detached two of his Light Cruisers to assist some Destroyers earlier in the day, and these had not yet rejoined. (They rejoined at 2-30 P.M.) As the reports indicated the presence of many enemy ships—one a large Cruiser—I considered that his force might not be strong enough to deal with the situation sufficiently rapidly, so at 11-30 A.M. the Battle Cruisers turned to E.S.E., and worked up to full speed. It was evident that to be of any value the support must be overwhelming and carried out at the highest speed possible.

I had not lost sight of the risk of Submarines, and possible sortie in force from the enemy's base, especially in view of the mist to the South-east

Our high speed, however made submarine attack difficult, and the smoothness of the sea made their detection comparatively easy. I considered that we were powerful enough to deal with any sortie except by a Battle Squadron, which was unlikely to come out in time, provided our stroke was sufficiently repid.

At 12-15 P.M. "Fearless" and First Flotilla were sighted retiring West. At the same time the Light Cruiser Squadron was observed to be engaging an enemy ship ahead. They appeared to have her beat.

I then steered N.E. to sounds of firing ahead, and at 12-30 P.M. sighted "Arethusa" and Third Flotilla retiring to the Westward engaging a Cruiser of the "Kolberg" class on our Port Bow. I steered to cut her off from Heligoland, and at 12-37 P.M. opened fire. At 12-42 the enemy turned to N.E. and we chased at 27 knots.

At 12-56 P.M. sighted and engaged a two-funnelled Cruiser ahead. "Lion" fired two salvoes at her, which took effect, and she disappeared into the mist, burning furiously and in a sinking condition. In view of the mist and that she was steering at high speed at right angles to "Lion," who was herself steaming at 28 knots, the "Lion's" firing was very creditable.

Our Destroyers had reported the presence of floating mines to the Eastward and I considered it inadvisable to pursue her. It was also essential that the Squadrons should remain concentrated, and I accordingly ordered a withdrawal. The Battle Cruisers turned North and circled to port to complete the destruction of the vessel first engaged. She was sighted again at 1-25 P.M. steaming S.E. with colours still flying. "Lion" opened fire with two turrets, and at 1-35 P.M., after receiving two salvoes, she sank.

The four attached Destroyers were sent to pick up survivors, but I deeply regret that they subsequently reported that they searched the area but found none.

At 1-40 P.M. the Battle Cruisers turned to the Northward and "Queen Mary" was again attacked by a Submarine. The attack was avoided by the use of the helm. "Lowestoft" was also unsuccessfully attacked. The Battle Cruisers covered the retirement until nightfall. By 6 P.M. the retirement having been well executed and all Destroyers accounted for I altered course, spread the Light Cruisers, and swept Northwards in accordance with the Commander-in-Chief's orders. At 7-45 P.M. I detached "Liverpool" to Rosyth with German prisoners, 7 officers and 79 men, survivors from "Mainz." No further incident occurred.—I have the honour to be, Sir, your obedient servant,

(Signed) DAVID BEATTY,
Vice-Admiral.

The Secretary of the Admiralty.

"Euryalus,"
28th September 1914.

Sir,—I have the honour to report that in accordance with your orders a reconnaissance in force was carried out in the Heligoland Bight on the 28th August, with the object of attacking the enemy's Light Cruisers and Destroyers.

The forces under my orders (viz., the Cruiser Force, under Rear-Admiral H. H. Campbell, C.V.O., "Euryalus," "Amethyst," First and Third Destroyer Flotillas and the Submarines) took up the positions assigned to them on the evening of the 27th August, and, in accordance with directions given, proceeded during the night to approach the Heligoland Bight.

The Cruiser Force under Rear-Admiral Campbell, with "Euryalus" (my Flagship) and "Amethyst," was stationed to intercept any enemy vessels chased to the westward. At 4-30 P.M. on the 28th August these Cruisers, having proceeded to the eastward, fell in with "Lurcher" and three other Destroyers, and the wounded and prisoners in these vessels were transferred in boats to "Bacchantee" and "Cressy," which left for the Nore. "Amethyst", took "Laurel" in tow, and at 9-30 P.M. "Houge" was detached to take "Arethusa" in tow. This latter is referred to in Commodore R. Y. Tyrwhitt's report, and I quite concur in his remarks as to the skill and rapidity with which this was done in the dark with no lights permissible.

Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt was in command of the Destroyer Flotillas, and his report is enclosed herewith. His attack was delivered with great skill and gallantry, and he was most ably seconded by Captain William F. Blunt, in "Fearless," and the Officers in command of the Destroyers, who handled their vessels in a manner worthy of the best traditions of the British Navy.

Commodore Roger J. B. Keyes, in "Lurcher," had on the 27th August, escorted some Submarines into positions alloted to them in the immediate vicinity of the enemy's coast. On the morning of the 28th August, in company with "Firedrake," he searched the area to the southward of the Battle Cruisers for the enemy's Submarines, and subsequently, having been detached, was present at the sinking of the German Cruiser "Mainz," when he gallantly proceeded alongside her and rescued 220 of her crew, many of whom were wounded. Subsequently he escorted "Laurel" and "Liberty" out of action and kept them company till Rear-Admiral Campbell's Cruisers were sighted.

As regards the Submarine Officers, I would specially mention the names of :—

(a) Lieutenant-Commander Ernest W. Leir. His coolness and resource in rescuing the crews of the "Goshawk's" and "Defender's" boats at a critical time of the action were admirable.

(b) Lieutenant-Commander Cecil P. Talbot. In my opinion, the bravery and resource of the officers in command of Submarines since the war commenced are worthy of the highest commendation.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

A. H. CHRISTIAN,

Rear Admiral.

The Secretary, Admiralty.

H.M.S. "Lowestoft,"

26th September 1914.

Sir,—I have the honour to report that at 5 A.M. on Thursday, 27th August, in accordance with orders received from Their Lordships, I sailed in "Arethusa," in company with the First and Third Flotillas, except "Hornet," "Tigress," "Hydra," and "Loyal" to carry out the pre-arranged operations. H.M.S. "Fearless" joined the Flotillas at sea that afternoon.

At 6-53 A.M. on Friday, 28th August, an enemy's Destroyer was sighted, and was chased by the 4th Division of the Third Flotilla.

From 7-20 to 7-57 A.M. "Arethusa" and the Third Flotilla were engaged with numerous Destroyers and Torpedo Boats which were making for Heligoland; course was altered to port to cut them off.

Two Cruisers, with 4 and 2 funnels, respectively, were sighted on the port bow at 7-57 A.M. the nearest of which was engaged. "Arethusa" received a heavy fire from both Cruisers and several Destroyers until 8-15 A.M., when the four-funnelled Cruiser transferred her fire to "Fearless."

Close action was continued with the two-funnelled Cruiser on converging courses until 8-25 A.M., when a 6-inch projectile from "Arethusa" wrecked the forebridge of the enemy, who at once turned away in the direction of Heligoland, which was sighted slightly on the starboard bow at about the same time.

All ships were at once ordered to turn to the westward, and shortly afterwards speed was reduced to 20 knots.

During this action "Arethusa" had been hit many times, and was considerably damaged; only one 6-inch gun remained in action, all other guns and torpedo tubes having been temporarily disabled.

Lieutenant Eric W. P. Westmacott (Signal Officer) was killed at my side during this action. I cannot refrain from adding that he carried out his duties calmly and collectedly and was of the greatest assistance to me.

A fire occurred opposite No. 2 gun port side caused by a shell exploding some ammunition, resulting in a terrific blaze for a short period and leaving the deck burning. This was very promptly dealt with and extinguished by Chief Petty Officer Frederick W. Wrench, O. N. 158630.

The Flotillas were reformed in Divisions and proceeded at 20 knots. It was now noticed that "Arethusa's" speed had been reduced.

"Fearless" reported that the 3rd and 5th Divisions of the First Flotilla had sunk the German Commodore's Destroyer and that two boats' crews belonging to "Defender" had been left behind, as our Destroyers had been fired upon by a German Cruiser during their act of mercy in saving the survivors of the German Destroyer.

At 10 A.M. hearing that Commodore (S) in "Lurcher" and "Firedrake" were being chased by Light Cruisers, I proceeded to his assistance with "Fearless" and the First Flotilla until 10·37 A.M. when having received no news and being in the vicinity of Heligoland, I ordered the ships in company to turn to the westward.

All guns except two 4-inch guns were again in working order, and the upper deck supply of ammunition was replenished.

At 10-55 A.M. a four-funnelled German Cruiser was sighted, and opened a very heavy fire at about 11 o'clock.

Our position being somewhat critical, I ordered "Fearless" to attack, and the First Flotilla to attack with torpedoes, which they proceeded to do with great spirit. The Cruiser at once turned away, disappeared in the haze and evaded the attack.

About 10 minutes later the same Cruiser appeared on our starboard quarter. Opened fire on her with both 6-inch guns; "Fearless" also engaged her, and one Division of Destroyers attacked her with torpedoes without success.

The state of affairs and our position was then reported to the Admiral Commanding Battle Cruiser Squadron.

We received a very severe and almost accurate fire from this Cruiser; salvo after salvo was falling between 10 and 30 yards short, but not a single shell struck; two torpedoes were also fired at us, being well directed, but short.

The Cruiser was badly damaged by "Arethusa's" 6-inch guns and a splendidly directed fire from "Fearless," and she shortly afterwards turned away in the direction of Heligoland.

Proceeded, and four minutes later sighted the three-funnelled Cruiser "Mainz." She endured a heavy fire from "Arethusa" and "Fearless" and many Destroyers. After an action of approximately 25 minutes she was seen to be sinking by the head, her engines stopped, besides being on fire.

At this moment, the Light Cruiser Squadron appeared, and they very speedily reduced the "Mainz" to a condition which must have been indescribable.

I then recalled "Fearless" and the Destroyers, and ordered cease fire.

We then exchanged broadsides with a large four-funnelled Cruiser on the starboard quarter at long range, without visible effect.

The Battle Cruiser Squadron now arrived, and I pointed out this Cruiser to the Admiral Commanding, and was shortly afterwards informed by him that the Cruiser in question had been sunk and another set on fire.

The weather during the day was fine, sea calm, but visibility poor, not more than 3 miles at any time when the various actions were taking place, and was such that ranging and spotting were rendered difficult.

I then proceeded with 14 Destroyers of the Third Flotilla and 9 of the First Flotilla.

"Arethusa's" speed was about 6 knots until 7 P.M., when it was impossible to proceed any further, and fires were drawn in all boilers except two, and assistance called for.

At 9-30 P.M., Captain Wilmot S Nicholson, of the "Hogue," took my ship in tow in a most seamanlike manner, and observing that the night was pitch dark and the only lights showing were two small hand lanterns, I consider his action was one which deserves special notice from Their Lordships.

I would also specially recommend Lieutenant-Commander Arthur P. N. Thorowgood, of "Arethusa," for the able manner he prepared the ship for being towed in the dark.

H.M. ship under my command was then towed to the Nore, arriving at 5 P.M. on the 29th August. Steam was then available for slow speed, and the ship was able to proceed to Chatham under her own steam.

I beg again to call attention to the services rendered by Captain W. F. Blunt, of H.M.S. "Fearless," and the Commanding Officers of the Destroyers of the First and Third Flotillas, whose gallant attacks on the German Cruisers at critical moments undoubtedly saved "Arethusa" from more severe punishment and possible capture.

I cannot adequately express my satisfaction and pride at the spirit and ardour of my Officers and Ship's Company, who carried out their orders with the greatest alacrity under the most trying conditions specially in view of the fact that the ship, newly built, had not been 48 hours out of the Dockyard before she was in action.

It is difficult to specially pick out individuals, but the following came under my special observation :—

H. M. S. "Arethusa".

Lieutenant-Commander Arthur P. N. Thorowgood, First Lieutenant, and in charge of the After Control.

Lieutenant-Commander Earnest K. Arbuthnot (G), in charge of the Fore Control.

Sub-Lieutenant Clive A. Robinson, who worked the range finder throughout the entire action with extraordinary coolness.

Assistant Paymaster Kenneth E. Badcock, my Secretary, who attended me on the bridge throughout the entire action.

Mr. James D. Godfrey, Gunner (T), who was in charge of the torpedo tubes.

Armourer Arthur F. Hayes, O. N. 342026 (Ch.).

Second Sick Berth Steward George Trolley, O. N. M. 296 (Ch.).

Chief Yeoman of Signals, Albert Fox, O. N. 194656 (Po.), on fore-bridge during entire action.

Chief Petty Officer, Frederick W. Wrench, O. N. 158630 (Ch.) (for ready resource in extinguishing fire caused by explosion of cordite).

Private Thomas Millington, R. M. L. I., No. Ch. 17417.

Private William J. Beirne, R. M. L. I., No. Ch. 13540.

First Writer, Albert W. Stone, O. N. 346080 (Po.).

I also beg to record the services rendered by the following Officers and Men of H. M. Ships under my orders :—

H.M.S. "Fearless".

Mr. Robert M. Taylor, Gunner, for coolness in action under heavy fire.

The following Officers also displayed great resource and energy in effecting repairs to "Fearless" after her return to harbour, and they were ably seconded by the whole of their staffs :—

Engineer Lieutenant-Commander Charles de F. Messervy.

Mr. William Morrissey, Carpenter.

H.M.S. "Goshawk".

Commander The Hon. Herbert Meade, who took his Division into action with great coolness and nerve, and was instrumental in sinking the German Destroyer "V. 187", and, with the boats of his Division, saved the survivors in a most chivalrous manner.

H.M.S. "Ferret".

Commander Geoffrey Mackworth, who, with his Division, most gallantly seconded Commander Meade, of "Goshawk".

H.M.S. "Leartes".

Lieutenant-Commander Malcolm L. Goldsmith, whose ship was seriously damaged, taken in tow, and towed out of action by "Fearless".

Engineer Lieutenant-Commander Alexander Hill, for repairing steering gear and engines under fire.

Sub-Lieutenant George H. Faulkner, who continued to fight his gun after being wounded.

Mr. Charles Powell, Acting Boatswain, O.N. 209388, who was gunlayer of the centre gun, which made many hits. He behaved very coolly, and set a good example when getting in tow and clearing away the wreckage after the action.

Edward Naylor, Petty Officer Torpedo Gunner's Mate, O.N. 189136, who fired a torpedo which the Commanding Officer of "Leartes" reports undoubtedly hit the "Mainz," and so helped materially to put her out of action.

Stephen Pritchard, Stoker Petty Officer, O.N. 285152, who very gallantly dived into the cabin flat immediately after a shell had exploded there, and worked a fire hose.

Frederick Pierce, Stoker Petty Officer, O.N. 307943, who was on watch in the engine room and behaved with conspicuous coolnees and resource when a shell exploded in No. 2 boiler.

H.M.S. "Laurel."

Commander Frank F. Rose, who most ably commanded his vessel throughout the early part of the action, and after having been wounded in both legs, remained on the bridge until 6 P.M., displaying great devotion to duty.

Lieutenant Charles R. Peplo, First Lieutenant, who took command after Commander Rose was wounded, and continued the action till its close, bringing his Destroyer out in an able and gallant manner under most trying conditions.

Engineer Lieutenant-Commander Edward H. T. Meesson, who behaved with great coolness during the action, and steamed the ship out of action, although she had been very severely damaged by explosion of her own lyddite, by which the after funnel was nearly demolished. He subsequently assisted to carry out repairs to the vessel.

Sam Palmer, Leading Seaman (G. L. 2) O. N. 179529, who continued to fight his gun until the end of the action, although severely wounded in the leg.

Albert Edmund Sellens, Able Seaman (L. T. O.), O. N. 217245, who was stationed at the fore torpedo tubes; he remained at his post throughout the entire action, although wounded in the arm, and then rendered first aid in a very able manner before being attended to himself.

George H. Sturdy, Chief Stoker, O. N. 285547, and

Alfred Britton, Stoker Petty Officer, O. N. 289893 who both showed great coolness in putting out a fire near the centre gun after an explosion had occurred there; several lyddite shells were lying in the immediate vicinity.

William R. Boiston, Engine Room Artificer, 3rd class, O. N. M. 1369, who showed great ability and coolness in taking charge of the after boiler room during the action, when an explosion blew in the after funnel and a shell carried away pipes and seriously damaged the main steam pipe.

William H. Gorst, Stoker Petty Officer, O. N. 305616.

Edward Crane, Stoker Petty Officer, O. N. 307275

Harry Wilfred Hawkes, Stoker 1st class, O. N. K. 12086.

John W. Bateman, Stoker 1st class, O. N. K. 12100.

These men were stationed in the after boiler room and conducted themselves with great coolness during the action, when an explosion blew in the after funnel, and shell carried away pipes and seriously damaged the main steam pipe.

H.M.S. "Liberty".

The late Lieutenant-Commander Nigel K. W. Barttelot commanded the "Liberty" with great skill and gallantry throughout the action. He was a most promising and able Officer, and I consider his death is a great loss to the Navy.

Engineer Lieutenant-Commander Frank A. Butler, who showed much resource in effecting repairs during the action.

Lieutenant Henry E. Horan, First Lieutenant, who took command after the death of Lieutenant-Commander Barttelot, and brought his ship out of action in an extremely able and gallant manner under most trying conditions.

Mr. Harry Morgan, Gunner (T), who carried out his duties with exceptional coolness under fire.

Chief Petty Officer James Samuel Beadle, O. N. 171735, who remained at his post at the wheel for over an hour after being wounded in the kidneys.

John Galvin, Stoker Petty Officer, O. N. 279946, who took entire charge, under the Engineer Officer, of the party who stopped leaks, and accomplished his task although working up to his chest in water.

H.M.S. "Laforey."

Mr. Ernest Roper, Chief Gunner, who carried out his duties with exceptional coolness under fire.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

R. Y. TYRWHITT,

Commodore (T).

H.M.S. "Maidstone,"

17th October, 1914.

Sir,—In compliance with Thier Lordships' directions, I have the honour to report as follows upon the services performed by Submarines since the commencement of hostilities :—

Three hours after the outbreak of war, Submarines "E. 6" (Lieutenant-Commander Cecil P. Talbot), and "E. 8' (Lieutenant-Commander Francis H. H. Goodhart), proceeded unaccompanied to carry out a reconnaissance in the Heligoland Bight. These two vessels returned with useful information, and had the privilege of being the pioneers on a service which is attended by some risk.

During the transportation of the Expeditionary Force the "Lurcher" and "Firedrake" and all the Submarines of the Eighth Submarine Flotilla occupied positions from which they could have attacked the High Sea Fleet, had it emerged to dispute the passage of our transports. This patrol was maintained day and night without relief, until the personnel of our Army had been transported and all chance of effective interference had disappeared.

These Submarines have since been incessantly employed on the Enemy's Coast in the Heligoland Bight and elsewhere, and have obtained much valuable information regarding the composition and movement of his patrols. They have occupied his waters and reconnoitred his anchorages, and, while so engaged, have been subjected to skilful and well executed anti-submarine tactics; hunted for hours at a time by Torpedo Craft and attacked by gunfire and torpedoes.

At midnight on the 26th August, I embarked in the "Lurcher," and, in company with "Firedrake" and Submarines "D. 2," "D. 8," "E. 4," "E. 5," "E. 6," "E. 7," "E. 8," and "E. 9" of the Eighth Submarine Flotilla, proceeded to take part in the operations in the Heligoland Bight arranged for the 28th August. The Destroyers scouted for the Submarines until nightfall on the 27th, when the latter proceeded independently to take up various positions from which they could co-operate with the Destroyer Flotillas on the following morning.

At daylight on the 28th August the "Lurcher" and "Firedrake" searched the area, through which the Battle Cruisers were to advance, for hostile Submarines, and then proceeded towards Heligoland in the wake of Submarines "E.6," "E.7," "E.8," which were exposing themselves with the object of inducing the enemy to chase them to the westward.

On approaching Heligoland, the visibility, which had been very good to seaward reduced to 5,000 to 6,000 yards, and this added considerably to the anxieties and responsibilities of the Commanding Officers of Submarines, who handled their vessels with coolness and judgment in an area which was necessarily occupied by friends as well as foes.

Low visibility and calm sea are the most unfavourable conditions under which Submarines can operate, and no opportunity occurred of closing with the Enemy's Cruisers to within torpedo range.

Lieutenant-Commandar Ernest W. Leir, Commanding Submarine "E.4," witnessed the sinking of the German Torpedo Boat Destroyer "V.187" through his periscope, and observing a Cruiser of the "Stettin" class close, and open fire on the British Destroyers which had lowered their boats to pick up the survivors, he proceeded to attack the Cruiser, but she altered course before he could get within range. After covering the retirement of our Destroyers, which had had to abandon their boats, he returned to the latter, and embarked a Lieutenant and nine men of "Defender," who had been left behind. The boats also contained two Officers and eight men of "V. 187," who were unwounded, and eighteen men who were badly wounded. As he could not embark the latter, Lieutenant-Commander Leir left one of the Officer and six unwounded men to navigate the British boats to Heligoland. Before leaving he saw that they were provided with water, biscuits, and a compass. One German Officer and two men were made prisoners of war.

Lieutenant-Commander Leir's action in remaining on the surface in the vicinity of the enemy and in a visibility which would have placed his vessels within easy gun range of an enemy appearing out of the mist, was altogether admirable.

This enterprising and gallant Officer took part in the reconnaissance which supplied the information on which these operations were based, and I beg to submit his name, and that of Lieutenant-Commander Talbot, the Commanding Officer of "E.-6." who exercised patience, judgment and skill in a dangerous position, for the favourable consideration of their Lordships.

On the 13th September, "E9" (Lieutenant-Commander Max K. Horton), torpedoed and sank the German Light Cruiser "Hela" six miles South of Heligoland.

A number of Destroyers were evidently called to the scene after "E.-9" had delivered her attack, and these hunted her for several hours.

On the 14th September in accordance with his orders, Lieutenant-Commander Horton examined the outer anchorage of Heligoland, a service attended by considerable risk.

On the 25th September, Submarine "E.-6" (Lieutenant-Commander C. P. Talbot), while diving, fouled the moorings of a mine laid by the enemy. On rising to the serface she weighed the mine and sinker; the former was securely fixed between the hydroplane and its guard; fortunately, however, the horns of the mine were pointed outboard. The weight of the sinker made it a difficult and dangerous matter to lift the mine clear without exploding it. After half an hour's patient work this was effected by Lieutenant Frederick A. P. Williams-Freeman and able Seaman Ernest Randall Cremer, Official number 214235, and the released mine descended to its original depth.

On the 6th October, "E.-9" (Lieutenant-Commander Max K. Horton), when patrolling off the Ems, torpedoed and sank the Enemy's Destroyer, "S.126".

The Enemy's Torpedo Craft pursue tactics, which, in connection with their shallow draft, make them exceedingly difficult to attack with torpedo, and Lieutenant-Commander Horton's success was the result of much patient and skilful zeal. He is a most enterprising submarine officer, and I beg to submit his name for favourable consideration.

Lieutenant Charles M. S. Chapman, the Second in Command of "E. 9," is also deserving of credit.

Against an enemy whose capital vessels have never, Light Cruisers have seldom, emerged from their fortified harbours, opportunities of delivering Submarine attacks have necessarily been few, and on one occasion only prior to the 13th September, has one of our Submarines been within torpedo range of a Cruiser during day light hours.

During the exceptionally heavy westerly gales which prevailed between the 14th and 21st September, the position of the Submarines on a lee shore, within a few miles of the Enemy's coast was an unpleasant one.

The short steep seas which accompany westerly gales in the Heligoland Bight made it difficult to keep the conning tower hatches open. There was no rest to be obtained, and even when cruising at a depth of 60 feet, the Submarines were rolling considerably, and pumping—i.e., vertically moving about twenty feet.

I submit that it was creditable to the Commanding Officers that they should have maintained their stations under such conditions.

Service in the Heligoland Bight is keenly sought after by the Commanding Officers of the Eighth Submarine Flotilla, and they have all shown daring and enterprise in the execution of their duties. These Officers have unanimously expressed to me their admiration of the cool and gallant behaviour of the Officers and men under their command. They are, however, of the opinion that it is impossible to single out individuals when all have performed their duties so admirably, and in this I concur.

The following Submarines have been in contact with the enemy during these operations :—

"D. 1" (Lieutenant-Commander Archibald D. Cochrane).
"D. 2" (Lieutenant-Commander Arthur G. Jameson).
"D. 3" (Lieutenant-Commander Edward C. Boyle).
"D. 5" (Lieutenant-Commander Godfrey Herbert).
"E. 4" (Lieutenant-Commander Ernest W. Leir).
"E. 5" (Lieutenant-Commander Charles S. Benning).
"E. 6" (Lieutenant-Commander Cecil P. Talbot).
"E. 7" (Lieutenant-Commander Ferdinand E. B. Feilmann).
"E. 9" (Lieutenant-Commander Max K. Horton).

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) ROGER KEYES,

Commodore (S).

MEMORANDUM BY THE DIRECTOR OF THE AIR DEPARTMENT, ADMIRALTY.

Commander Charles R. Samson, R. N., was in command of the Aeroplane and Armoured Motor Support of the Royal Naval Air Service (Naval Wing) at Dunkerque, between the dates 1st September to 5th October.

During this period several notable air reconnaisances were made, and skirmishes took place. Of these particular mention may be made of the Aeroplane attack on 4th September on 4 enemy cars and 40 men, on which occasion several bombs were dropped; and of the successful skirmishes at Cassel on 4th September, Savy on 12th September, Aniche on 22nd September, Orchies on 23rd September.

On the 22nd September, Flight Lieutenant C. H. Collet, of the Royal Naval Air Service (Naval Wing of the Royal Flying Corps), flying a Sopwith tractor biplane, made a long flight and a successful attack on the German Zeppelin Airship Shed at Düsseldorf.

Lieutenant Collet's feat is notable—gliding down from 6,000 feet, the last 1,500 feet in mist, he finally came in sight of the Airship Shed at a height of 400 feet, only a quarter of a mile away from it.

Flight Lieutenant Marix, acting under the orders of Squadron Commander Spenser Grey carried out a successful attack on the Düsseldorf airship shed during the afternoon of the 8th October. From a height of 600 feet he dropped two bombs on the shed, and flames 500 feet high were seen within thirty seconds. The roof of the shed was also observed to collapse.

Lieutenant Marix's machine was under heavy fire from rifles and mitrailleuse and was five times hit whilst making the attack.

Squadron Commander Spenser Grey, whilst in charge of a flight of naval aeroplanes at Antwerp, penetrated during a 3¼ hours' flight into the enemy's country as far as Cologne on the 8th October. He circled the city under fire at 600 feet and discharged his bombs on the military railway station. Considerable damage was done.

Admiralty.

21st October 1914.

Supplement, dated the 5th December, 1914, to the London Gazette, dated the 4th December, 1914.

Admiralty, 5th December 1914.

The following despatch has been received from Field-Marshal Sir J. D. P. French, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., K.C.M.G., covering a despatch from Major-General A. Paris, C.B., R.M.A., relating to the operations round Antwerp from the 3rd to the 9th October.

From Sir J. D. P. French, Field-Marshal, Commanding-in-Chief to the Secretary of the Admiralty.

In forwarding this report to the Army Council at the request of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, I have to state that, from a comprehensive review of all the circumstances, the force of Marines and Naval Brigades which assisted in the defence of Antwerp was handled by General Paris with great skill and boldness.

Although the results did not include the actual saving of the fortress, the action of the force under General Paris certainly delayed the enemy for a considerable time, and assisted the Belgian Army to be withdrawn in a condition to enable it to recognize and refit, and regain its value as a fighting force. The destruction of war material and ammunition—which but for the intervention of this force, would have proved of great value to the enemy—was thus able to be carried out.

The assistance which the Belgian Army has rendered throughout the subsequent course of the operations on the canal and the Yser river has been a valuable asset to the allied cause, and such help must be regarded as an outcome of the intervention of the General Paris's force. I am further of opinion that the moral effect produced on the minds of the Belgian Army by this necessarily desperate attempt to bring them succour, before it was too late, has been of great value to their use and efficiency as a fighting force.

J. D. P. FRENCH,
Field-Marshal,
Commanding-in-Chief.

From the Secretary of the Admiralty, to Field-Marshal Sir J. D. P. French, Commanding-in-Chief. (Enclosure in No. 1.)

Admiralty 2nd November, 1914.

Sir,

I am commanded by My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to transmit herewith a despatch from Major-General Paris, reporting the proceedings of the Division round Antwerp from the 3rd to 9th October, with a view to its being considered by you and forwarded to the Army Council with your survey of the operations as a whole.

I am, etc.,

W. GRAHAM GREENE.

From Major-General A. Paris, C. B., Commanding Royal Naval Division, to the Secretary of the Admiralty. (Sub-enclosure in No. 1.)

31st October, 1914.

Regarding the operations round Antwerp from 3rd to 9th October, I have the honour to report as follows :—

The Brigade (2,200 all ranks) reached Antwerp during the night 3rd-4th October, and early on the 4th occupied, with the 7th Belgian Regiment, the trenches facing Lierre, with advanced posts on the River Nethe, relieving some exhausted Belgian troops.

The outer forts on this front had already fallen and bombardment of the trenches was in progress. This increased in violence during the night and early morning of 5th October, when the advanced posts were driven in and the enemy effected a crossing of the river, which was not under fire from the trenches.

About midday the 7th Belgian Regiment was forced to retire, thus exposing my right flank. A vigorous counter-attack, gallantly led by Colonel Tierchon, 2nd Chasseurs, assisted by our aeroplanes, restored the position late in the afternoon.

Unfortunately, an attempt made by the Belgian troops during the night (5th-6th October) to drive the enemy across the river failed, and resulted in the evacuation of practically the whole of the Belgian trenches.

The few troops now capable of another counter-attack were unable to make any impression, and the position of the Marine Brigade became untenable.

The bombardment, too was very violent, but the retirement of the Brigade was well carried out, and soon after midday (6th October) an intermediate position, which had been hastily prepared, was occupied.

The two Naval Brigades reached Antwerp during the night, 5th-6th October. The 1st Brigade moved out in the afternoon of 5th to assist the withdrawal to the main 2nd Line of Defence.

The retirement was carried out during the night, 6th-7th October, without opposition, and the Naval Division occupied the intervals between the forts on the 2nd Line of defence.

The bombardment of the town, forts and trenches began at midnight, 7th-8th October, and continued with increasing intensity until the evacuation of the fortress.

As the water-supply had been cut, no attempt could be made to subdue the flames, and soon 100 houses were burning. Fortunately, there was no wind, or the whole town and bridges must have been destroyed.

During the day (8th October) it appeared evident that the Belgian Army could not hold the forts any longer. About 5-30 P.M. I considered that if the Naval Division was to avoid disaster an immediate retirement under cover of darkness was necessary. General DeGuise, the Belgian Commandar, was in complete agreement. He was most chivalrous and gallant, insisting on giving orders that the roads and bridges were to be cleared for the passage of the British troops.

The retirement began about 7-30 P.M., and was carried out under very difficult conditions.

The enemy were reported in force (a division plus a Reserve Brigade) on our immediate line of retreat, rendering necessary a detour of 15 miles to the north.

All the roads were crowded with Belgian troops, refugees, herds of cattle, and all kinds of vehicles, making inter-communication a practical impossibility. Partly for these reasons, partly on account of fatigue, and partly from at present unexplained causes large numbers of the 1st Naval Brigade became detached, and I regret to say are either prisoners or interned in Holland.

Marching all night (8th to 9th October), one battalion of 1st Brigade the 2nd Brigade and Royal Marine Brigade, less one battalion, entrained at St. Gillies Waes and effected their retreat without further incident

The Battalion (Royal Marine Brigade) Rear Guard of the whole force, also entrained late in the afternoon together with many hundreds of refugees, but at Morbeke the line was cut, the engine derailed, and the enemy opened fire.

There was a considerable confusion. It was dark and the agitation of the refugees made it difficult to pass any orders. However, the battalion behaved admirably, and succeeded in fighting its way through, but with a loss in missing of more than half its number. They then marched another 10 miles to Selzaate and entrain there.

Colonel Seely and Colonel Bridges were not part of my command, but they rendered most skilful and helpful services during the evacuation.

The casualties are approximately—

1st Naval Brigade and 2nd Naval Brigade, 5 killed, 64 wounded, 2,040 missing.

Royal Marine Brigade, 23 killed, 103 wounded, 388 missing.

In conclusion, I would call your attention to the good services rendered by the following officers and men during the operations—

Fourth Supplement, dated the 1st January 1915, to the London Gazette, dated the 29th December 1914.

Admiralty,

1st January, 1915.

The following despatch has been received from Captain John C. T. Glossop, reporting the capture of the German Cruiser "Emden" by H.M.A.S. "Sydney."

A memorandum is also appended by the Director of the Air Department Admiralty, containing a report on the aerial attack on the airship sheds and factory at Friedrichshafen.

Despatch from Captain Glossop.

H. M. A. S. "Sydney" at Colombo,

15th November 1914.

SIR,

I have the honour to report that whilst on escort duty with the Convoy under the charge of Captain Silver, H. M. A. S. "Melbourne," at 6-30 A.M., on Monday, 9th November, a wireless message from Cocos was heard reporting that a foreign warship was off the entrance. I was ordered to raise steam for full speed at 7-0 A.M., and proceeded thither. I worked up to 20 knots, and at 9-15 A.M., sighted land ahead and almost immediately the smoke of a ship, which proved to be H. I. G. M. S. "Emden" coming out towards me at a great rate. At 9-40 A.M., fire was opened, she firing the first shot. I kept my distance as much as possible to obtain the advantage of my guns. Her fire was very accurate and rapid to begin with, but seemed to slacken very quickly, all casualties occurring in this ship almost immediately. First the foremost funnel of her went, secondly the foremast, and she was badly on fire aft, then the second Funnel went, and lastly the third funnel, and I saw she was making for the beach on North Keeling Island, where she grounded at 11-20 A.M. I gave her two more broadsides and left her to pursue a merchant ship which had come up during the action.

2. Although I had guns on this merchant ship at odd times during the action I had not fired, and as she was making off fast I pursued and overtook her at 12-10, firing a gun across her bows, and hoisting international Code Signal to stop, which she did. I sent an armed boat and found her to be the S.S "Buresk," a captured British collier, with 18 Chinese crew, 1 English Steward, 1 Norwegian Cook, and a German Prize Crew of 3 Officers, 1 Warrant Officer and 12 men. The ship unfortunately was sinking, the Kingston knocked out and damaged to prevent repairing, so I took all on board, fired 4 shells into her and returned to "Emden," passing men swimming in the water, for whom I left 2 boats I was towing from "Buresk."

3. On arriving again off "Emden" she still had her colours up at mainmast head. I enquired by Signal, International Code "Will you surrender?" and received a reply in Morse "What signal? No signal books" I then made in Morse "Do you surrender?" and subsequently "Have you received my signal?" to neither of which did I get an answer. The German Officers on board gave me to understand that the Captain would never surrender, and therefore, though very reluctantly, I again fired at her at 4-30 P.M., ceasing at 4-35, as she showed white flags and hauled down her ensign by sending a man aloft.

4. I then left "Emden" and returned and picked up the "Buresk's" two boats, rescuing 2 sailors (5-0 P.M.), who had been in the water all day. I returned and sent in one boat to "Emden," manned by her own prize crew from "Buresk," and 1 officer, and stating I would return to their assistance next morning. This I had to do, as I was desirous to find out the condition of cables and Wireless Station at Direction Island. On the passage over I was again delayed by rescuing another sailor (6-30 P.M.), and by the time I was again ready and approaching Direction Island it was too late for the night.

5. I lay on and off all night and communicated with Direction Island at 8 A.M., 10th November, to find that the "Emden's" party consisting of 3 officers and 40 men, 1 launch and 2 cutters had seized and provisioned a 70 tons schooner (the "Ayesha"), having 4 Maxims, with 2 belts to each. They left the previous night at six o'clock. The Wireless Station was entirely destroyed, 1 cable cut, 1 damaged, and 1 intact. I borrowed a Doctor and 2 Assistants, and proceeded as fast as possible to "Emden's" assistance.

6. I sent an officer on board to see the Captain, and in view of the large number of prisoners and wounded and lack of accommodation, etc., in this ship, and the absolute impossibility of leaving them where they were, he agreed that if I received his officers and men and all wounded, "then as for such time as they remained in 'Sydney' they would cause no interference with ship or fittings, and would be amenable to the ship's discipline." I therefore set to work at once to tranship them—a most difficult operation, the ship being on weather side of Island and the sand alongside very heavy. The conditions in the "Emden" were indescribable. I received the last from her at 5-0 P.M., then had to go round to the lee side to pick up 20 more men who had managed to get ashore from the ship.

7. Darkness came on before this could be accomplished, and the ship again stood off and on all night, resuming operations at 5-0 A.M., on 11th November, a cutter's crew having to land with stretchers to bring wounded round to embarking point. A German officer, a Doctor, died ashore the previous day. The ship in the meantime ran over to Direction Island to return their Doctor and Assistants, send cables, and was back again at 10-0 A.M., embarked the remainder of wounded, and proceeded for Colombo by 10-35 A.M., Wednesday, 11th November.

8. Total casualties in "Sydney": killed 3, severely wounded (since dead) 1, severely wounded 1, wounded 4, slightly wounded 4. In the "Emden" I can only approximately state the killed at 7 officers and 108 men from Captain's statement. I had on board 11 officers, 9 warrant officers, and 191 men, of whom 3 officers and 53 men were wounded, and of this number 1 officer and 3 men have since died of wounds.

9. The damage to "Sydney's" hull and fittings was surprisingly small; in all about 10 hits seem to have been made. The engine and boiler rooms and funnels escaped entirely.

13. I have great pleasure in stating that the behaviour of the ship's company was excellent in every way, and with such a large proportion of young hands and people under training it is all the more gratifying. The engines worked magnificently, and higher results than trials were obtained, and I cannot speak too highly of the Medical Staff and arrangements on subsequent trip, the ship being nothing but a hospital of a most painful description.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN C. T. GLOSSOP, Captain,

The Secretary of the Admiralty.

Memorandum by the Director of the Air Department.

Admiralty,

17th December 1914.

On 21st November, 1914, Squadron Commander E. F. Briggs, Flight Commander J. T. Babington, and Flight Lieutenant S. V. Sippe, Royal Navy, carried out an aerial attack on the Zeppelin airship sheds and factory at Friedrickshafen on Lake Constance.

Leaving French Territory shortly before 10 A.M., they arrived over their objective at about noon, and, although under a very heavy rifle, machine-gun and shrapnel fire from the moment they were sighted, they all three dived steeply to within a few hundred feet of the sheds, when they released their bombs—in all eleven.

Squadron Commander Briggs was wounded, brought down, and made a prisoner, but the other two officers regained their starting point after a flight of more than four hours across hostile country under very bad weather conditions.

It is believed that the damage caused by this attack includes the destruction of one airship and serious damage to the larger shed, and also demolition of the hydrogen-producing plant, which had only lately been completed. Later reports stated that flames of considerable magnitude were seen issuing from the factory immediately after the raid.

Third Supplement, dated the 16th February 1915, to the London Gazette, dated the 12th February 1915.

The following Despatch was received on the 12th February, 1915:—

From the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, The British Army in the Field.

To the Secretary of State for War, War Office, London, S. W.

General Headquarters,

2nd February 1915.

MY LORD,

I have the honour to forward a further report on the operations of the Army under my command

1. In the period under review the salient feature was the presence of His Majesty the King in the Field. His Majesty arrived at Headquarters on the 30th November, and left on the 5th December.

At a time when the strength and endurance of the troops had been tried to the utmost throughout the long and arduous Battle of Ypres-Armentiéres the presence of His Majesty in their midst was of the greatest possible help and encouragement.

His Majesty visited all parts of the extensive area of operations and held numerous inspections of the troops behind the line of trenches.

On the 16th November Lieutenant His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K. G., Grenadier Guards, joined my Staff as Aide-de-Camp.

2. Since the date of my last report the operations of the Army under my command have been subject almost entirely to the limitations of weather.

History teaches us that the course of campaigns in Europe, which have been actively prosecuted during the months of December and January, have been largely influenced by weather conditions. It should, however be thoroughly understood throughout the country that the most recent development of armaments and the latest methods of conducting warfare have added greatly to the difficulties and draw-backs of a vigorous winter campaign.

To cause anything more than a waste of ammunition long-range artillery fire requires constant and accurate observation; but this most necessary condition is rendered impossible of attainment in the midst of continual fog and mist.

Again, armies have now grown accustomed to rely largely on aircraft reconnaissance for accurate information of the enemy; but the effective performance of this service is materially influenced by wind and weather.

The deadly accuracy, range and quick-firing capabilities of the modern rifle and machine gun require that a fire-swept zone be crossed in the shortest possible space of time by attacking troops. But if men are detained under the enemy's fire by the difficulty of emerging from a water-logged trench, and by the necessity of passing over ground knee-deep in holding mud and slush, such attacks become practically prohibitive owing to the losses they entail.

During the exigencies of the heavy fighting which ended in the last week of November the French and British Forces had become somewhat mixed up, entailing acertain amount of difficulty in matters of supply and in securing unity of command.

By the end of November I was able to concentrate the Army under my command in one area, and, by holding a shorter line to establish effective reserves.

By the beginning of December there was a considerable falling off in the volume of artillery fire directed against our front by the enemy. Reconnaissance and reports showed that a certain amount of artillery had been withdrawn. We judged that the cavalry in our front, with the exception of one Division of the Guard, had disappeared.

There did not, however, appear to have been any great diminution in the numbers of infantry holding the trenches.

3. Although both artillery and rifle fire were exchanged with the enemy every day, and sniping went on more or less continuously during the hours of daylight, the operations which call for special record or comment are comparatively few.

During the last week in November some successful minor night operations were carried out in the 4th Corps.

On the night of the 23rd-24th November a small party of the 2nd Lincolnshire Regiment, under Lieutenant E. H Impey, cleared three of the enemy's advanced trenches opposite the 25th Brigade and withdrew without loss.

On the night of the 24th-25th Captain J. R. Minshull Ford, Royal Welsh Fusiliers, and Lieutenant E. L. Morris, Royal Engineers, with 15 men of the Royal Engineers and Royal Welsh Fusiliers, successfully mined and blew up a group of farms immediately in front of the German trenches on the Touquet-Bridoux Road which had been used by German snipers.

On the night of the 26th-27th November a small party of the 2nd Scots Guards, under Lieutenant Sir E. H. W. Hulse, Bt., rushed the trenches opposite the 20th Brigade; and after pouring a heavy fire into them returned with useful information as to the strength of the Germans and the position of machine guns.

The trenches opposite the 25th Brigade were rushed the same night by a patrol of the 2nd Rifle Brigade, under Lieutenant E. Durham.

On the 23rd November the 112th Regiment of the 14th German Army Crops succeeded in capturing some 800 yards of the trenches held by the Indian Corps, but the General Officer Commanding the Meerut Division, organized a powerful counter-attack, which lasted throughout the night. At daybreak on the 24th November the line was entirely re-established.

The operation was a costly one, involving many casualties, but the enemy suffered far more heavily.

We captured over 100 prisoners, including 3 officers, as well as 3 machine guns and 2 trench mortars.

On December 7th the concentration of the Indian Corps was completed by the arrival of the Sirhind Brigade from Egypt.

On December 9th the enemy attempted to commence a strong attack against the 3rd Corps, particularly in front of the trenches held by the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Middlesex Regiment.

They were driven back with heavy loss, and did not renew the attempt. Our casualties were very slight.

During the early days of December certain indications along the whole front of the Allied Line induced the French Commanders and myself to believe that the enemy had withdrawn considerable forces from the Western Theatre.

Arrangements were made with the Commander of the 8th French Army for an attack to be commenced on the morning of December 14th.

Operations began at 7 A.M. by a combined heavy artillery bombardment by the two French and the 2nd British Corps.

The British objectives were the Petit Bois and the Maedelsteed Spur, lying respectively to the west and south-west of the village of Wytschaete.

At 7-45 A.M. the Royal Scots, with great dash, rushed forward and attacked the former, while the Gordon Highlanders attacked the latter place.

The Royal Scots commanded by Major F. J. Duncan, D.S.O. in face of a terrible machine gun and rifle fire, carried the German trench on the west edge of the Petit Bois, capturing two machine guns and 53 prisoners, including one officer.

The Gordon Highlanders, with great gallantry, advanced up the Maedelsteed Spur, forcing the enemy to evacuate their front trench. They were, however, losing heavily, and found themselves unable to get any further. At nightfall they were obliged to fall back to their original position.

Captain C. Boddam-Whetham and Lieutenant W. E. R. Dobie showed splendid dash, and with a few men entered the enemy's leading trenches; but they were all either killed or captured.

Lieutenant G. R. V. Hume-Gore and Lieutenant W. H. Paterson also distinguished themselves by their gallant leading.

Although not successful, the operation was most creditable to the fighting spirit of the Gordon Highlanders, most ably commanded by Major A. W. F. Baird, D.S.C.

As the 32nd French Division on the left had been unable to make any progress, the further advance of our infantry into the Wytschaete Wood was not practicable.

Possession of the western edge of the Petit Bois was, however, retained.

The ground was devoid of cover and so water-logged that a rapid advance was impossible, the men sinking deep in the mud at every step they took.

The artillery throughout the day was very skilfully handled by the C.R.A's of the 3rd, 4th and 5th Divisions: Major-General F. D. V. Wing, C.B., Brigadier-General G. F. Milne C.B., D.S.O., and Brigadier-General J. E. W. Headlam, C.B., D.S.O.

The casualties during the day were about 17 officers and 407 other ranks. The losses of the enemy were very considerable, large numbers of dead being found in the Petit Bois and also in the communicating trenches in front of the Gordon Highlanders, in one of which a hundred were counted by a night patrol.

On this day the artillery of the 4th Division, 3rd Corps, was used in support of the attack, under orders of the General Officer Commanding, 2nd Corps.

The remainder of the 3rd Corps made demonstrations against the enemy with a view to preventing him from detaching troops to the area of operations of the 2nd Crops.

From the 15th to 17th December the offensive operations which were commenced on the 14th were continued, but were confined chiefly to artillery bombardment.

The infantry advance against Wytschaete Wood was not practicable until the French on our left could make some progress to afford protection to that flank.

On the 17th it was agreed that the plan of attack as arranged should be modified; but I was requested to continue demonstrations along my line in order to assist and support certain French operations which were being conducted elsewhere.

4. In his desire to act with energy up to his instructions to demonstrate and occupy the enemy, the General Officer Commanding the Indian Corps decided to take the advantage of what appeared to him a favourable opportunity to launch attacks aginst the advanced trenches in his front on the 18th and 19th December.

The attack of the Meerut Division on the left was made on the morning of the 19th with energy and determination, and was at first attended with considerable success, the enemy's advanced trenches being captured. Later on, however, a counter-attack drove them back to their original position with considerable loss.

The attack of the Lahore Division commenced at 4-30 A.M. It was carried out by two companies each of the 1st Highland Light Infantry and the 1st Battalion, 4th Gurkha Rifles, of the Sirhind Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel R. W. H. Ronaldson. This attack was completely successful, two lines of the enemy's trenches being captured with little loss.

Before daylight the captured trenches were filled with as many men as they would hold. The front was very restricted, communication to the rear impossible.

At daybreak it was found that the position was practically untenable. Both flanks were in the air, and a supporting attack, which was late in starting, and therefore, conducted during daylight, failed; although attempted with the greatest gallantry and resolution.

Lieutenant-Colonel Ronaldson held on till dusk, when the whole of the captured trenches had to be evacuated, and the detachment fell back to its original line.

By the night of the 19th December nearly all the ground gained during the day had been lost.

From daylight on the 20th December the enemy commenced a heavy fire from artillery and trench mortars on the whole front of the Indian Corps. This was followed by infantry attacks, which were in especial force againt Givenchy, and between that place and La Quinque Rue.

At about 10 A.M. the enemy succeeded in driving back the Sirhind Brigade, and capturing a considerable part of Givenchy, but the 57th Rifles and 9th Bhopals, north of the canal, and the Connaught Rangers, south of it, stood firm.

The 15th Sikhs of the Divisional Reserve were already supporting the Sirhind Brigade. On the news of the retirement of the latter being received, the 47th Sikhs were also sent up to reinforce General Brunker. The 1st Manchester Regiment, 4th Suffolk Regiment, and two battalions of French Territorials under General Carnegy were ordered to launch a vigorous counter-attack from Pont Fixe through Givenchy to retake by a flank attack the trenches lost by the Sirhind Brigade.

Orders were sent to General Carnegy to divert his attack on Givenchy Village, and to re-establish the situation there.

A battalion of the 58th French Division was sent to Annequin in support.

About 5 P.M. a gallant attack by the 1st Manchester Regiment and one company of the 4th Suffolk Regiment had captured Givenchy, and had cleared the enemy out of the two lines of trenches to the north-east. To the east of the village the 9th Bhopal Infantry and 57th Rifles had maintained their positions, but the enemy were still in possession of our trenches to the north of the village.

General Macbean, with the Secunderabad Cavalry Brigade, 2nd Battalion, 8th Gurkha Rifles, and the 47th Sikhs, was sent up to support General Brunker, who at 2 P.M. directed General Macbean to move to a position of readiness in the second line trenches from Maris northward, and to counter-attack vigorously if opportunity offered.

Some considerable delay appears to have occurred, and it was not until 1 A.M. on the 21st that the 47th Sikhs and the 7th Dragoon Guards under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel H. A. Lempriere, D.S.O., of the latter regiment, were launched in counter-attack.

They reached the enemy's trenches, but were driven out by enfilade fire, their gallant Commander being killed.

The main attack by the remainder of General Macbean's force, with the remnants of Lieutenant-Colonel Lempriere's detachment (which had again been rallied), was finally pushed in at about 4-30 A.M., and also failed.

In the northern section of the defensive line the retirement of the 2nd Battalion, 2nd Gurkha Rifles, at about 10 A.M. on the 20th, had left the flank of the 1st Seaforth Highlanders, on the extreme right of the Meerut Division line, much exposed. This battalion was left shortly afterwards completely in the air by the retirement of the Sirhind Brigade.

The 58th Rifles, therefore, were ordered to support the left of the Seaforth Highlanders, to fill the gap created by the retirement of the Gurkhas.

During the whole of the afternoon strenuous efforts were made by the Seaforth Highlanders to clear the trenches to their right and left. The 1st Battalion, 9th Gurkha Rifles, reinforced the 2nd Gurkhas near the orchard where the Germans were in occupation of the trenches abandoned by the latter regiment. The Garhwal Brigade was being very heavily attacked, and their trenches and loopholes were much damaged; but the brigade continued to hold its front and attack, connecting with the 6th Jats on the left of the Dehra Dun Brigade.

No advance in force was made by the enemy, but the troops were pinned to their ground by heavy artillery fire, the Seaforth Highlanders especially suffering heavily.

Shortly before nightfall the 2nd Royal Highlanders on the right of the Seaforth Highlanders had succeeded in establishing touch with the Sirhind Brigade; and the continuous line (though dented near the orchard) existed throughout the Meerut Division.

Early in the afternoon of December 20th orders were sent to the 1st Crops, which was then in general army reserve, to send an infantry brigade to support the Indian Crops.

The 1st Brigade was ordered to Bethune, and reached that place at midnight on 20th-21st December. Later in the day Sir Douglas Haig was ordered to move the whole of the 1st Division in support of the Indian Crops.

The 3rd Brigade reached Bethune between 8 A.M. and 9 A.M. on the 21st, and on the same date the 2nd Brigade arrived at Lacon at 1 P.M.

The 1st Brigade was directed on Givenchy, vid Pont Fixe, and the 3rd Brigade, through Gorre, on the trenches evacuated by the Sirhind Brigade.

The 2nd Brigade was directed to support; the Dehra Dun Brigade being placed at the disposal of the General Officer Commanding, Meerut Division.

At 1 P.M. the General Officer Commanding 1st Division directed the 1st Brigade in attack from the west of Givenchy in a north-easterly direction, and the 3rd Brigade from Festubert in an east-north-easterly direction, the object being to pass the position originally held by us and to capture the German trenches 400 yards to the east of it.

By 5 P.M. the last Brigade had obtained a hold in Givenchy, and the ground south as far as the canal; and the 3rd Brigade had progressed to a point half a mile west of Festubert.

By nightfall the 1st South Wales Borderers and the 2nd Welsh Regiment of the 3rd Brigade had made a lodgment in the original trenches to the north-east of Festubert, the 1st Gloucestershire Regiment continuing the line southward along the track east of Festubert.

The 1st Brigade had established itself on the east side of Givenchy.

By 3 P.M. the 3rd Brigade was concentrated at Le Touret, and was ordered to retake the trenches which had been lost by the Dehra Dun Brigade.

By 10 P.M. the support trenches west of the orchard had been carried, but the original fire trenches had been so completely destroyed that they could not be occupied.

This operation was performed by the 1st Loyal North Lancashire Regiment and the 1st Northamptonshire Regiment, supported by the 2nd King's Royal Rifle Corps, in reserve.

Throughout this day the units of the Indian Crops rendered all the assistance and support they could in view of their exhausted condition.

At 1 P.M. on the 22nd Sir Douglas Haig took over command from Sir James Willcocks. The situation in the front line was then approximately as follows:—

South of the La Bassée Canal the Connaught Rangers of the Ferozepore Brigade had not been attacked. North of the canal a short length of our original line was still held by the 9th Bhopals and the 57th Rifles of the same brigade. Connecting with the latter was the 1st Brigade holding the village of Givenchy and its eastern and northern approaches. On the left of the 1st Brigade was the 3rd Brigade. Touch had been lost beween the left of the former and the right of the latter. The 3rd Brigade held a line along, and in places advanced to, the east of the Festubert Road. Its left was in communication with the right of the Meerut Division line, where troops of the 2nd Brigade had just relieved the 1st Seaforth Highlanders. To the north, units of the 2nd Brigade held an indented line west of the orchard connecting with half of the 2nd Royal Highlanders, half of the 41st Dogras and the 1st Battalion, 9th Gurkha Rifles. From this point to north the 6th Jats and the whole of the Garhwal Brigade occupied the original line which they had held from the commencement of the operations.

The relief of most units of the southern sector was effected on the night of 22nd December. The Meerut Division remained under the orders of the 1st Crops, and was not completely withdrawn until the 27th December.

In the evening the position at Givenchy was practically re-established, and the third Brigade had re-occupied the old line of trenches.

During the 23rd the enemy's activities ceased, and the whole position was restored to very much its original condition.

In my last despatch I had occasion to mention the prompt and ready help I received from the Lahore Division, under the command of Major-General H. B. B. Watkis, C.B., which was thrown into action immediately on arrival, when the British Forces were very hard pressed during the battle of Ypres-Armentiéres.

The Indian troops have fought with the utmost steadfastness and gallantry whenever they have been called upon.

Weather conditions were abnormally bad, the snow and floods precluding any active operations during the first three weeks of January.

5. At 7-30 A.M. on the 25th January the enemy began to shell Bethune, and at 8 A.M. a strong hostile infantry attack developed south of the canal, preceded by a heavy bombardment of artillery, minenwerfers and, possibly, the explosion of mines, though the latter is doubtful.

The British line south of the canal formed a pronounced salient from the canal on the left, thence running forward toward the railway triangle and back to the main La Bassée-Bethune Road, where it joined the French. This line was occupied by half a battalion of the Scots Guards, and half a battalion of the Coldstream Guards, of the 1st Infantry Brigade. The trenches in the salient were blown in almost at once; and the enemy's attack penetrated this line. Our troops retired to a partially prepared second line, running approximately due north and south from the canal to the road, some 500 yards west of the railway triangle. This second line had been strengthened by the construction of a keep half way between the canal and the road. Here the other two half battalions of the abovementioned regiments were in support.

These supports held up the enemy who, however, managed to establish himself in the brick stacks and some communication trenches between the keep, the road and the canal—and even beyond and west of the keep on either side of it.

The London Scottish had in the meantime been sent up in support, and a counter-attack was organised with the 1st Royal Highlanders, part of the 1st Cameron Highlanders, and the 2nd King's Royal Rifle Corps, the latter regiment having been sent forward from the Divisional Reserve.

The counter-attack was delayed in order to synchronise with a counter-attack north of the canal which was arranged for 1 P.M.

At 1 P.M. these troops moved forward, their flanks making good progress near the road and the canal, but their centre being held up. The 2nd Royal Sussex Regiment was then sent forward, late in the afternoon, to reinforce. The result was that the Germans were driven back far enough to enable a somewhat broken line to be taken up, running from the culvert on the railway, almost due south to the keep, and thence south-east to the main road.

The French left near the road had also been attacked and driven back a little, but not to so great an extent as the British right. Consequently, the French left was in advance of the British right and exposed to a possible flank attack from the north.

The Germans did not, however, persevere further in their attack.

The abovementioned line was strengthened during the night; and the 1st Guards Brigade, which had suffered severely, was withdrawn into reserve and replaced by the 2nd Infantry Brigade.

While this was taking place another and equally severe attack was delivered north of the canal against the village of Givenchy.

At 8-15 A.M., after a heavy artillery bombardment with high explosive shells, the enemy's infantry advanced under the effective fire of our artillery, which, however, was hampered by the constant interruption of telephonic communication between the observers and batteries. Nevertheless, our artillery fire, combined with that of the infantry in the fire trenches, had the effect of driving the enemy from his original direction of advance, with the result that his troops crowded together on the north-east corner of the village and broke through into the centre of the village as far as the keep, which had been previously put in a state of defence. The Germans had lost heavily, and a well-timed local counter-attack, delivered by the reserves of the 2nd Welsh Regiment and 1st South Wales Borderers, and by a company of the 1st Royal Highlanders (lent by the 1st Brigade as a working party—this company was at work on the keep at the time), was completely successful, with the result that, after about an hour's street fighting, all who had broken into the village were either captured or killed; and the original line round the village was re-established by noon.

South of the village, however, and close to the canal, the right of the 2nd Royal Munster Fusiliers fell back in conformity with the troops south of the canal; but after dark that regiment moved forward and occupied the old line.

During the course of the attack on Givenchy the enemy made five assaults on the salient at the north-east of the village about French Farm, but was repulsed every time with heavy loss.

6. On the morning of the 29th January attacks were made on the right of the 1st Corps, south of the canal in the neighbourhood of La Bassée.

The enemy (part of the 14th German Corps), after a severe shelling, made a violent attack with scaling ladders on the keep, also to the north and south of it. In the keep and on the north side the Sussex Regiment held the enemy off, inflicting on him serious losses. On the south side the hostile infantry succeeded in reaching the Northamptonshire Regiment's trenches; but were immediately counter-attacked and all killed. Our artillery co-operated well with the infantry in repelling the attack.

In this action our casualties were inconsiderable, but the enemy lost severely, more than 200 of his killed alone being left in front of our position.

7. On the 1st February a fine piece of work was carried out by the 4th Brigade in the neighbourhood of Cuinchy.

Some of the 2nd Coldstream Guards were driven from their trenches at 2-30 A.M., but made a stand some twenty yards east of them in a position which they held till morning.

A counter-attack, lunched at 3-15 A.M. by one company of the Irish Guards and half a company of the 2nd Coldstream Guards, proved unsuccessful, owing to heavy rifle fire from the east and south.

At 10·5 A.M., acting under orders of the 1st Division, a heavy bombardment was opened on the lost ground for ten minutes; and this was followed immediately by an assault by about 50 men of the 2nd Coldestream Guards with bayonets, led by Captain A. Leigh Bennett, followed by 30 men of the Irish Guards, led by Second Lieutenant F. F. Graham, also with bayonets. These were followed by a party of Royal Engineers with sand bags and wire.

All the ground which had been lost was brilliantly retaken; the 2nd Coldstream Guards also taking another German trench and capturing two machine guns.

Thirty-two prisoners fell into our hands.

The General Officer Commanding 1st Division describes the preparation by the artillery as "splendid, the high explosive shells dropping in the exact spot with absolute precision."

In forwarding his report on this engagement, the General Officer Commanding First Army writes as follows :—

"Special credit is due—

"(i) To Major-General Haking, Commanding 1st Division, for the prompt manner in which he arranged this counter-attack and for the general plan of action, which was crowned with success.

"(ii) To the General Officer Commanding the 4th Brigade (Lord Cavan) for the thorough manner in which he carried out the orders of the General Officer Commanding the Division.

"(iii) To the regimental officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 2nd Coldstream Guards and Irish Guards, who, with indomitable pluck, stormed two sets of barricades, captured three German trenches, two machine guns, and killed or made prisoners many of the enemy."

8. During the period under report the Royal Flying Corps has again performed splendid service.

Although the weather was almost uniformly bad and the machines suffered from constant exposure, there have been only thirteen days on which no actual reconnaissance has been effected. Approximately, one hundred thousand miles have been flown.

In addition to the daily and constant work of reconnaissance and co-operation with the artillery, a number of aerial combats have been fought, raids carried out, detrainments harassed, parks and petrol depôts bombed, etc.

Various successful bomb-dropping raids have been carried out, usually against the enemy's aircraft material. The principle of attacking hostile aircraft whenever and wherever seen (unless highly important information is being delivered) has been adhered to, and has resulted in the moral fact that enemy machines invariably beat immediate retreat when chased.

Five German aeroplanes are known to have been brought to the ground, and it would appear probable that others, though they have managed to reach their own lines, have done so in a considerably damaged condition.

9. In my despatch of 20th November 1914, I referred to the reinforcements of Territorial Troops which I had received, and I mentioned several units which had already been employed in the fighting line.

In the positions which I held for some years before the outbreak of this war I was brought into close contact with the Territorial Force, and I found every reason to hope and believe that, when the hour of trial arrived, they would justify every hope and trust which was placed in them.

The Lords Lieutenant of Counties and the Associations which worked under them bestowed a vast amount of labour and energy on the organization of the Territorial Force; and I trust it may be some recompense to them to know that I, and the principal Commanders serving under me, consider that the Territorial Force has far more than justified the most sanguine hopes that any of us ventured to entertain of their value and use in the field. Commanders of Cavalry Divisions are unstinted in their praise of the manner in which the Yeomanry regiments attached to their brigades have done their duty, both in and out of action. The service of Divisional Cavalry is now almost entirely performed by Yeomanry, and Divisional Commanders report that they are very efficient.

Army Corps Commanders are loud in their praise of the Territorial Battalions which form part of nearly all the brigades at the front in the first line, and more than one of them have told me that these battalions are fast approaching—if they have not already reached—the standard of efficiency of Regular Infantry.

I wish to add a word about the Officers' Training Corps. The presence of the Artists' Rifles (28th Battalion, The London Regiment) with the Army in France enabled me also to test the value of this organization.

Having had some experience in peace of the working of the Officers Training Crops, I determined to turn the Artists' Rifles (which formed part of the Officers Training Crops in peace time) to its legitimate use. I therefore established the battalion as a Training Crops for Officers in the field.

The cadets pass through a course, which includes some thoroughly practical training as all cadets do a tour of 48 hours in the trenches, and afterwards write a report on what they see and notice. They also visit an observation post of a battery or group of batteries, and spend some hours there.

A Commandant has been appointed, and he arranges and supervises the work, sets schemes for practice, administers the school, delivers lectures, and reports on candidates.

The cadets are instructed in all branches of military training suitable for platoon commanders.

Machine gun tactics, a knowledge of which is so necessary for all junior officers, is a special feature of the course of instruction.

When first started the school was able to turn out officers at the rate of 75 a month. This has since been increased to 100.

Reports received from Divisional and Army Corps Commanders on officers who have been trained at the school are most satisfactory.

10. Since the date of my last report I have been able to make a close personal inspection of all the units in the command. I was most favourably impressed by all I saw.

The troops composing the Army in France have been subjected to as severe a trial as it is possible to impose upon any body of men. The desperate fighting described in my last despatch had hardly been brought to a conclusion when they were called upon to face the rigours and hardships of a winter campaign. Frost and snow have alternated with periods of continuous rain.

The men have been called upon to stand for many hours together almost up to their waists in bitterly cold water, only separated by one or two hundred yards from a most vigilant enemy.

Although every measure which science and medical knowledge could suggest to mitigate these hardships was employed, the sufferings of the men have been very great.

In spite of all this they presented, at the inspections to which I have referred, a most soldier-like, splendid, though somewhat warworn appearance. Their spirit remains high and confident; their general health is excellent, and their condition most satisfactory.

I regard it as most unfortunate that circumstances have prevented any account of many splendid instances of courage and endurance, in the face of almost unparalleled hardship and fatigue in war, coming regularly to the knowledge of the public.

Reinforcements have arrived from England with remarkable promptitude and rapidity. They have been speedily drafted into the ranks, and most of the units I inspected were nearly complete when I saw them. In appearance and quality the draft sent out have exceeded my most sanguine expectations, and I consider the Army in France is much indebted to the Adjutant-General's Department at the War Office for the efficient manner in which its requirements have been met in this most essential respect.

With regard to these inspections, I may mention in particular the fine appearance presented by the 27th and 28th Divisions composed principally of battalions which had come from India. Included in the former division was the Princess Patricia's Royal Canadian Regiment. They are a magnificent set of men, and have since done excellent work in the trenches.

It was some three weeks after the events recorded in paragraph 4 that I made my inspection of the Indian Corps, under Sir James Willcocks. The appearance they presented was most satisfactory, and fully confirmed my first opinion that the Indian troops only required rest, and a little acclimatizing, to bring out all their fine inherent fighting qualities.

I saw the whole of the Indian Cavalry Corps, under Lieutenant-General Rimington, on a mounted parade soon after their arrival. They are a magnificent body of Cavalry, and will, I feel sure, give the best possible account of themselves when called upon.

In the meantime, at their own particular request, they have taken their turn in the trenches and performed most useful and valuable service.

11. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Taylor Smith, C.V.O., D.D., Chaplain-General to the Forces, arrived at my Headquarters on 6th January, on a tour of inspection throughout the command.

The Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster has also visited most of the Irish Regiments at the front and the principal centres on the Line of Communications.

In a quiet and unostentatious manner the chaplains of all denominations have worked with devotion and energy in their respective spheres.

The number with the forces in the field at the commencement of the war was comparatively small, but towards the end of last year the Rev. J. M. Sims, D. D., K. H. C., Principal Chaplain, assisted by his Secretary, the Rev. W. Drury, reorganised the branch, and placed the spiritual welfare of the soldier on a more satisfactory footing. It is hoped that the further increase of personnel may be found possible.

I cannot speak too highly of the devoted manner in which all chaplains, whether with the troops in the trenches, or in attendance on the sick and wounded in casualty clearing stations and hospitals on the Line of Communications, have worked throughout the campaign.

Since the commencement of hostilities the work of the Royal Army Medical Crops has been carried out with untiring zeal, skill and devotion. Whether at the front under conditions such as obtained during the fighting on the Aisne, when casualties were heavy and accommodation for their reception had to be improvised, or on the Line of Communications, where an average of some 11,000 patients have been daily under treatment, the organisation of the Medical Services has always been equal to the demands made upon it.

The careful system of sanitation introduced into the Army has, with the assistance of other measures, kept the troops free from any epidemic, in support of which it is to be noticed that since the commencement of the war some 500 cases only of enteric have occurred.

The organisation for the first time in war of Motor Ambulance Convoys is due to the initiative and organising powers of Surgeon-General T. J. O'Donell, D.S.O., ably assisted by Major P. Evans, Royal Army Medical Corps.

Two of these convoys, composed entirely of Red Cross Society personnel, have done excellent work under the superintendence of Regular Medical Officers.

Twelve Hospital Trains ply between the front and the various bases. I have visited several of the trains when halted in stations, and have found them conducted with great comfort and efficiency.

During the more recent phase of the campaign the creation of Rest Depôts at the front has materially reduced the wastage of men to the Line of Communications.

Since the latter part of October, 1914, the whole of the medical arrangements have been in the hands of Surgeon-General Sir A. T. Sloggett, C. M. G., K. H. S., under whom Surgeon-General T. P. Woodhouse and Surgeon-General T. J. O'Donnell have been responsible for the organisation on the Line of Communications and at the front respectively.

12. The exceptional and peculiar conditions brought about by the weather have caused large demands to be made upon the resources and skill of the Royal Engineers.

Every kind of expedient has had to be thought out and adopted to keep the lines of trenches and defence work effective.

The Royal Engineers have shown themselves as capable of overcoming the ravages caused by violent rain and floods as they have been throughout in neutralising the effect of the enemy's artillery.

In this connection I wish particularly to mention the excellent services performed by my Chief Engineer, Brigadier-General G. H. Fowke, who has been indefatigable in supervising all such work. His ingenuity and skill have been most valuable in the local construction of the various expedients which experience has shown to be necessary in prolonged trench warfare.

13. I have no reason to modify in any material degree my views of the general military situation, as expressed in my despatch of November 20th, 1914.

14. I have once more gratefully to acknowledge the valuable help and support I have received throughout this period from General Foch, General D'Urbal and General Maud'huy of the French Army.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

J. D. P. FRENCH, Field-Marshal,

Commanding-in-Chief,

The British Army in the Field

Sixth Supplement, dated the 19th February 1915, to the London Gazette, dated the 16th February 1915.

Admiralty, 19th February 1915.

The following Memorandum has been furnished by the Admiral Commanding the East Coast Mine-sweepers, detailing the recent mine-sweeping operations off Scarborough.

From the 19th to the 31st December sweeping operations were conducted by the East Coast Mine-sweepers with the object of clearing the minefield which had been laid by the enemy off Scarborough.

At the beginning there was no indication of the position of the mines, although owing to losses of passing merchant ships it was known that a minefield had been laid.

In order to ascertain how the mines lay it was necessary to work at all times of tide with a consequent large increase in the element of danger.

The following officers are specially noticed for their services during the operations :—

Commander Richard H. Walters, R. N., A.M.S. Staff, was in charge of the whole of the mine-sweeping operations from 19th to 31st December. During this period a large number of mines were swept up and destroyed. By the 25th December, a channel had been cleared, and traffic was able to pass through by daylight.

Commander (now Captain) Lionel G. Preston, R. N., H.M.S. "Skipjack" on the 19th December, proceeded at once into the middle of the area where the mines had exploded to give assistance to the damaged trawlers. He anchored between the trawlers and the mines which had been brought to the surface, and proceeded to sink them.

Lieutenant Godfrey Craik Parsons, R. N., H.M.S. "Pekin," displayed great skill and devotion to duty in continuing to command his group of trawlers after having been mined in Trawler No. 58 on 19th December. On this day his group exploded eight mines, and brought to the surface six more, Trawler No. 99 being blown up and Nos. 58 and 465 damaged, all in the space of about 10 minutes.

Lieutenant H. Boothby R. N. R., H.M.S. "Pekin." When Trawler No. 99 ("Orianda") in which he was serving was blown up by a mine on the 19th December, Lieutenant Boothby successfully got all his crew (except one who was killed) into safety. Lieutenant Boothby was again blown up on 6th January, 1915, in Trawler No. 450 ("The Banyers").

Lieutenant C. V. Crossley, R. N. R., H.M.S. "Pekin." Whilst sweeping on 19th December, three violent explosions occurred close under the stern of his ship, Trawler No. 465 (Star of Britain). He controlled the screw, and himself crawled into a confined space near the crew shaft, discovered the damage, and temporarily stopped the leak sufficiently to enable the pumps to keep the water down and save the ship.

Skipper T. Tringall, R.N.T.R., Trawler "Solon," No. 55, on his own responsibility went to the assistance of the Steamer "Gallier," which had just been mined on the night of 25th December. It was low water at the time and dark, and the "Gallier" was showing no lights, so had to be searched for in the mine field.

Skipper Ernest V. Snowline, R.N.T.R., Drifter "Hilda and Ernest," No. 201, carried out his duties as Commodore of the Flotilla of Lowestoft drifters under Chief Gunner Franklin, R.N., in a most satisfactory manner. He kept to his station in heavy weather, standing by the S.S. "Gallier" after she had been damaged by a mine.

Lieutenant W. G. Wood, R.N.R., Trawler "Restrivo," No. 48, did excellent work in going to the assistance of damaged trawlers on 19th December, and performed the risky duty of crossing the mine field at low water when sent to bring in the "Valiant," which had been disabled by a mine.

Skipper George W. Thornton, R.N.T.R., Trawler "Passing" No. 58, displayed great coolness and rendered valuable assistance to Lieutenant Parsons in controlling the crew when No. 58 had been mined, Skipper William Allerton, R.N.T.R., Drifter "Eager," No. 202, kept to his station in heavy weather, standing by the S.S. "Gallier" after she had been damaged by a mine.

Sub-Lieutenant W. L. Scott, R.N.R., Drifter "Principal," went alongside the trawler "Garmo" in a dinghy to rescue a man at considerable risk to himself and his boat, as the vessel was floating nearly vertical at the time, with only the forecastle above water. She turned completely over and sank a few minutes after he left her.

Skipper Thomas B. Belton, R.N.T.R., Drifter "Retriever," No. 223, kept to his station marking the safe channel for shipping when all other drifters were driven in by the weather.

The following are also commended for good service done under dangerous conditions :—

Robert A. Gray, Engineman, R.N.R., No. 694ES, M.S.Tr. No. 465.
William A. Lewis, P.O., 1cl., O N. 178498, M.S.Tr. No. 450.

ADMIRALTY MEMORANDUM ON THE COMBINED OPERATIONS BY H. M's. SHIPS AND NAVAL SEAPLANES ON THT 25TH DECEMBER, 1914.

On the 25th December, 1914 an air reconnaissance of the Heligoland Bight including Cuxhaven, Heligoland and Wilhelmshaven, was made by naval seaplanes, and the opportunity was taken at the same time of attacking with bombs points of military importance. The reconnaissance involved combined operations by light cruisers, destroyers, and seaplane-carriers under Commodore Reginald Y. Tyrwhitt, C. B., and submarines acting under the orders of Commodore Roger Keyes, C.B., M.V.O.

The vessels detailed for the operations arrived at their rendezvous before daylight, and as soon as the light was sufficient the seaplanes were hoisted out and despatched. The following Air Service officers and observers took part in the reconnaissance :—

Pilots.

Flight Commander (now Squadron Commander) Douglas Austin Oliver.
Flight Commander Francis Esme Theodore Hewlett.
Flight Commander Robert Peel Ross.
Flight Commander Cecil Francis Kilner.
Flight Lieutenant (now Flight Commander) Arnold John Miley.
Flight Lieutenant Charles Humphrey Kingsman Edmonds.
Flight Sub-Lieutenant (now Flight Lieutenant) Vivian Gaskell Blackburn.

Observers.

Lieutenant Erskine Childers, R.N.V.R.
C.P.O. Mechanic James W. Bell.
C.P.O. Mechanic Gilbert H. W. Budds.

The seaplane-carriers were commanded by :—

Squadron Commander Cecil J. L'Estrange Malone.
Flight Commander Edmund D. M. Robertson.
Flight Commander Frederick W. Bowhill.

At the beginning of the flight the weather was clear, but on nearing the land the seaplanes met with thick weather, and were compelled to fly low, thus becoming exposed to a heavy fire at short range from ships and shore batteries. Several machines were hit, but all remained in the air for over three hours, and succeeded in obtaining valuable information regarding the disposition of the enemy's ships and defences. Bombs were also dropped on military points. In the meanwhile German submarines, seaplanes and Zeppelins delivered a combined attack upon the light cruisers, destroyers and seaplane-carriers, but were driven off.

Flight Commanders Kilner and Ross and Flight Lieutenant Edmonds regained their ships. Flight Commander Oliver, Flight Lieutenant Miley and Flight Sub-Lieutenant Blackburn became short of fuel, and were compelled to descend near Submarine E. 11, which with other submarine vessels was watching in shore to assist any seaplane that might be in difficulties. Lieutenant-Commander Martin E. Nasmith, commanding E. 11, although attacked by an airship, succeeded, by his coolness and resource, in rescuing the three pilots. Flight Commander Hewlett, after a flight of 3½ hours, was compelled to descend on account of engine trouble, but was rescued by Dutch trawler, landed in Holland, and returned safely to England.

An expression of their Lordship's appreciation has been conveyed to Commodore Keyes (Commodore S.), Commodore Tyrwhitt (Commodore T.), and to Captain Sueter (Director of the Air Department), for their share in the combined operations which resulted in this successful reconnaissance.

The KING has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointments to the Distinguished Service Order :—

To be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order.

Captain Cecil Francis Kilner. R.M.L.I. (Flight Commander).

Lieutenant Charles Humphrey Kingsman Edmonds, R. N. (Flight Lieutenant).

The following awards have also been made :—

To receive the Distinguished Service Medal.

Chief Petty Officer Mechanic James William Bell, No. M. 489.
Chief Petty Officer Mechanic Gilbert Howard William Budds, No. 271764.

PROPOSAL TO RAISE THE STATUS OF THE ALBERT VICTOR INSTITUTION AT BELGACHIA TO THAT OF A COLLEGE.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

RESOLUTION—No. 856Med.

THE question of the future development of the medical profession in Bengal has for some time past received the careful consideration of Government and important steps have been taken to increase its position and prestige, to improve its prospects and to safeguard its future. It is hoped that the passing of the Bengal Medical Registration Act will eventually establish the profession as a self-governing body with high ideals and a recognized hall-mark, protected from the unfair competition of unqualified men. The opportunities of practitioners outside Government service have been enlarged by the restriction of the employment of Government officers in dispensaries which are not under State management, by the opening of some of the house appointments at the Medical College Hospital to private practitioners, and by the association of private practitioners as an honorary staff in charge of beds at the Mayo and Sambhu Nath Pundit Hospitals. Lastly the institution of the State Medical Faculty has provided on a sound basis an entrance to the profession for those who are unable to reach the high standard required for admission through the University examinations. The membership of the State Faculty provides a hall-mark intermediate between the University degree and the license hitherto given in the Government Medical Schools, while the license examination of the Faculty provides a means of co-ordinating the standards of the Government medical schools and of those private schools which it is hoped will in the future succeed in obtaining the approval of the Council of Medical Registration to their teaching and training.

2. Although however a considerable advance has been made in these directions, the fact still remains that the number of candidates for the higher branches of medical education is limited by the accommodation provided in the Medical College, and it is impossible to increase this accommodation without the provision of another college. The Committee of the Albert Victor Institution at Belgachia therefore approached Government with a scheme to affiliate the institution to the University and provide a second fully equipped college for higher medical education with the object of increasing the number of fully qualified medical men, while improving the position of the independent medical profession in Bengal by enabling it to take a worthy share in the teaching and training of its successors. With both these objects His Excellency in Council is in full sympathy, and although Government has been unable to recognize in the past the training given at Belgachia owing to the defects in its equipment, the good work done by the institution has always been appreciated and Government has at various times given substantial marks of its sympathy by grants to the hospital, and in the past year or so has given Rs. 35,000 for land acquisition and has recently advanced another Rs. 38,000 for the same purpose and has given a grant of Rs. 18,000 to the hospital last year to tide it over temporary difficulties. To carry out the scheme thus put forward it would be necessary to improve the hospital and increase its accommodation from 100 to 200 beds and to build entirely new lecture-rooms, laboratories, etc. The institution is already in possession of about 5 acres of ground, and with some slight addition this area would be sufficient to accommodate the buildings, but the cost of the new buildings and equipment would be at least 7½ lakhs, while the recurring cost of the hospital and school would be about Rs. 1,20,000. It was recognized that for the success of the scheme very considerable Government assistance both initial and recurring would be required, while at the same time it was an important feature of the proposal that the independent medical profession should be given an opportunity of showing that they were competent not only to teach the rising generation of medical students but also to administer without detailed official interference a Medical College and Hospital of the importance and standing that Belgachia will have if the proposals are carried out, and therefore the detailed supervision that would ordinarily be a condition of a large grant of public money must be reduced to a minimum. The details of the scheme finally agreed upon with the Committee were the following. The Belgachia Institution should cease at once to have any further connection with vernacular or school education and should erect the buildings and set up the equipment necessary to obtain affiliation to the M. B. course from the University. Of the cost of this it was proposed that Government should provide 5 lakhs and the institution should raise 2½ lakhs ; the plans of the buildings to be erected must be approved by the Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal and the work would be done under the supervision of the Public Works Department, and the institution before receipt of the grant must execute a deed in favour of Government on the lines of those required from other educational institutions in return for Government grants. When affiliation has been obtained the efficiency of the teaching and equipment in conformity with the University regulations will be enforced by inspection on behalf of the University, while the general control and financial administration will be in the hands of an executive committee of nine. It was proposed that Government should give a grant of Rs. 50,000 a year, while it was anticipated that Rs. 30,000 would be received annually from the municipalities and Rs. 10,000 from the University, the remainder of the recurring cost being met by fees and endowments. The Government grant which would be divided between the hospital and college would be dependant on the result of the reports of the University inspectors and of the Government-officers who should be at liberty to inspect the hospital at any time ; and in consideration of the grant Government would nominate three of the members of the executive committee. The hospital would be under the administration and management of a Superintendent whose appointment would be subject to the approval of Government and who would work under the executive committee. It was further proposed that the first Superintendent should be attached for six months to the Campbell Hospital and then receive from Government a scholarship of £ 200 for one year, with a return passage to Europe, to enable him to undergo a practical training in a large hospital in Europe. The Government regulation and forms, altered where necessary, were to be maintained in the hospital and the accounts would be audited annually by approved auditors.

4. The assistance which it was proposed that Government should give was very large, but His Excellency in Council considered that it was very desirable that the experiment of a properly equipped college and hospital under the management and control of private practitioners was one of very great importance and should be conducted under the most favourable conditions, and that Government should do all that was reasonably possible on its part to ensure success. The sanction of the Secretary of State has now been received to the grant of 5 lakhs from Provincial Revenues and a recurring grant of Rs. 50,000 a year to the college and hospital on the conditions set forth above; the grant of a scholarship of £ 200 for one year has also been sanctioned. But it is expressly stipulated that no part of the 5 lakhs initial grant shall be given until the Committee have raised the 2½ lakhs for which they have undertaken to be responsible and that the recurring grant of Rs. 50,000 shall not commence until the annual grant of Rs. 30,000 from the municipalities and Rs. 10,000 from the University are definitely made. It now therefore rests with the Committee to fulfil their part of the arrangement and collect the necessary funds; thereafter the success of the experiment in which His Excellency in Council takes the very deepest interest will depend upon the independent medical profession in Bengal.

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. L. STEPHENSON,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 20th May 1915 and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

F. A. A. COWLEY,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Draft Rules.

1. Every vessel, entering or passing along any of the above lines of navigation, shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorised by Government to be charged on the line of navigation.

2. The tonnage of every vessel, except loose timber and rafts, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals Act, 1864," and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

(a) The product of half the length of the vessel, measured along the water-line and round the contour of the vessel from centre of stem to centre of stern-post, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel or by the greatest breadth of the cargo, should this overhang, or, as in the case of logs, be lashed alongside, multiplied by the greatest interior depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting fractions of a foot, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied, any portion of 100 maunds less than 10 maunds is to be omitted.

(d) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on steamers, an allowance of one-third the total maundage, as found under clauses (a), (b) and (c) is to be made for engine space.

3. Every vessel entering or passing along any of the above lines of navigation shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date on which the voyage commenced, the point to which the vessel may proceed on the line of navigation, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, the number of days allowed for the voyage, and the date of such last day. The number of days so allowed without additional payment shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed, together with one day for every 200 maunds of measurement In the case of rafts, one day for every five miles shall be allowed.

4. Toll may be paid at the first station, either for the entire number of toll-stations on the line of navigation or for any less number of stations.

5. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorised navigation officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll-station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The tickets shall be delivered up at the last toll-station.

Navigation officers shall have authority to check-measure vessels whenever they consider it necessary, and if the toll due according to the check-measurement exceeds that originally paid, the difference shall be payable at the toll-station of check-measurement, or at the next toll-station at which the vessel may arrive if the check-measurement was made at some point other than a toll-station. The officer collecting the difference shall endorse the ticket showing the measurements, and note the amount recovered in excess of the toll originally paid.

6. Owners or hirers of vessels may compound, by the payment of a fixed sum, for the use of the whole or any portion of the canals or any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. In such case the vessel shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded, and the limits of the line of navigation within which the vessel may pass. Such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under rule 5, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

7. Duplicates of lost tickets of which the numbers and dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the officers in charge of toll-stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

8. Every vessel, which does not complete its voyage within the number of days allowed by rule 3, shall, for each day or part of a day in excess, be liable to an extra charge equal to 8 annas per 100 maunds, calculated on the maundage of the vessel, as determined by rule 2. The charge for demurrage on timbers and rafts shall be as follows :—

Timber in rafts or loose	...	One anna per timber per day.
Bamboos in floats	...	Two annas per 100 per day.
Bullahs in rafts	...	Eight annas per 100 per day.

Provided as follows :—

(1) Exemption from payment of demurrage may be granted to vessels detained in canal by stress of weather or heavy traffic, steamers broken down and boats damaged, if immediate notice of the cause of detention be given at the nearest toll-station for the information of the Executive Engineer.

(3) Partial exemption from payment of demurrage is to be granted to boats thus :—

(a) by increasing the allowance of time for the voyage (see rule 3) which shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every 8 miles or portion of 8 miles to be traversed, together with one day for every 200 maunds of measurement or any portion of 200 maunds which is not less than 60 maunds (N.B.—from 60 to 190 maunds one day shall be allowed) ;

(b) by granting the following extra times for the purpose of bona-fide loading and unloading in the canals to—

	Days.
Cargo boats from 10 to 100 maunds of measurement ...	5
,, ,, from 110 to 200 maunds	8
,, ,, from 210 to 300 maunds	10
,, ,, from 310 to 400 maunds	12
,, ,, of 410 maunds and upwards	14
Passenger boats of 10 maunds and upwards ...	3

The extra times will be granted to boats which either load or unload or both in the canals, but will not apply to boats which both enter and leave the canal empty, the time allowed being as laid down in rule 3 only.

(c) Boats plying in the Balighye main and branch drains will be allowed extra times as noted above for both journeys—entering and leaving—separately, even if plying empty.

9. Boats are allowed to be moored while waiting for cargo or otherwise, or may be loaded and unloaded, anywhere in the canals, except within 500 feet of any lock and within 150 feet on either side of any sluice and except where specially prohibited by the canal staff. In any case they must complete the voyage within the time allowable to them under these orders, otherwise demurrage will be charged.

10. No boat is permitted to moor in the outer channels of any lock. The channels to which this prohibition extends are as follows :—

Gewankhali.—Between the Gewankhali lock and the Gewankhali khal.
Etamagra.—Between the Etamagra lock and the Haldi river.
Terapakia.—Between the Terapakia lock and the Haldi river.
Kalinagar.—Between the Kalinagar lock and the Sadar khal.
Bhaitgar.—Between the Bhaitgar lock and the Rasulpur river.

No boats will be allowed, under any circumstances, to drop an anchor or to moor to both banks in any lock, entrance or in the canals, except in the case of severe stress of weather.

11. Except with the written permission of a navigation officer, no goods or cargo may be deposited on any bank, berm or land appertaining to the canal at places other than those notified by the Superintending Engineer of the circle as available for such a purpose. Any person depositing goods in contravention of this rule shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50.

12. Navigation officers may order consignors or consignees or owners to remove their goods from the places notified as available for depositing cargo under rule 11. Goods not finally removed within a period of six days from the receipt of such order shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds for each day or part of a day after the expiry of six days until finally removed.

13. Any vessel whose extreme dimensions exceed 130 feet in length and 19 feet in breadth including goods overhanging is prohibited from entering or passing along the canals or a line of navigation without the special permission in writing of the Executive Engineer; also no vessel exceeding 40 feet in length and 8 feet in breadth including goods overhanging will be allowed to enter or pass along the Balighye drain from Chowmook to Tikrapara and the branch drain from Chowmook to the Balighye Road bridge.

14. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats or passenger or cargo-boats in tow of steam-vessels; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

15. Mooring.—All vessels stopping at night must be moored head and stern to the bank of the channel or wherever specially ordered.

Only one line of vessels shall be allowed to pass along a canal or to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks or along and in a line with the banks of the river entrance to the locks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a navigation officer. No vessel shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation.

16. Rule of the Road.—When under sail, vessels are to keep in the centre of the channel. When being tracked, vessels are, wherever practicable, to keep to starboard or right side of the channel. Vessels meeting in a canal, except when being tracked, must keep to their right when passing, and when one vessel overtakes another, the former must pass on the left. When vessels, one of which is sailing and the other steaming, meet in a canal, the sailing vessel must keep to the leeward. A steamer passing any vessel is bound to go at a speed not greater than half speed.

17. Lights and signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in a line of navigation, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light, in a lantern on the forepart of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade Regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the white light prescribed above.

Where signals are used, no vessel shall enter or attempt to enter the entrance channel of a lock when a red flag or red light is displayed at the end of the lock next her, "but shall wait until the signal intimating 'all clear' is displayed." Steam-vessels approaching a lock shall whistle when a mile distant, and shall continue to whistle at intervals, until the signal intimating that the lock is open or closed is displayed, or, if no signals are used, until arrival.

18. Crews and Attendants.—Every vessel when stationary shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board. Every vessel in motion shall have a sufficient crew.

19. Fittings.—Vessels must have their masts, high awnings, and funnels fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed, and no bamboos or poles shall be erected on or by vessels when at anchor.

20. Conduct of navigation.—Vessels are prohibited from making fast to any portion of the lock-gates or gearing, and steamers are prohibited from making fast the tow-lines of their boats until the latter are clear of the locks. Steamers are prohibited from lashing boats or barges alongside while proceeding within locks. Towing ropes of a greater length than 50 feet are not to be used in a canal. The throwing of cinders into any canal is prohibited; they are to be deposited on the banks.

21. In every case of wreck or obstruction of the channel by sunken vessels, the Supervisor of the line of navigation or of a part of it may call upon the person in charge of the vessel to remove the same without delay, and shall give every reasonable assistance towards so doing. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Supervisor, this officer may, under the provisions of section 14 of the Act, undertake the removal of the obstruction himself at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in section 9 of the "Canals Act, 1864".

In the case of emergency and in the temporary absence of the Supervisor from the place where the obstruction occurred any navigation officer present must at once report the matter to the Supervisor.

22. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boats seized under the "Canals Act", he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

23. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the navigation officers may detain the vessel at any point within the canal for a period not exceeding 48 hours; provided that, within that period, the navigation officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under section 16 of the "Canals Act".

24. For any contravention of rules 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, the person in charge of the vessel shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50.

25 The term "navigation officers" as used in the foregoing rules shall include all persons appointed under section 8 of the "Canals Act, 1864", and all Public Works Officers or subordinates in charge of the canal not below the grade of Sub-Overseer.

26. The canals may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

9. (1) Monthly tickets are, at the option of the payers, issued to boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles going to the Orphangunge Bazar or to Dhappa. The cost of these tickets is at six times the ordinary toll as calculated by the above rates, if the tickets are issued at the Supervisor's office, and at ten times the ordinary toll as calculated by the above rates, if the tickets are issued at the toll-station at Dhappa or at Kidderpore.

(2) Monthly tickets at ten times the ordinary toll as calculated under item 1 of the Schedule for entering the canals from the eastward will be issued to boats carrying passengers, vegetables and perishable goods for plying within the Circular, New Cut and Kristopur Canals. These tickets will not entitle the boats to pass through the Dhappa or Chitpur Lock, but they will be allowed to pass the Kristopur Toll-station.

10. Excess tolls.—Vessels which are passing through the canals, and which enter either empty or partially loaded, are liable to pay excess tolls at the above rates, if their tonnage by canal measurement is greater when they are leaving the canals than it was when they entered them. 11. Demurrage.—Every vessel, raft or float, which has paid toll, shall be allowed three days for passing through the Circular Canals and two days for Tolly's Nala between Gurreah and Kidderpore, and three days for Soorah outside Dhappa Lock, the days of entering and leaving being both included. In addition to these periods, they may, without further payment, remain in the canals for the further undermentioned periods, that is to say—

Boats.—Two days for the first hundred maunds and one day for every hundred maunds above the first hundred maunds.

Floats.—Two days for any number of timbers not exceeding fifty, and one day for every additional fifty.

Every vessel, raft or float remaining in any part of the aforesaid canals longer than the period allowed under the foregoing rules shall, for each day in excess of such period, be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll payable under the schedules above, provided that the demurrage charged shall in no case exceed Rs. 5 per diem.

[Note.—Open dinghees accompanying large boats are entitled to the same demurrage allowance of time as the parent boats.]

12. Steamers or flats passing through the Lower Sunderbans Channels must pay tolls at the rate of Rs. 5 each before leaving and on return to Calcutta.

13. (1) During neap-tides, when there is not sufficient water in the Tolly's Nala near Russa for the navigation of boats laden with firewood, they will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari through the Circular Canal on payment of a rate of eight annas per 100 maunds of measured maundage for passage through that canal, in addition to the rate ordinarily payable for entering or plying in Tolly's Nala.

(2) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges, in the case of such boats, under item 11 of the Schedule, two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

(3) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload along the Circular Canal or river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render the boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

14. Additional toll.—All boats, steamers and flats, after passing out of the Dhappa Lock, must proceed outside the toll limit at Bamanghata within 48 hours; otherwise a fresh toll will be levied in accordance with the rules in force.

15. (1) During the period from the 1st December to the 15th June, boats laden with rice or paddy will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari through the Circular Canal and the Tolly's Nala vid Kidderpore on payment of a rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through these canals.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will be charged the ordinary concession rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds, and on leaving Tolly's Nala a further charge of 12 annas per hundred maunds only will be made if loaded with cargo other than paddy or rice, the maundage charged for and the amount charged being endorsed on the back of the concession ticket by the Toll Collector, Kidderpore.

(3) If any boat picks up more cargo, either in the Hooghly or in the Circular Canal, the Toll Collectors at Chitpur and Dhappa, respectively, will assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at 12 annas per hundred maunds, provided that the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa.

(4) If there is an excess on leaving Tolly's Nala, a rate of Rs. 2-8 per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass through to Dhappa Lock and out without any further payment.

(5) If the cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular Canal, the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds.

(6) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this Schedule in the case of boats laden with rice or paddy during the period from the 1st December to the 15th June, two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

(c) The examination of applicants for admission as Revenue Agents shall be held by a Committee composed of the Subordinate Judge, or where there is no such officer, the sadar Munsif, ex-officio, and a selected Deputy Collector at the headquarters of each district. The Deputy Collector should be selected from time to time by the Collector of the district as occasion may require. The selected Deputy Collector should, however, be one who has himself passed the Departmental Examination by the higher standard in compulsory subjects. The Collector or a Covenanted Deputy Collector should also be an examiner, and one of these officers should alternately preside at each examination, in order to avoid the possibility of the examiners being divided.

Examination Committee.

(d) The examination shall be held once in each year, on the second Monday in August, or on such other date as the Government may direct, and shall be by questions in writing and viva-voce.

(e) The examination shall be conducted in English or in the vernacular of the district at the option of the candidate.

(f) Previously to each examination the Board shall prepare written questions on the subjects mentioned in clause (b).

(g) There shall be two written papers, namely, one containing ten questions on the Regulations and Acts mentioned in clause (b) above and the other containing six questions on the Manuals mentioned in the same clause. The former paper must be answered without books: for the latter, books may be used. The number of marks to which each candidate shall be entitled for a full answer to each question shall be separately specified by the Board at the time of preparing the questions. The viva-voce questions shall be prepared by the Local Committee: at least four questions shall be asked of each candidate.

(h) The aggregate number of marks for full answers to the whole of the ten written questions to be answered without books shall be one hundred and sixty, and that for correct answers to the questions to be answered with books shall be forty. The full number of marks for the viva-voce questions shall be forty.

(i) To be entitled to pass, a candidate must obtain at least one hundred and twenty-five marks in the aggregate in the two written papers and twenty-five in the viva-voce examination.

(j) The Collector on receiving the questions will keep them under lock and key, preferably in a safe, if available, till the day of examination.

(k) On the day of examination the Collector, if he is on the Examination Committee under clause (c), will himself take the questions into the examination room and give out copies to the candidates who elect to be examined in English. As it has been found impracticable to have translations made and printed in the vernacular with the necessary secrecy, the Collector assisted by the members of the Committee will translate the questions to the candidates who elect to be examined in the vernacular of the district. Should the Collector not be on the Committee, the Covenanted Deputy Collector appointed an examiner under the above clause will undertake these duties.

(l) The examination will be conducted in the presence of the Committee, who will, when the time allotted has expired, collect the papers and assign marks.

(m) The number of marks to which each candidate is entitled will be determined by the Committee and recorded against each candidate's name by a member of the Committee in his own hand, the paper thus showing the marks being signed by all the members. Any correction of the figures must be initialled by a member. The Committee will then inform each candidate whether he has or has not passed the examination and will forward the paper containing the marks under a sealed cover to the Collector for transmission to the Secretary to the Board. When the results from all districts have been received, the Board will submit a list of the successful candidates to Government for publication in the gazette.

Enrolment and certificate

9. Any person who passes the examination and who desires to be admitted as a Revenue Agent is entitled, on presentation of the certificate of the examiners, to ply to the Collector of the district for a certificate. Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Draft Rules.

1. Every vessel, entering or passing along any of the above lines of navigation, shall be liable to measurement for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of toll the vessel should pay according to the schedule of rates authorised by Government to be charged on the line of navigation.

2. The tonnage of every vessel, except loose timber and rafts, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of the "Canals Act, 1864," and of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

(a) The product of half the length of the vessel, measured along the water-line and round the contour of the vessel from centre of stem to centre of stern-post, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel or by the greatest breadth of the cargo, should this overhang, or, as in the case of logs, be lashed alongside, multiplied by the greatest interior depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

(b) The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting fractions of a foot, and the measurement of the breadth and depth in feet and quarters of feet, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

(c) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied, any portion of 100 maunds less than 10 maunds is to be omitted.

(d) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied on steamers, an allowance of one-third the total maundage, as found under clauses (a), (b) and (c) is to be made for engine space.

3. Every vessel entering or passing along any of the above lines of navigation shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket shall specify the station at which it has been issued, the name of the person in charge of the vessel, the date on which the voyage commenced, the point to which the vessel may proceed on the line of navigation, the maundage of the vessel, the amount of toll charged, the number of days allowed for the voyage, and the date of such last day. The number of days so allowed without additional payment shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every eight miles, or portion of eight miles, to be traversed, together with one day for every 200 maunds of measurement In the case of rafts, one day for every five miles shall be allowed.

4. Toll may be paid at the first station, either for the entire number of toll-stations on the line of navigation or for any less number of stations.

5. The tickets thus given may be demanded for inspection by any duly authorised navigation officer, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. They must be shown at each toll-station the vessel has to pass as a passport that no further payment of toll is to be demanded. The tickets shall be delivered up at the last toll-station.

Navigation officers shall have authority to check-measure vessels whenever they consider it necessary, and if the toll due according to the check-measurement exceeds that originally paid, the difference shall be payable at the toll-station of check-measurement, or at the next toll-station at which the vessel may arrive if the check-measurement was made at some point other than a toll-station. The officer collecting the difference shall endorse the ticket showing the measurements, and note the amount recovered in excess of the toll originally paid.

6. Owners or hirers of vessels may compound, by the payment of a fixed sum, for the use of the whole or any portion of the canals or any period that may be agreed upon, not exceeding one year. In such case the vessel shall be furnished with a ticket showing the amount of toll paid, the period for which the toll has been compounded, and the limits of the line of navigation within which the vessel may pass. Such ticket shall be kept on board the vessel, and shall be produced when required under rule 5, but shall be given up only on the date of the expiry of the period for which granted, and at the station from whence issued.

7. Duplicates of lost tickets of which the numbers and dates of entry can be satisfactorily established, will be granted by the officers in charge of toll-stations on payment of a fee of one rupee.

8. Every vessel, which does not complete its voyage within the number of days allowed by rule 3, shall, for each day or part of a day in excess, be liable to an extra charge equal to 8 annas per 100 maunds, calculated on the maundage of the vessel, as determined by rule 2. The charge for demurrage on timbers and rafts shall be as follows :—

Timber in rafts or loose	...	One anna per timber per day.
Bamboos in floats	...	Two annas per 100 per day.
Bullahs in rafts	...	Eight annas per 100 per day.

(3) Partial exemption from payment of demurrage is to be granted to boats thus :—

(a) by increasing the allowance of time for the voyage (see rule 3) which shall be calculated at the rate of one day for every 8 miles or portion of 8 miles to be traversed, together with one day for every 200 maunds of measurement or any portion of 200 maunds which is not less than 60 maunds (N.B.—from 60 to 190 maunds one day shall be allowed) ;

(b) by granting the following extra times for the purpose of bona-fide loading and unloading in the canals to—

	Days

„ „ from 310 to 400 maunds	12
„ „ of 410 maunds and upwards	14
Passenger boats of 10 maunds and upwards ...	3

The extra times will be granted to boats which either load or unload or both in the canals, but will not apply to boats which both enter and leave the canal empty, the time allowed being as laid down in rule 3 only.

(c) Boats plying in the Balighye main and branch drains will be allowed extra times as noted above for both journeys—entering and leaving—separately, even if plying empty.

9. Boats are allowed to be moored while waiting for cargo or otherwise, or may be loaded and unloaded, anywhere in the canals, except within 500 feet of any lock and within 150 feet on either side of any sluice and except where specially prohibited by the canal staff. In any case they must complete the voyage within the time allowable to them under these orders, otherwise demurrage will be charged.

11. Except with the written permission of a navigation officer, no goods or cargo may be deposited on any bank, berm or land appertaining to the canal at places other than those notified by the Superintending Engineer of the circle as available for such a purpose. Any person depositing goods in contravention of this rule shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50.

12. Navigation officers may order consignors or consignees or owners to remove their goods from the places notified as available for depositing cargo under rule 11. Goods not finally removed within a period of six days from the receipt of such order shall be liable to a charge of four annas per 100 maunds for each day or part of a day after the expiry of six days until finally removed.

13. Any vessel whose extreme dimensions exceed 130 feet in length and 19 feet in breadth including goods overhanging is prohibited from entering or passing along the canals or a line of navigation without the special permission in writing of the Executive Engineer; also no vessel exceeding 40 feet in length and 8 feet in breadth including goods overhanging will be allowed to enter or pass along the Balighye drain from Chowmook to Tikrapara and the branch drain from Chowmook to the Balighye Road bridge.

14. It will not be compulsory for the locks to be opened to single vessels of less than 500 maunds burden, except in the case of mail or despatch boats or passenger or cargo-boats in tow of steam-vessels; but the locks shall be opened for the passage of boats at least twice a day.

15. Mooring.—All vessels stopping at night must be moored head and stern to the bank of the channel or wherever specially ordered.

Only one line of vessels shall be allowed to pass along a canal or to make fast along and in a line with the canal banks or along and in a line with the banks of the river entrance to the locks, and no vessel shall be made fast, or be placed outside of vessels so secured, without the permission of a navigation officer. No vessel shall, however, be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety of other vessels, to obstruct their passage, or to impede the navigation.

16. Rule of the Road.—When under sail, vessels are to keep in the centre of the channel. When being tracked, vessels are, wherever practicable, to keep to starboard or right side of the channel. Vessels meeting in a canal, except when being tracked, must keep to their right when passing, and when one vessel overtakes another, the former must pass on the left. When vessels, one of which is sailing and the other steaming, meet in a canal, the sailing vessel must keep to the leeward. A steamer passing any vessel is bound to go at a speed not greater than half speed.

17. Lights and signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in a line of navigation, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light, in a lantern on the forepart of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade Regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the white light prescribed above.

Where signals are used, no vessel shall enter or attempt to enter the entrance channel of a lock when a red flag or red light is displayed at the end of the lock next her, "but shall wait until the signal intimating 'all clear' is displayed." Steam-vessels approaching a lock shall whistle when a mile distant, and shall continue to whistle at intervals, until the signal intimating that the lock is open or closed is displayed, or, if no signals are used, until arrival.

18. Crews and Attendants.—Every vessel when stationary shall be securely fastened, and shall at all times have some person in attendance on board. Every vessel in motion shall have a sufficient crew.

19. Fittings.—Vessels must have their masts, high awnings, and funnels fitted so that they can be let down with ease and speed, and no bamboos or poles shall be erected on or by vessels when at anchor.

20. Conduct of navigation.—Vessels are prohibited from making fast to any portion of the lock-gates or gearing, and steamers are prohibited from making fast the tow-lines of their boats until the latter are clear of the locks. Steamers are prohibited from lashing boats or barges alongside while proceeding within locks. Towing ropes of a greater length than 50 feet are not to be used in a canal. The throwing of cinders into any canal is prohibited; they are to be deposited on the banks.

21. In every case of wreck or obstruction of the channel by sunken vessels, the Supervisor of the line of navigation or of a part of it may call upon the person in charge of the vessel to remove the same without delay, and shall give every reasonable assistance towards so doing. But should the owner of the vessel or raft be not forthcoming, or should he not use reasonable expedition in removing the obstruction, or should he decline or fail to use proper assistance which may be offered to him by the Supervisor, this officer may, under the provisions of section 14 of the Act, undertake the removal of the obstruction himself at the cost of the owner of the boat, recovering the expense in the manner laid down in section 9 of the "Canals Act, 1864".

In the case of emergency and in the temporary absence of the Supervisor from the place where the obstruction occurred any navigation officer present must at once report the matter to the Supervisor.

22. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or of abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel or boats seized under the "Canals Act", he shall notify the seizure in the most public manner available.

23. In the event of any damage or injury being occasioned to the canal works by wilfulness or negligence on the part of any person in charge of a vessel, the navigation officers may detain the vessel at any point within the canal for a period not exceeding 48 hours; provided that, within that period, the navigation officers shall lodge a complaint against such person in charge of the vessel before a Magistrate under section 16 of the "Canals Act".

24. For any contravention of rules 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, the person in charge of the vessel shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50.

25. The term "navigation officers" as used in the foregoing rules shall include all persons appointed under section 8 of the "Canals Act, 1864", and all Public Works Officers or subordinates in charge of the canal not below the grade of Sub-Overseer.

26. The canals may be closed once a year for effecting the necessary repairs to them on one month's notice of the intention so to close them being given; but in the event of any sudden emergency, the canals may be closed at any time without prior notice, and no claim in such case by owners of vessels or others for compensation on account of detention shall be entertained.

9. (1) Monthly tickets are, at the option of the payers, issued to boats carrying passengers, grass or perishable articles going to the Orphangunge Bazar or to Dhappa. The cost of these tickets is at six times the ordinary toll as calculated by the above rates, if the tickets are issued at the Supervisor's office, and at ten times the ordinary toll as calculated by the above rates, if the tickets are issued at the toll-station at Dhappa or at Kidderpore.

(2) Monthly tickets at ten times the ordinary toll as calculated under item 1 of the Schedule for entering the canals from the eastward will be issued to boats carrying passengers, vegetables and perishable goods for plying within the Circular, New Cut and Kristopur Canals. These tickets will not entitle the boats to pass through the Dhappa or Chitpur Lock, but they will be allowed to pass the Kristopur Toll-station.

10. Excess tolls.—Vessels which are passing through the canals, and which enter either empty or partially loaded, are liable to pay excess tolls at the above rates, if their tonnage by canal measurement is greater when they are leaving the canals than it was when they entered them. Vessels entering at Chitpur, Kidderpore, and Chetla for the purpose of loading in the canals pay at the time of entry with reference to their line of usual immersion according to Canal Rules.

11. Demurrage.—Every vessel, raft or float, which has paid toll, shall be allowed three days for passing through the Circular Canals and two days for Tolly's Nala between Gurreah and Kidderpore, and three days for Soorah outside Dhappa Lock, the days of entering and leaving being both included. In addition to these periods, they may, without further payment, remain in the canals for the further undermentioned periods, that is to say—

Boats.—Two days for the first hundred maunds and one day for every hundred maunds above the first hundred maunds.

Floats.—Two days for any number of timbers not exceeding fifty, and one day for every additional fifty.

Rafts.—Two days for any number of bamboos not exceeding five hundred, and one day for every additional five hundred.

Every vessel, raft or float remaining in any part of the aforesaid canals longer than the period allowed under the foregoing rules shall, for each day in excess of such period, be charged demurrage equal to one-half of the toll payable under the schedules above, provided that the demurrage charged shall in no case exceed Rs. 5 per diem.

[Note.—Open dinghees accompanying large boats are entitled to the same demurrage allowance of time as the parent boats.]

12. Steamers or flats passing through the Lower Sunderbans Channels must pay tolls at the rate of Rs. 5 each before leaving and on return to Calcutta.

13. (1) During neap-tides, when there is not sufficient water in the Tolly's Nala near Russa for the navigation of boats laden with firewood, they will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari through the Circular Canal on payment of a rate of eight annas per 100 maunds of measured maundage for passage through that canal, in addition to the rate ordinarily payable for entering or plying in Tolly's Nala.

(2) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges, in the case of such boats, under item 11 of the Schedule, two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

(3) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload along the Circular Canal or river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render the boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

14. Additional toll.—All boats, steamers and flats, after passing out of the Dhappa Lock, must proceed outside the toll limit at Bamanghata within 48 hours; otherwise a fresh toll will be levied in accordance with the rules in force.

15. (1) During the period from the 1st December to the 15th June, boats laden with rice or paddy will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari through the Circular Canal and the Tolly's Nala vid Kidderpore on payment of a rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through those canals.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will be charged the ordinary concession rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds, and on leaving Tolly's Nala a further charge of 12 annas per hundred maunds only will be made if loaded with cargo other than paddy or rice, the maundage charged for and the amount charged being endorsed on the back of the concession ticket by the Toll Collector, Kidderpore.

(3) If any boat picks up more cargo, either in the Hooghly or in the Circular Canal, the Toll Collectors at Chitpur and Dhappa, respectively, will assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at 12 annas per hundred maunds, provided that the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa.

(4) If there is an excess on leaving Tolly's Nala, a rate of Rs. 2-8 per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass through to Dhappa Lock and out without any further payment.

(5) If the cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular Canal, the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of Re. 1-12 per hundred maunds.

(6) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this Schedule in the case of boats laden with rice or paddy during the period from the 1st December to the 15th June, two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

[16th March, 1915.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Power to suspend sentences of penal servitude or imprisonment.

1.—(1) Where a soldier employed on active service beyond the seas during the present war is sentenced to penal servitude or imprisonment, the confirming authority to whom the sentence is submitted for confirmation may, when confirming the sentence, direct that the soldier be not committed to prison until the orders of a superior military authority have been obtained.

(2) A superior military authority may in the case of any such soldier so sentenced—

(a) direct that a committal to prison shall not be issued until his orders have been obtained ;

(3) Where a sentence of penal servitude or imprisonment is suspended under this section before the soldier has been committed to prison, the soldier if in custody shall be released, and, notwithstanding anything in the Army Act, the sentence shall not begin to run until the soldier is committed to prison under that sentence.

(4) Where a sentence of penal servitude or of imprisonment is suspended under this section after the soldier has been committed to prison he shall be discharged and the currency of the sentence shall be suspended until he is again committed to prison under the same sentence.

(5) Where a sentence has been suspended under this section the case may at any time, and shall at intervals of not less than three months, be reconsidered by a competent military authority, and if on any such reconsideration it appears to the competent military authority that the conduct of the soldier since his conviction has been such as to justify a remission of the sentence he shall remit it.

(7) Where a soldier whilst a sentence on him is so suspended is sentenced to penal servitude or imprisonment for any other offence, then if that sentence is also suspended under this section, the authority ordering the suspension may direct that the two sentences shall run either concurrently or consecutively, so, however, that the aggregate term of imprisonment served under two or more sentences of imprisonment shall not exceed two consecutive years; and where the sentence for such other offence is a sentence of penal servitude, then, whether or not that sentence is suspended any previous sentence of imprisonment which has been suspended shall be avoided.

COMMERCE AND TRADE.

The 24th April, 1915.

No. 4676-W.—The following Order in Council is published for general information :—

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

PRESENT :

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS the German Government has issued certain Orders which, in violation of the usages of war, purport to declare the waters surrounding the United Kingdom a military area, in which all British and allied merchant vessels will be destroyed irrespective of the safety of the lives of passengers and crew, and in which neutral shipping will be exposed to similar danger in view of the uncertainties of naval warfare ;

And whereas in a memorandum accompanying the said Orders neutrals are warned against entrusting crews, passengers, or goods to British or allied ships ;

And whereas such attempts on the part of the enemy give to His Majesty an unquestionable right of retaliation ;

And whereas His Majesty has therefore decided to adopt further measures in order to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany, though such measures will be enforced without risk to neutral ships or to neutral or non-combatant life, and in strict observance of the dictates of humanity ;

And whereas the Allies of His Majesty are associated with Him in the steps now to be announced for restricting further the commerce of Germany ;

HIS MAJESTY is therefore pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows :—

I. No merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after the 1st March, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage to any German port.

Unless the vessel receives a pass enabling her to proceed to some neutral or allied port to be named in the pass, goods on board any such vessel must be discharged in a British port and placed in the custody of the Marshal of the Prize Court. Goods so discharged, not being contraband of war, shall, if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, be restored by order of the Court, upon such terms as the Court may in the circumstances deem to be just, to the person entitled thereto.

II. No merchant vessel which sailed from any German port after the 1st March, 1915, shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage with any goods on board laden at such port.

All goods laden at such port must be discharged in a British or allied port. Goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the Marshal of the Prize Court, and, if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, shall be detained or sold under the direction of the Prize Court. The proceeds of goods so sold shall be paid into Court and dealt with in such manner as the Court may in the circumstances deem to be just :

Provided that no proceeds of the sale of such goods shall be paid out of Court until the conclusion of peace, except on the application of the proper Officer of the Crown, unless it be shown that the goods had become neutral property before the issue of this Order :

Provided also that nothing herein shall prevent the release of neutral property laden at such enemy port on the application of the proper Officer of the Crown.

III. Every merchant vessel which sailed from her port of departure after the 1st March 1915, on her way to a port other than a German port, carrying goods with an enemy destination, or which are enemy property, may be required to discharge such goods in a British or allied port. Any goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the Marshal of the Prize Court, and, unless they are contraband of war, shall, if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, be restored by order of the Court, upon such terms as the Court may in the circumstances deem to be just, to the person entitled thereto.

Provided that this Article shall not apply in any case falling within Articles II or IV of this Order.

IV. Every merchant vessel which sailed from a port other than a German port after the 1st March, 1915, having on board goods which are of enemy origin or are enemy property may be required to discharge such goods in a British or allied port. Goods so discharged in a British port shall be placed in the custody of the Marshal of the Prize Court, and, if not requisitioned for the use of His Majesty, shall be detained or sold under the direction of the Prize Court. The proceeds of goods so sold shall be paid into Court and dealt with in such manner as the Court may in the circumstances deem to be just.

Provided that no proceeds of the sale of such goods shall be paid out of Court until the conclusion of peace except on the application of the proper Officer of the Crown, unless it be shown that the goods had become neutral property before the issue of this Order.

Provided also that nothing herein shall prevent the release of neutral property of enemy origin on the application of the proper Officer of the Crown.

V.—((1) Any person claiming to be interested in, or to have any claim in respect of, any goods (not being contraband of war) placed in the custody of the Marshal of the Prize Court under this Order, or in the proceeds of such goods, may forthwith issue a writ in the Prize Court against the proper Officer of the Crown and apply for an order that the goods should be restored to him, or that their proceeds should be paid to him, or for such other order as the circumstances of the case may require.

(2) The practice and procedure of the Prize Court shall, so far as applicable, be followed mutatis mutandis in any proceedings consequential upon this order.

VI. A merchant vessel which has cleared for a neutral port from a British or allied port, or which has been allowed to pass having an ostensible destination to a neutral port, and proceeds to an enemy port, shall, if captured on any subsequent voyage, be liable to condemnation.

VII. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed to affect the liability of any vessel or goods to capture or condemnation independently of this Order.

VIII. Nothing in this Order shall prevent the relaxation of the provisions of this Order in respect of the merchant vessels of any country which declares that no commerce intended for or originating in Germany or belonging to German subjects shall enjoy the protection of its flag.

Telegram No 4147-W, dated the 17th April 1915, to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

The Government of India have been in close and constant communication with the Secretary of State regarding the procedure to be adopted in requisitioning merchant vessels for Government service connected with the war; the rates of hire to be paid; and the liability for fitting out charges and third party claims. A final decision regarding the rates of hire and outstanding claims could not be arrived at pending the receipt of the Admiralty Transport Arbitration Board Sub-Committees' Report and the orders of the Admiralty thereon. These have now been received and were communicated to Chambers of Commerce concerned in the letter in this Department, No. 2969-2972-W., dated the 18th March 1915. As intimated in that letter, vessels requisitioned in India on or before the 31st December 1914 will be paid for at the rate of hire fixed in terms of the Charter Party covering the requisition. The owners of vessels taken up on or after the 1st January 1915 will receive an advance of Rs. 10 per ton per mensem, and their claims in regard to these vessels will be finally adjusted in consultation with the Secretary of State as soon as the Admiralty have decided what rates will be paid for ships requisitioned in the United Kingdom after the 31st December 1914. The Secretary of State has been asked to give the Government of India the earliest possible intimation of the rates finally accepted for such vessels.

2. In the meantime it is recognized that many claims other than those which have reference to the rate of hire still remain outstanding in respect of requisitioned vessels. As the Government of India indicated in their letter of the 18th March 1915 to Chambers of Commerce, they have now decided to appoint a Committee to examine such claims. It will consist of—

THE HON'BLE MR. H. L. STEPHENSON, C.I.E., I.C.S.... } Members.
MAJOR E. B. PEACOCK, I.A. ... ... }

The Committee will visit the principal ports from which vessels have been requisitioned, and in conducting their enquiries they will be assisted by the advice of two non-official representatives of commercial circles, nominated by the Chamber of Commerce at each port.

The non-official assessors nominated by the various Chambers of Commerce are—

Bombay	Malcolm N. Hogg, Esq., of Messrs. Forbes, Forbes, Campbell and Co. A. H. Froom, Esq., Supdt., P. & O. S. N. Company.
Karachi	W. V. Nicholas, Esq. E. L. Price, Esq.
Madras ...	Gordon Fraser, Esq., Chairman, Madras Chamber of Commerce. C. B. Simpson, Esq.
Bengal ...	Hon. Mr. F. H. Stewart, Presdt., Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Archibald Birkmyre, Esq.
Burma	E. O. Anderson, Esq., Manager, Bulloch Brothers and Co., Ld. B. E. G. Eddis, Manager Arbuthnot & Co.

3. The terms of reference to the Committee are as follows :—

(a) Their primary duty will be, with the assistance of the assessors at each port visited, to examine subsidiary claims arising in connection with the requisition of vessels for Government service. These claims fall generally under three heads :—

(1) cost of fitting the ship where this cost has been met by the owner ;

(2) claims in connection with the removal of cargo already loaded when the ship was requisitioned ;

(3) such other subsidiary claims as may be brought forwrrd for examination.

(b) In reporting upon these claims the Committee are desired, firstly, to classify them, so far as this can conveniently be done ; secondly, to indicate their recommendations regarding the adjustment of claims, either individually or by classes ; and, thirdly, to report whether their recommendations have or have not received the consent of the claimants, and how far they are supported by documentary evidence.

(c) The Committee will further report whether there are any claims still outstanding for the hire of ships already requisitioned and submit proposals where necessary for their settlement on the lines laid down in paragraph 1 of this Resolution.

4. The Government of India have recently received information from the Secretary of State for India in his telegram dated the 15th April, that His Majesty's Government have decided that in no case will third party claims be admitted. In view of these instructions, the Committee will consider only such claims as are put forward on behalf of ship owners or their representatives ; and the examination of claims arising out of third party commitments must be definitely excluded from the scope of the enquiry.

5. Maritime Local Governments are requested to give all necessary assistance to the Committee and to the non-official assessors, and also to persons interested in placing their claims before the Committee.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, to the Finance and Army Departments and to the President and Members of the Committee.

ORDERED also, that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information.

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. CUMMING was laid on the table :—

THE BENGAL BUDGET, 1915-16.

THE HON'BLE NAWAB BAHADUR OF MURSHIDABAD said :—

MY LORD,

I shall content myself with making a few general remarks on the Budget.

This year, which is signalised by the most expensive war ever waged, has opened inauspiciously in this province as in other sister provinces. The outstanding feature of the Budget this year unhappily shows, therefore, unmistakable traces of dislocation of all business and consequent shrinkage of trade and revenue as against the rapid expansion of public expenditure which had to be unduly but unavoidably restricted. And while there is not the slightest doubt as to the ultimate issue of the redoubtable conflict in which the British Empire is now engaged, great efforts are being made by Government and the people alike to weather out the economic disturbance caused by circumstances over which we have no control

The public have, therefore, reason to be gratified with the careful and satisfactory character of the financial statement, and the Finance Member may well congratulate himself upon the very discreet and resolute course adopted by him in meeting the situation created by the war. This prudential Budget, if I may call it so, would, therefore, disarm much of the criticism which it would otherwise have encountered in a normal year.

On reference to the revised Budget for the current year, it will be seen with satisfaction that the actual opening balance was found to be nearly 93 lakhs better than what was anticipated. The revenue receipts, however, show a decrease of over 20 lakhs, which could only be made up for by heavy retrenchments in expenditure to the extent of 79 lakhs. The contraction of revenue during the present year is surely not entirely due to the war. Land revenue, which was expected to expand considerably this year, actually dropped by over 11 lakhs.

It is the jute trade that appears to have been hit the hardest by the war and is indirectly responsible for the decline of revenue under numerous heads, such as Land Revenue, Excise, Forest, Registration and also Irrigation, due to stoppage of jute traffic in the canals. So have also the heads Stamps, Ports and Pilotage been adversely affected owing to the dislocation of trade in general caused by the war. The result has been not only a great diminution of trade receipts but also an almost all-round fall of revenue. These exceptional circumstances have necessitated extensive curtailments. No one will regret curtailments, but the curtailments of grants on Education and Sanitation, the two most vital necessities for the well-being of the inarticulate masses, are extremely deplorable. The urgent need of some aid to primary education and the necessity of finding funds for industrial subsidy to indigenous enterprises at an opportune moment when the Austro-German trade has collapsed, can hardly be overlooked. Unless education receives adequate encouragement at the hands of Government, it may give rise to general dissatisfaction.

In view of the increasing distress of the people, due to the ever-rising prices of grains in the country, there is no denying the fact that the economic resources of the masses have become extremely strained, the result of which is perpetual indebtedness of the people. And so I may safely say that the widespread distress experienced at the present moment is no exaggeration. The people have for some years past been steadily hoping against all hope of paying off the money-lender and steadily getting into debt more and more. All hopes of a solution of the present problem cannot be realised by the people themselves without the most eagerly-sought-for help of the benign Government.

The Budget.

The Nawab Syed Hossain Haider Chaudhuri Khan Bahadur.

There are obvious disadvantages in postponing or retarding the development of some of the incipient measures which have already involved a certain amount of costs and must consequently entail, besides great inconvenience and equally great disappointment, some undesirable wastage owing to their receiving sudden temporary check at present. And there are questions that seem fated always to make their appearance only to have their settlement relegated to some more favourable time that may not arrive. It is much to be wished unquestionably that the very welcome special Imperial gifts of the last two years with regard to Education, Sanitation and the Police should have been found possible to regrant. But as it is imperative that all other considerations at the present moment should be subordinated to the husbanding of the financial resources of Government. I am sure we shall loyally and resignedly accept them as unavoidably adverse effects of the great war for which there is no arguing with the Almighty, and that we shall only be too proud to bear a little share of the general burden along with the rest of the Empire.

In conclusion, my Lord, I do not for a moment wish to be understood to imply that the Government of India will ever treat your Excellency's Government unjustly when I say that the unexpended balances of the Imperial grants reserved or restricted this year should be held to the credit of your Excellency's Government to be drawn upon whenever a favourable atmosphere is re-established for resuming action more energetically than ever. And I feel sure that the spirit in which the great reforms are being tackled by your Excellency's Government gives the best possible assurance of their being brought to a successful conclusion within a measurable distance of time."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SYED HOSSAM HAIDER CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR said :—

"MY LORD,

I beg to congratulate the Hon'ble the Finance Member for the sagacity and foresight with which the Provincial Budget for the year 1915-16 has been framed and presented before the Council for adoption.

On comparing certain items in the statements, I regret to observe that an amount of expenditure of Rs. 1,03,000 has been estimated for High English Schools for girls, which is a far greater amount than that budgeted for Middle Vernacular Schools for girls, which is only Rs. 5,000. I consider Middle Vernacular Schools for girls to be more necessary in the agricultural districts of Bengal than High English Schools. I further beg to ask that the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of arranging for the teaching of some minor industry and meeting the cost of this undertaking by transferring a portion of the sum set apart for High English Schools for girls. I beg to remark further that no provision has been made in the estimates for Upper Primary Schools for boys, whereas Rs. 7,000 has been estimated for the Upper Primary Schools for girls. To this invidious distinction I respectfully beg to invite the attention of Government.

I venture also to submit for the consideration of Your Excellency's Government whether it is not justifiable to transfer a certain portion, out of the allotment of Rs. 3,59,000, estimated for the Presidency hospitals and dispensaries, towards the improvement of mufassal dispensaries, for which only an amount of Rs. 93,000 appears to have been budgetted—a sum to my mind quite inadequate. In connection with this, I venture particularly to bring to the notice of Your Excellency's Government the backward condition of the Comilla Charitable Dispensary. This dispensary is most unsatisfactory both as regards its equipment and accommodation. For instance, in the recent murder case at Comilla, the bullet-shot in the female patient could not be extracted for want of an X-ray.

The Budget.

The Nawab Saiyid Hosain Haider Chaudhuri Khan Bahadur.

My Lord, with these few observations I venture to urge for the improvement of the condition of the existing dispensaries situated in the outlying districts of Bengal.

General Education.—It is superfluous for me to attempt to prove the fact that with the increase of population, the need for general education has become greater. The well-meant endeavours of the State have always been employed towards popularising such educational schemes amongst the people which have as their aim the earning of an independent livelihood and the familiarising of the people of this country with all that is best and brightest in English life.

Primary Education.—I am glad to see that greater facilities have been given to the people in the matter of Primary Education which kindness and the benefits accruing from the course of instruction in this branch of education the people fully realise and appreciate. But there is one scheme, I think, that remains to be considered and that is the establishment of good schools in backward localities. This, of course, will necessitate increased recurring expenditure for the upkeep and repairing of these new schools. I would, therefore, venture to observe that a reasonable allotment of funds for the upkeep of all such new Primary Schools to be built in Eastern Bengal, and of schools proposed to be built in Western Bengal, be ear-marked for future years. But considering the financial outlook of the province, which appears to be so disquieting at present, I am not inclined to offer any suggestion for a specific amount under this head. As I have said, it will necessarily involve an additional outlay of expenditure, but I rest assured that through the renewed generosity of the Supreme Government it may be made possible to carry out such a programme in the near future.

Muhammadan Education.—There is no doubt that the prosperity and the moral and the material progress of the Muhammadan community depend almost entirely on the growth of education both in its higher and lower branches, and as the educational policy of Government is always progressive, our community expect, by way of encouragement, some additional grants for scholarships in the different stages of Muhammadan education. There is also a great need of hostels for Muhammadan boys, the liberal establishment of which will ensure the opening of a new chapter of progress in the interest and welfare of our community. I beg leave to suggest that steps be gradually taken for the establishment of a large number of maktabs all over the province, similar to primary schools, for improving the status of primary education among Muhammadan boys. I would further observe that a certain amount be specially devoted to making provision for the entertainment of competent additional Urdu teachers in those maktabs where the number of pupils reading in this subject is large. As there is hardly any time now to suggest an alteration in the budget, I hope that this proposal will not be lost sight of, and that effect will be given to the suggestion as soon as the necessary funds become available. The scheme drawn up by Sir Archdale Earle for the opening of Mianji training schools and the appointment of inspecting maulvis in the districts of Burdwan and Presidency Divisions might with advantage be extended to the Eastern Bengal districts. Such a step will, I am sure, succeed in attracting Muhammadan parents and guardians and encourage them to send their children more freely to these institutions.

The Budget.

The Nawab Saiyid Hossain Haider Chaudhuri Khan Bahadur.

Industrial education.—Another suggestion, which, I venture to think, will be of the greatest value and good to the masses is that (with a view to making India more self-supporting and less dependent upon the resources of other countries, and with a view of the present necessity that has sprung up for placing the industrial efficiency of the country on a better and a more satisfactory footing) it seems imperative and necessary that the energies of the Government be concentrated towards promoting the growth of indigenous industries along with the development of agricultural education, and that with this object the Government be pleased to support the starting and pioneering of new industries by the establishment of industrial and commercial, or trade, schools in all important centres of the province, for the practical training and education of workmen. I respectfully urge on the attention of the Government the absolute need there is for a full and free discussion of this important subject, perhaps the most important problem which British statesmen are called upon to solve. The national regeneration of India cannot be a fait accompli unless we attempt at making our people potential factors in the national life of the country. My lord, we consider the British rule in India as a reign of good law, and that it is for the good of humanity and justice. And, strong in this confidence, I emphatically urge that systematic and well-organised endeavours be made to bring home to the people of this vast province the different industrial possibilities open to them. Attempts should be made to create new fields of livelihood for the young men of this province, and for the generations to come hereafter, and thus to render invaluable service towards the advancement of national industries. Though much has been done in many ways in the direction of national improvement, still there are many ways for further development of the latent resources of the country. The longer the expansion of our indigenous industries be delayed, the greater will be our difficulties in gaining for ourselves a recognised position among the nations of the world. Every true friend of Indian Nationalism will be bound to stimulate the idea of promoting the welfare of our great and homogeneous province in the various fields of labour. I submit my observations on this question for the best consideration of the Government, and in the true interest of our national progress as I feel that the need for the establishment of all kinds of industries in the land is growing in importance day by day.

Rise in the price of food-stuffs.—There is another important matter which I consider extremely grave, that is, the fluctuation in the price of food-grain and other eatables. The people experience an unpleasant surprise owing to the rise in the price of food materials and other necessaries of life, and a further rise might be followed with disastrous consequences. It is, I know, difficult to forecast whether the price will be higher or lower, as the future is uncertain and dependent upon circumstances beyond the control of Government. But it is necessary that the Government should have a strict control over the local markets and impose when necessary a reasonable price on food-grains, and adopt such precautionary measures as seem necessary for the prohibition of all private export of food-grains for at least some time to come from this part of our country.

Sanitation.—I need not say much on this matter as the policy of the Government is already laid down. I beg, however, to invite the attention of Your Excellency's Government to the desirability of bringing the milk-sellers and milk-cattle-keepers under the efficient control of the Health Department. They should be registered and a penalty imposed on those who are found to be in possession of adulterated milk. It would indeed be a strange reflection on our progressive administration that we should be wanting in a law penalising adulteration of important articles of food, such as milk, butter, ghee and such others. Your Excellency's Government would be deserving of special commendation from all sections of the public, if steps be taken to save the situation from becoming worse and to employ even stringent measures to correct the abuses which are a blot on our administration.

The Budget.

Mr. G. A. Bayley.

Conclusion.—The useful reforms, which have brought about a most noticeable improvement in the general efficiency of the various departments, bear testimony to Your Excellency's far-sighted statesmanship and exceptional administrative ability.

Finally, I congratulate Your Excellency's Government for a careful supervision and a wise control over the affairs of the province during the year under review."

The Hon'ble MR. G. A. BAYLEY said:—

"MY LORD,

I regret that the Budget makes no provision for the long-expected grant to the port of Chittagong, and, with Your Excellency's permission, I would like to press the claims of this port.

Last year I had the honour to urge the financial needs of the port for funds to enable the river approaches to be put into a condition adequate to give sufficient depth of water for Ocean steamers at all times. Your Excellency's Government then gave hopes of early inquiry, but for one cause and another, and chiefly owing to the state of War, our expectations have not been fulfilled and no inquiry has taken place, and we are now, I regret to say, after the lapse of a year, no nearer a definite statement of the long-hoped-for relief Government is prepared to give.

We realize the enormous difference in the conditions of finance which the war has caused, but we do not understand why this should prevent a full consideration of our position and a declaration of the policy of the Bengal Government.

The value of the Chittagong port in relation to the welfare of the hinterland is beyond doubt. His Excellency Lord Curzon, when Viceroy, at a visit to the port in 1904, during his speech said: "We think that this expenditure is both in the interests of the port and the railway. The Government have spent enormous sums upon the latter and from the strictly business point of view the best chance of getting a due return for the outlay is to provide the proper facilities for the trade which it is in a position to create. I hoped that these announcements will put fresh heart into your people and will pave the way for the rise of Chittagong to what, in my opinion, is its natural destiny, viz., to be the principal outlet of the trade of Eastern Bengal and Assam," and this opinion has been repeated by other high-placed officials. Therefore, it is natural for us to wish to know whether the fostering of this port, which I have just mentioned as so necessary for the interests of a large, densely-populated, and wealthy part of your province, is to be undertaken by Your Government, or whether for financial causes this is impossible, in which case we can only look for aid from the Government of India.

The Port Commissioners have lately received from their engineer a progressive scheme for the improvements needed, which includes training works, revetment, and dredging, the cost of which is placed at about 72 lakhs of rupees; in this scheme is included the dredger and hoppers to which I made reference last year as being of immediate necessity. The scheme can be spread over a number of years, but a yearly grant will be necessary, and it is the means for providing this for which we claim a hearing.

During the year there were four recorded cases of "Clan" line steamers being compelled to sail without full cargoes either to avoid being neaped or because of being neaped, and it is also true that cargoe has gone past the port, because such could not be accepted by the largest steamers of this steamship company for fear of navigation difficulties; moreover, other steamships have met with similar troubles. The numbers of larger draught ships are yearly on the increase, but since the provision of the first dredger in

The Budget.

Mr. A. W. C. Chaplin.

1907, or eight years ago, no appliances for the deepening of the channel or for maintaining the existing depth have been provided. Further, as our one dredger has to proceed to Calcutta every year for overhauling and repairs, there is a period of some four or five months when nearly all the work of one year is liable to be wasted by fresh silt-forming.

The Calcutta Dockyard authorities have also just informed us that about Rs. 50,000 is necessary for replacement of worn out parts of the dredger, and also that the launch "Gekho" will require a new hull at a cost of nearly 1½ lakhs, which with the small grab dredger we are purchasing for Rs. 75,000, will require a sum more than our available balance.

I believe I am correct in saying that very large initial grants were provided by Government to the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karachi, and Rangoon in the early days when these ports were unable to raise loans to enable them to offer the facilities necessary to accommodate the trade, which legitimately was bound to be handled at each port. but the Chittagong port is only partly yet so provided. I, therefore, only ask for a similar treatment, and, in fact. unless a grant is soon made, the Ocean trade is bound to have a set-back. It is a well-known fact that ports assist the development of provinces, chiefly through the agency of railways, and as considerable sums have already been spent both on the port and on railway connections, is it not a pity to arrest such development by a failure to supply the funds which will eventually so amply repay the Government ?

The representation I am making does not put forward any new facts ; on the contrary, what I have said is well known to Your Excellency's Executive Council, and was also well known to the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam. The latter Administration naturally took a very great interest in the development of a port which was so closely connected with the progress of the province, and perhaps it is not known to Your Excellency that the arrangements for providing the second dredger had come to a head just prior to the close of the Administration of the Eastern Bengal and Assam Government, but that, since the Chittagong port has come under the Government of Bengal, the provision of the dredger, the need of which we had thought as conclusively proved, has unfortunately been postponed.

I, therefore, urge, my Lord, for an expression of opinion as to whether Your Government recognizes the possibilities for usefulness of this port as a means of development of the tract of country it should serve, as judging by the want of practical assistance of late years we are almost reluctantly forced to fear we are considered of little importance ; further, if Your Excellency's Administration can undertake, in due course, the provision of the whole or a part of the funds requisite, or failing the possibility of this, whether Your Excellency's Government will press our necessity on the Government of India."

The Hon'ble MR. A. W. C. CHAPLIN said :—

"MY LORD,

I understand that 4½ lakhs have been allocated to the improvement of the Dooars Roads programme for expenditure during the current year, and I desire, on behalf of the Dooars, to thank Government for this provision and for the progress made towards this important work in the past year. I regret that it was not found possible to expend the full amount provided for in last year's Budget, but trust that this year, with the improved local organization that has recently been established, there will be no difficulty in carrying out the full programme for which funds can be provided.

While on the subject of communications, I trust your Excellency will permit me to draw the attention of Government to the inadequacy of railway communications in Northern and North-Eastern Bengal. Now that the

The Budget.

Babu S. N. Banerji.

Hardinge Bridge over the Ganges has been opened for traffic, what is most urgently required is an extension of the Eastern Bengal State Railway broad gauge to Siliguri. The present arrangement of transhipment of goods from the broad to the meter gauge at Santahar cannot adequately meet the requirements of this immensely important district and the hardship involved by passengers, bound for Darjeeling, the Dooars and Assam, having to break gauge at midnight at Santahar, is so great as to merit the serious consideration of Government. The delay in the Postal Service since the opening of the Hardinge Bridge, of which no doubt Government are fully aware, is another reason for the extension of the broad gauge. An extension to Parbatipur Junction in the immediate future would greatly improve the train service both for goods and passengers, and I trust your Excellency's Government will, in the interests of this Province, represent these matters to the Railway Board and to the Imperial Government.

I would like also to draw the attention of Government to the very reasonable and temperate complaints made by the Darjeeling Planters of the interference with their labour caused by the recruitment of their tea-garden coolies for police and other public purposes. During the Abor Expedition considerable numbers of transport coolies were, I believe, taken from the tea-gardens and much hardship to the local tea industry was thereby caused. I understand that the Bhutan Government, with the sanction of the Government of India, are about to lease out land for tea cultivation on their southern frontier east of the Sunkos river. If this is done, large numbers of Nepalese coolies from the Darjeeling and Dooars tea-gardens will undoubtedly be enticed over to the newly-opened area. This is a question I submit for the serious consideration of your Excellency's Government, as, unless something is done to protect their labour, recruited at great expense and difficulty, not only may the Darjeeling and Dooars tea industries be put to very great loss, but the revenue of these districts may also suffer by wholesale emigration of the nomad tribes who are at present opening out and cultivating the land at the foot of the hills in the Darjeeling and Jalpaiguri districts. I therefore ask your Excellency's Government to take such steps as may be necessary to protect these important revenue-producing interests.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANARJI said :—

"My Lord, the budget which we have to consider to-day is a war budget, marked by contraction of revenue and curtailment of expenditure. The revenue was less by 21 lakhs of rupees than what we had anticipated, and the expenditure was less by 83 lakhs of rupees than what had been budgetted for. There has been a large falling-off under some of the principal heads of revenue, for instance, Land Revenue, Stamps, Excise, Registration and even Irrigation, the last being due, as has been pointed out by the Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad, to the stoppage of traffic in jute over the canal area. My Lord, in consequence of the war, jute was very hard hit and it is the most important agricultural production of East and I may add of Northern Bengal, and it is not only the growers of jute who have had to suffer the most, but landlords, shop-keepers, money-lenders, I may say, all classes, all ranks had to participate in the pinch and the pressure due to the war. It was much to be wished that the authorities could see their way to finance the jute-growers at the time of crisis, but that was not done. My Lord, I have no idea as to the forecast of the jute produce for next year, but I am half afraid that the area of cultivation will be restricted and that rice will partly supplant jute. My Lord, but for the war, the Provincial Contract would have been revised and the new contract would have come into operation from the 1st of April. But that has not been done and it is impossible to do it owing to the war. After the war the Contract will be revised, and I do hope and trust that it will be so settled that Bengal will be a self-contained province able to stand upon her own legs, pay her own way, meet her growing requirements without the aid of those Imperial doles which, as Sir William Duke pointed out, is so disastrous to the stability of our finance. We must work up to fiscal autonomy and from that to provincial autonomy which has been promised under the Despatch of the 25th August 1911.

The Budget.

Babu S N. Banerji.

My Lord, I have already observed that there has been a decrease of expenditure in respect of certain items, mostly under education, the department in which we, the educated community, feel the deepest interest. My Lord, the decrease has been Rs. 83 lakhs. I am talking of the year 1914-15. The Education Budget provided for an expenditure of Rs. 1,43,45,000, but we were only able to spend 83 lakhs. In other words, 61 lakhs of the Budget provision were not spent. The whole amount of the unspent expenditure comes up to 83 lakhs. Thus it will be seen that nearly two-thirds of the total decrease of expenditure is under the head of "Education," and one-third of the money budgetted for was not spent under the same head. I desire to call the Hon'ble the Director of Public Instruction's attention to some of the items in the Education Budget. I invite his attention to page 18 of the Budget. I find there—or about a half.

	Rs.
Government schools, general revised estimates for 1914-15 ...	20,29,000
Budget estimate	11,97,000

I think that is a very big drop, and I should like to know from my Hon'ble friend how he proposes to satisfy the requirements under this head by a reduction so great. Then, again, under grants-in-aid—

	Rs.
Revised estimate	27,53,000
Budget	15,00,000

Is my Hon'ble friend going to cut down the grants-in-aid to one-half? Lastly, I desire to call his attention to the lump provision for hostels in Calcutta, budgeted for 1914-15, Rs. 8,70,000, revised estimate none. That means that nothing was spent under that head in 1914-15. I think I am right, my Lord, in that assumption. And in the budget I find 8 lakhs of rupees. That means that 8 lakhs are to be spent in 1915-16. Well, I should like to have some information in regard to that matter. Are the hostels, connected with some of the great private colleges, as they are called, going to be completed? For instance, there is to be a hostel for the Ripon College, one for the Metropolitan Institution and one for the City College. The plans, I think, are ready, the land has been acquired, but nothing has yet been done, and I am quite sure my Hon'ble friend, the Director of Public Instruction, is at one with me in thinking that these hostels are a most important factor in the maintenance of that discipline which we should like to see enforced among our boys.

Then I come to the question of primary education. On page 53, I find that under the head of primary education —

	Rs.
Upper Primary schools	Nothing, and
Lower Primary schools	2,800

I presume that the grant for primary schools is really indicated in the grant made to the District Boards in support of local schools. I find that the Budget estimate for 1915-16 is fixed at Rs. 2,88,000. Now, my Lord from year to year, there has been a sensible increase under this important head. We have got the actuals of 1911-12, 1912-13, 1913-14 and 1914-15, five lakhs for 1911-12, Rs. 11,64,000 for 1912-13, Rs. 13.00,000 for 1913-14, and Rs. 2,88,000 for 1915-16. I do think that some sort of explanation is required in regard to this matter. I desire to express once again the earnest hope that my Hon'ble friend will soon be ready with his scheme for the spread of primary education. The demands of the public require to be satisfied in regard to this important matter. In regard to education and sanitation, being the two considerations, in which we, the educated community, feel the deepest interest, I have again to repeat the old complaint that the administrative machinery moves very slowly. You have got a Sanitary Board here presided over by the Hon'ble Mr. C. J. Stevenson-Moore, and on which there are some non-official Indian members, but we have no knowledge of its proceedings. They are involved in absolute secrecy. The Sanitary Board is not a diplomatic body in regard to which secrecy is necessary. Its proceedings ought to see the light of publicity. In their absence the general public seems to have a sort of notion that nothing has been done. My Lord, there is a persistent rumour that a scheme of water-supply is under preparation extending from Barnagore to Naihati. Will my Hon'ble friend in charge of the department take us into his confidence, open to us the gates of his prison-house, and let us know the secrets? I am quite sure if there is to be such a scheme that it will meet with the unstinted support and co-operation of the people of the 24-Parganas, who are prepared to submit to a little taxation for that purpose if they can get a good supply of water.

The Budget.

Babu S. N. Banerji.

Passing from Education and Sanitation, I come to the Police. My Lord, I can only reiterate the old complaint which I made but last year that expenditure under this head is growing by leaps and bounds, but the improvement in the efficiency does not correspond with the increased expenditure. And I find that the European community shares the same feeling. The Statesman, I take it, is an exponent of European opinion. and in a recent article this is what the Statesman says :—"The Europeans have the same prejudice and never employ the Police if they can avoid the necessity of seeking their aid." There seems to be a sort of general distrust, and it is a matter of the first importance that it should be removed. My Hon'ble friend, the Maharaja of Burdwan, who is not here to-day in his place, suggested a commission to inquire into the matter. I do not know whether such a commission will lead to any useful and practical result, but I do know that what is wanted is a modicum of trust. The Police should trust us, and if they do so, I guarantee, my Lord, that we shall reciprocate their confidence with compound interest. That is human nature. But if you mistrust us, if you look upon us as so many suspects. we shall reciprocate the compliment in the same way. You will never command our trust unless you trust us—that is the secret of successful and beneficent administration. My Lord, with reference to the Police expenditure, I find that a sum of Rs. 45.000 has been budgetted for the re-organisation of the River Police. I am in entire sympathy with that measure, and I do hope that a portion of the money will be spent on steam-launches for patrolling the river Hughli both banks of which have been exposed to dacoities.

My Lord, I desire once again to repeat what was urged last time, viz., that the pay of the last grade of Munsifs should be increased. It is Rs. 200 now. There was a budget provision to the extent of Rs. 21,000 for raising their pay to Rs. 250, but nothing, I submit, has been done in the course of the year, and the provision has not been renewed. Now, my Lord, it seems to me to be very hard that when highly-paid members of the Indian Civil Service and of the Superior Police Service are allowed compensation allowance as a relief for block in promotion, that this deserving class of public servants should not get their just dues. My Lord, Government stand pledged to the amelioration of their position, and the pledge, should not long remain unredeemed.

The Budget.

Babu S. N. Banerji; Mr. Cumming; the President.

My Lord, there is one item in the Budget—I need not quote it—in which a provision has been made for the repair of a ferry ghat at Baduria. I take it that the proceeds are appropriated by the Provincial Exchequer. Against that I record my emphatic protest. From time to time—in fact, it is a general part of the Government's policy—you are making advances to local bodies in order to enable them to carry out improvements, and now you take away local funds, you divert local resources from their legitimate purposes and make them a part of the provincial funds. Local funds belong to local bodies, and I protest against the policy that withdraws these funds from the local bodies and makes them part and parcel of provincial funds. I speak with some amount of warmth as I have practical experience of a thing of this kind in connection with the North Barrackpur Municipality. I am Chairman of the North Barrackpur Municipality, we have within its jurisdiction the Kanaidham Ferry Ghat. The ferry yields a annual revenue of Rs. 3,600, half of which goes to the Serampur Municipality and the other half is appropriated by the Provincial Government. We get nothing out of this arrangement, although we are compelled to repair the roads and the approaches to the Ferry. I think this is unfair.

Lastly, I desire to call your Lordship's attention to the attitude of the Indian public with regard to the publication of the report of the Administration Committee. I think I voice the unanimous opinion of my countrymen when I say that the publication of that report has been received with a sense of profound disapprobation. It has revived the memories of a controversy which we have resolved to bury in utter oblivion——"

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING, interrupting, said :—

"My Lord, I rise to a point of order. My Lord, is not this point irrelevant to a discussion on the Budget ?"

HIS EXCELLENCY THE PRESIDENT said :—

"I confess I do not see any relevancy. Unless the Hon'ble Member can make his remarks relevant to some item in the Budget before us, he is out of order."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANARJI said :—

"My Lord, may I finish my remark with reference to this particular matter ?"

HIS EXCELLENCY THE PRESIDENT said :—

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANARJI said :—

"My Lord, I will try, and in two minutes' time I hope I shall finish. The Report has condemned upon what evidence I know not our system of secondary education which despite its defects has on the whole produced splendid results. It has passed unmerited reflections upon one of the greatest names in modern Bengal and in terms which have been resented by his followers, who are to be counted by thousands, and by his countrymen, by whom he is regarded as one of the most illustrious men of his age. I trust that when your Excellency's Government will proceed to record a resolution on this Report they will consult the public bodies upon the vital issues which it has raised.

The Budget.

Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

The Hon'ble RAJA HRISHIKESH LAHA, said:—

"YOUR EXCELLENCY,

The Budget for 1915-16 presents no remarkable feature as the hands of the Provincial Government have been tied by the instructions of the Government of India that the Provincial receipts should cover all expenditures leaving the balances intact. The closing balance for 1914-15 is Rs. 2,81,31,000, out of which Rs. 2,20,62,000 have been earmarked for Education, Sanitation, etc., which unhappily cannot be used for the purpose for which they are intended. There is a free balance of Rs. 20,47,000, which does not go far enough to meet the urgent requirements of the Province. There are, however, some new schemes which are proposed to be taken in hand, the most important of which are the increase in the reinforcement of the Presidency Police and the establishment of new police-stations in the mufassal. In the present circumstances of the country, when dacoities are rampant everywhere and life and property have become insecure, I should have been very glad if further provisions could have been made for increasing the present force of the Presidency Police, which falls far short of the requirements of the town. There appears to be a shortage in the number of constables, and it is desirable that Government should consider the question of strengthening the present force even by increasing the pay.

In the detailed remarks on the budget it will be observed that an estimate of Rs. 17,92,000 has been made for the recovery of Survey and Settlement charges, but owing to the general dislocation of trade caused by the war and a considerable fall in the price of jute and the partial failure of paddy crops in many parts of Bengal the position of both the zamindars and the cultivators has become anything but satisfactory. The former are doing their best to meet all the Government demands, but they have to do so at a considerable sacrifice, their collections being much below the normal. In the circumstances it would be considered a boon both by the zamindars and the cultivating classes if the Survey and Settlement operations are suspended for at least a year, that is, so long as the war lasts and things do not return to their normal condition. It appears from the Resolution published in the Calcutta Gazette of 24th February, 1915, that over 3,500 square miles were surveyed in 1913 and over 3,600 square miles in 1914, and if we calculate the expenditure at the standard rate, namely, Rs. 1,000 per square mile (see The Bengal Administration Report of 1911-12), then the cost ranges between 35 and 36 lakhs of rupees a year, three-fourths of which have to be paid by the zamindars and the tenants. Moreover, the zamindars have to maintain a special staff to look after the Survey and Settlement operations, and the raiyats to attend personally at the sacrifice of their own business and to incur incidental costs for travelling and other matters, which come up to a large round sum. Their troubles do not end here; they have also to incur expenses for fighting out cases under sections 105 and 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (Act VIII of 1885) after the final publication of the Record-of-Rights. Taking all these facts into consideration, their total yearly expenses would come to a round sum of about 50 lakhs, which they can ill afford to pay in such a hard time as this. I believe I have made out a good case for suspension, and I do not think it will affect the Government much if the recoveries are kept in abeyance for a year only, or so much of the Survey and Settlement operations, which are not expected to be finished before 1932 be suspended. I hope my suggestion will receive due consideration.

As regards Excise, I have to offer a few remarks. It will be noticed that duties and license-fees on country spirit and toddy and generally on other excisable articles have been considerably raised since 1913, no doubt with the laudable object of decreasing their consumption. The estimated receipts under this head for the current year have been placed at Rs. 1,60,00,000 as against the revised estimate of Rs. 1,55,00,000 of the last year and

The Budget.

Rs. 1,53,88,578 of 1913. The treasury price of opium would be raised to Rs. 40 per seer and the duty on ganja from Rs. 15 to Rs. 20. Other means also, as abolition of considerable number of shops and restricted hours of sale, have been adopted with that view. But it appears from the speech of my Hon'ble friend Mr. Stephenson, while introducing the budget heads relating to the Excise Department, that the increase or decrease in the consumption of country spirit and ganja and other excisable articles depend more upon agricultural prosperity or otherwise than upon the restrictive measures adopted for temperance purposes. That being so, it would be obviously unjust to those consumers, especially the various hill-tribes who from their manners, habits and customs are addicted to country spirits, toddy, etc., which have become as it were a part of their necessaries of life, to continue the enhanced duties imposed on them with a view to reduce their consumption, but which have manifestly failed to achieve their end. Moreover, these people have such hankering after these intoxicating liquors that they would not feel the slightest scruple to drink, however high the duties may be raised, though their wives and children may go without food. The duties therefore should be so regulated, making allowance for human frailties, that their wives and children should not be deprived of their food."

The Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ said :—

"My Lord, we meet to-day for our annual discussion of the Provincial Budget under extremely exceptional circumstances. While the crisis through which the Empire is passing has imposed on us a solemn duty to temper our remarks with prudence and moderation, yet I feel that the voice of criticism cannot be wholly hushed, if we are to discharge our duties not only to our community but also to your Excellency's Government. I therefore propose to offer a few remarks on the Budget allotments and the Government policy regarding the expenditure from Provincial Funds on matters affecting the education of Muhammadans in this Presidency.

My Lord, it is now two years almost to a day that I raised my voice in this Council as a protest against the policy of doling out fitful allotments in the Budget in furtherance of halting and half-hearted schemes for the advancement of Muhammadan education in Bengal. I tried to impress on your Excellency's Government that the minds of the Muhammadans had been seriously unsettled by the annulment of the Partition, and that Government was in honour bound to make adequate amends for the grievous wrong inflicted by that measure on a loyal and unsuspecting community. I pointed out that the least that your Excellency's Government could do was to continue the vigilant care which the Eastern Bengal officials used to bestow on schemes tending to further Muhammadan education, and to place such schemes in the forefront of all measures which your Excellency's Government thought fit to finance from Provincial Funds. As special cases, I emphasized the urgent necessity for Muhammadan boys of a well-equipped Arts College in Calcutta together with adequate hostel accommodation in all the education centres, and more particularly a hostel for college students in the vicinity of College Square in this city. These proposals have since then run the gauntlet of official criticism and public comment, and the voice of the community has all along been approvingly raised in their support at all the Muhammadan Educational Conferences in this Presidency. But, unfortunately, in spite of all our earnest efforts the lapse of full two years has not brought about any improvement in the situation, nor afforded the Muhammadan boys the least relief in their struggles to avail themselves of the benefits of English Education. I have not the least doubt that the history of the previous years will again repeat itself, and that this year also the stringent rules of admission into colleges, coupled with the utter absence of suitable or adequate hostel accommodation will mark the close of the career of hundreds of Muhammadan students all over the Presidency.

The Budget.

Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq.

My Lord, it was in April 1913 that the Government of India issued its well-known circular to Provincial Governments, emphasising the importance and the necessity of paying particular attention to the various problems affecting the education of the Muhammadan community. As a full and careful statement of the case for the Muhammadan community the document was admirable enough, but in its practical application it has remained a veritable dead letter. I cannot for a moment conceive how, when once the necessity for a certain measure is realised, Government should feel any difficulty in taking suitable steps to put their resolve into action. I am prepared to admit that the wheels of the Government machine are ponderously slow, but that is no reason why they should be so slow, as for all practical purposes, not to be moving at all. Let us take for instance the case of the Muhammadan Arts College and the hostel for Muhammadan stutents in College Square in this city. It was in 1913 that a notification was published in the Calcutta Gazette about the acquisition of a plot of land for the Arts College in Wellesley Square. But beyond that mere paper notification nothing has yet been done, and the ground is still lying in the same vacant condition with not a spadeful of sand having been turned during these two years. The officials concerned may console themselves that they have some mysteriously convincing explanation for all this delay, but the Muhammadan community feel convinced that the real cause for all this lethargy lies in the utter indifference with which the officials are wont to treat the claims of the Muhammadan community. In the case of the hostel in College Square, the officials have gone one better, for not one single step has yet been taken to indicate that the Government have the least intention to afford the Muhammadan students any relief in this matter.

My Lord, the cases of the Arts College or the hostel in College Square are not the solitary instances in which Muhammadan claims, even of a pressing character, have been conveniently brushed aside so as ultimately to pass out of consideration altogether. I can mention scores of instances to illustrate what I mean, but for paucity of time I will only quote two cases in point. Hon'ble Members are aware that when early in 1913 the question of hostel accommodation for Muhammadan students was forcibly pressed on the Government, we were assured that a sum of Rs. 91,000 had been set apart for the extension of the Baker and Elliott Hostels. Resolution after resolution was moved in this Council, and interpellation after interpellation was put to draw the pointed attention of Government to the urgency of hostel accommodation for Muhammadan students, and at the end of each discussion or answer, Government used to tell us that a sum of Rs. 91,000 had been set apart for the extension of the two hostels. I hope I will not cause any surprise in this Council were I to declare that the sum of Rs. 91,000 still exists in its integrity, that not a pice out of this amount has been thought fit to be spent and that not a brick has yet been added to either of the two institutions. The other case that I wanted to cite comes from Rajshahi. Soon after the partition, the Muhammadans of that town urged upon the Government the necessity for a Munammadan hostel and asked for an allotment from Provincial Revenues. After some discussion and negotiation, it was settled that the Muhammadan community should supply the land and a portion of the cost of the building, and the Government would pay the balance of the cost. The Eastern Bengal Government never allowed the cases of Muhammadan hostels to be shelved on any account, and within a short time of its first inception, the hostel was completed and thrown open for the occupation of students. Then a very strange thing happened. The hostel was named "The Fuller Hostel" after Sir Bampfylde Fuller, and as if to be in keeping with Sir Bampfylde's unfinished reign, the authorities thought that the building should be left slightly incomplete. They accordingly allowed the floor of the dining-hall to remain kutcha. The community at once protested and the matter was referred to the Principal of the Rajshahi

The Budget.

Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq.

College for report. Since then, although the Muhammadan community have sent up numerous representations and petitions during six full years, neither the Principal of the College nor the higher authorities have shown any desire within the last six years to do anything in the matter. I leave it to your Excellency's Government to consider what justification there can possibly be for neglecting for six years to repair the floor of a hall, only about 100 yards in area, especially when the matter itself is of some urgency and has been repeatedly brought to the notice of the authorities. Can indifference, I ask, go further than this?

My Lord, there remains for me to say a few words on the question of hostel accommodation for Muhammadan students of the University Law College. There are at present about two hundred of these students, and the only accommodation that exists for them in Calcutta is confined to a few precarious seats in a stuffy house at No. 2, Mirzapore Street. When it was decided to build a hostel for the Law students of the University College, the University contributed over 3 lakhs of rupees and the Government contributed an equal amount for the erection of a suitable building for the hostel. The result has been the five-storied building named the Hardinge Hostel situated by the side of the University Law College, with accommodation, on even the most liberal scale, for nearly two hundred students. Ever since the erection of the hostel, more than 40 per cent. of the seats remain unoccupied and yet no Muhammadan student is allowed to have a seat in the hostel. There can be no objection to have the hostel reserved for Hindu students, but the Muhammadan students have an equal claim on the University and Provincial Funds and it would be an act of bare justice to them to build for them, if not an equally gorgeous, at least an equally commodious hostel.

My Lord, I do not wish to multiply instances. If I have ventured to trouble this Council once again with the very same matters which I had dealt with in the discussion of the previous Budgets, I have done so from an overpowering sense of duty. It is always an unpleasant task to have to perform the part of a critic, still more unpleasant to have to dwell on the very same theme year after year. But the responsibilities of office must be faced, and the very seat I occupy in this Council can only be justified by my readiness to place the views of my country and community truly and faithfully before your Excellency's Government. I have never been an alarmist at any time of my life, and I represent a community whose loyalty has always been above comment or cavil. It should therefore be a matter for some consideration by your Excellency's Government that to-day, while approaching the close of my term in this Council, I feel compelled to record my deliberate opinion that Muhammadan interests have not been receiving due and adequate consideration at the hands of Government. The annulment of the Partition gave a rude shock to Moslem feelings and fitful efforts were for some time made by officials to conciliate Muhammadan opinion. The result was the Dacca University—a doubtful boon, for which we are still making provisions in the Budget. This is neither the place nor the occasion to dwell on the various other causes which have since convulsed our community, but it is enough that the accumulated result of all this fortuitous concourse of circumstances has been to leave the minds of my community in a disturbed state. On the top of all this came the repeated disappointments of my community in securing even the scantiest recognition from Government in furtherance of practical schemes for the development of Muhammadan education.

My Lord, I have just been supplied with answers to an interpellation of mine which shew the total expenditure on hostels for the last three years, with separate figures for sums spent on Muhammadan hostels. I am told that in 1912-13 the total expenditure was about five and a half lakhs, Muhammadan hostels accounting for Rs. 58 thousand; in 1913-14 the total expenditure was about five lakhs, Muhammadan hostels 65 thousand ; and 1914-15 the total was eight lakhs of which only about Rs. 86 thousand had been spent on Muhammadan Hostels. Comment on these figures seems unnecessary. I will perhaps be told that a committee for advising on Muhammadan education has been appointed and been sitting and Government are awaiting their report before taking any steps in matters which may possibly form the subject of discussion in the committee. But the committee was appointed only late last year and even before that Government had not given any indications that they had been making the problems of Muhammadan education a matter of much concern. Besides, the case for a Muhammadan Arts college or a hostel in College Square has always been above controversy, and one at least of these schemes could have been taken up without prejudice to the deliberations of the committee. But Government preferred to procrastinate even in matters of such grave moment, with the result that the war has now broken out and is putting such a strain on the resources of the Empire that your Excellency had to declare at the Madrassah the other day that these schemes on which we had so much set our heart must be indefinitely postponed. It will be after all, as has always been in the past, that the Muhammadan community will suffer.

The Budget.

Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq.

My Lord, I feel bound to tell your Excellency's Government that the popular impression is that you look upon the Muhammadan community as a negligible quantity and always try to ignore it in your administrative calculations. Recent events have convinced me that the popular estimate of the real attitude of Government towards our community is far from being incorrect. I do not mind telling my official friends in this Council that the one great weakness in the British character is its readiness to yield to those who shout the loudest and to ignore those who confide in the sense of justice and equity and the sturdy conscience of the British race. Herein lies the real explanation of the Government attitude towards the Muhammadan community. We are being ignored, because we have not yet made our existence felt. Else, how is it I ask, that even the urgent needs of our community are being subordinated to numerous other matters about which expenditure had to be incurred in the teeth of controversy ? How is it that lakhs are being spent in such doubtful schemes as the College in Hastings House, while the Muhammadan Arts College is being slowly consigned to the limbo of oblivion. How is it that thousands of rupees are forthcoming for the acquisition of Darga lands at Rajshahi in the teeth of the most violent opposition by the Muhammadan community, while the repair of the floor of the dining hall in Fuller Hostel has been held back for over six years, although the cost would not have been more than a few hundred rupees ? My Lord, the annulment of the Partition has itself left a wound which even time may not heal, but there have been after griefs which have affected us more deeply and will perhaps leave scars which nothing can efface from the minds of the community.

My Lord, I wish it to be distinctly understood that, in all my comments on Government policy, I do not wish to reflect on the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell or his methods of administration of the Education Department. On the contrary, the entire community fully appreciates the zeal and energy with which he has approached many a question affecting Muhammadan education, and I cannot personally withhold my tribute of grateful thanks to him and his worthy assistant Mr. Taylor, for all that they have done for the spread of Muhammadan education in Bengal. If our community has any grievances it is certainly not owing to the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell or to Mr. Taylor that things are unsatisfactory, and it is only due to them that I should publicly acknowledge their services on behalf of our community."

The Budget.

Dr. Sarbadhikari.

The Hon'ble DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"MY LORD,

A notable feature of the Bengal Budget has for some time been the development under the heading Education. When I joined the Council in 1908, I congratulated the Council and the Government upon the rise of our educational outlay from 26 lakhs in 1902-03 to 42½ lakhs in the revised estimate for 1908. Taking local contributions into account the figure then stood at 61 lakhs. The Province then consisted of Bengal as it now is and Bihar and Orissa. The figure stood at over 61 lakhs in 1911, leaving out of consideration, I believe, local contributions. It rose to over 73 lakhs in 1912, to over 81 lakhs in 1913, to over 85 lakhs in 1914, and this year we have the striking figure of a crore, five lakhs and 62 thousand not to speak of the much higher figure that was ultimately reduced as shown in page 18 of the Budget. This does not take into account, if I gather aright, local contributions and, if my belief be correct, the advance from 42 lakhs in 1908 to this year's figure of near upon a crore and six lakhs is indeed a matter of congratulation. I do not believe in money being spent on ill-matured schemes for the sake of spending. Fully sharing the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji's regret that all that was budgeted for last year could not be spent in the absence of matured and accepted working schemes, one must admit that the figure of actuals last year would appear to be all the more striking when one considers that Bihar and Orissa, under a separate Government, are separately provided for and the present figure is for Bengal proper alone. Bengal can therefore little complain that the Government have been unmindful of its educational requirements. Our requirements are no doubt larger and will be much larger in the near future. When the clouds roll by and the unspent balance that this year cannot be touched is once more available under more favourable auspices, we hope to be in a better position. The figures of this lump expenditure are given under suitable headings at page 18 of the Budget, and though an appreciable amount of this sum still continues to be employed for purposes that an ascetic educationist will hardly admit to be strictly educational, I must acknowledge that the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell has so far adhered to the pledge given by his predecessor that inspection charges which had attained what the department considered as the maximum should no further be increased. For this year these charges are actually less than the figures of 1911, and the direction charges are less than the figures of 1911 and 1914. It would be foolish to underestimate the value of direction and inspection in the field of education, but one naturally likes to see proportionably much more spent on the inspectable commodity than on inspection. More schools and colleges, better schools and colleges, more and better paid teachers and professors are a greater desiderata than expanded inspection and direction, and for a time admittedly there was an undue tendency towards the abnormal growth of inspection and direction charges which a timely and strong protest in this Council helped in curtailing.

Figures under the heading "University" are less than those of 1912-13-14, though the requirements are considerably in advance, and those interested in University education under altered conditions must have an anxious time of it till better provisions for increasing requirements can be made. The expenditure in Government colleges again is not much in advance of the last year's figures, and there are reasons to apprehend that unless the current year's figure of 9 lakhs and 12 thousand can by readjustment be appreciably increased, it would not be possible for many of the Government colleges to have their fair share of much-and long-needed improvements.

I should like to associate myself thoroughly with Hon'ble Moulvi Faz-ul-Haq in his appeal for a college and a hostel for Muhammadans. I have consistenly advocated generous expenditure on Muhammadan education ever since I have been on the Council and I cannot say that nearly enough has been done in this direction. Regarding my friend's complaints about Muhammadan law students, all that we can say is that all the law students in the University Law College whether Hindoos or Muhammadans can never be adequately provided for. The Law College students number over 2,000 of whom only 150 can be lodged in the Hardinge Hostel and a few more in ordinary messes. Most of them will have to be in "stuffy messes" for a long time and even when hostels for all come, it is to be hoped that the hostels will be fairly in keeping with the conditions under which our average students live. I do not believe in "gorgeous" hostels. And it is doubtful whether we can ever maintain hostels even in an unsatisfactory way for all who require them. But I do recognise the urgent need of a Musalman non-collegiate hostel in the neighbourhood of College Square for students of various colleges about it. I hope one will soon come. I would welcome a Carmichael Hostel where our Muhammadan students can be located. In the meantime we in the University shall try to see how present arrangements can be improved.

The Budget.

Dr. Sarbadhikari.

It is keenly felt in many quarters that our colleges should have their dues hare of M.A. teaching, so that the University may be relieved of much that it has to do in this direction under existing conditions. Though public attention has been called pointedly to this matter several times during the past few months, there seems to be little tendency on the part of the authorities to move in the direction indicated. So far it is the Presidency College and the Dacca College among the Government colleges that take any share in M.A. teaching, and I am glad to say that during the past few months their field of work in this direction has to a certain extent been enlarged. Both these colleges get all the students that they can or care to accommodate. The Gauhati College, thanks to Sir Archdale Earle's enlightened policy, has just begun taking some share, and one private college, the Scottish Churches College, also takes some share. Judged by results, undergraduate and graduate teaching also in the Government colleges require considerable general strengthening, and the pay and prospects of our professors in the Subordinate Educational Service require anxious and careful handling as early as possible. I shall not now refer to the various questions in this connection that I have raised in the Council from time to time, for we have been assured that they are under the consideration of your Excellency's Government and nothing can be done for the present. But there is one aspect of their case, to which I may be permitted to make a passing reference. Under the system—if it be one the merits of which I have not been able to clearly understand—a Science professor, who is a professor in one college, by being transferred to another, becomes immediately either a Lecturer or Demonstrator, as the case may be, or even an assistant to other professors, and some are supposed to be glorified bottle-washers. A person so transferred is, however, a Lecturer or a Professor to all intents and purposes and in many cases as good a Lecturer or Professor as any. But he is allowed no adequately responsible or recognized place in the college staff. And this state of things leads to too much heart-burning, and makes for inefficiency. Without much investment of money a state of peace and progress may be ensured by reasonable readjustment of ideas.

The Syndicate of the University has recently appointed a College Committee and a School Committee to consider what progress has been recently achieved and what remains to be done. These committees are still at work; but from materials that have come in so far as well as from annual inspection reports one cannot help being struck with the improvement that has been achieved with the limited resources of these institutions, and the whole question is one of money if further improvement is to be attained. While we are waiting for our systems and policies, and hanging up our balances till for some reason or another they cease to be available, the institutions concerned must considerably suffer if not altogether starve.

The Budget.

Dr. Sarbadhikari.

I welcome the Hastings House School Scheme, though much has been said against it outside this Council and just now in the Council. It is neither edifying nor reassuring that Government of India grants. that are fairly generous should not be spent because of want of matured schemes. Those who know and appreciate the wants cannot take long to mature working schemes though possibly they may not be the last words on the subject. In the domains of education the last words will not long be said, if ever. If the Hastings House School comes early, and does its work well, it will enable us to see what a model school according to advanced ideas would be like, what it will cost and what its possibilities are and how far other schools can be brought into a line without like resources. The Hindu School and the Hare School, in which many of us used to take and still take much interest, are, according. to some, anything but model schools, for which reason, if for no other the lessons of the Hastings School project will be awaited with interest, nay, anxiety. The University is insisting on higher school ideals wherever possible, and 17 schools are already under notice of disaffiliation. It must be admitted that if the rules were vigorously and strictly enforced, many more would have to come under notice immediately ; but popular educational demand cannot be met in that way, and in some places even indifferent schools would be better than no school at all.

Our Divisional and Additional Inspectors and their Deputies and Assistants, whom I take this opportunity of publicly thanking for the great service that they do to the University in this behalf, bring to light facts that make us extremely sad that means of improvements should be lacking so much. I am glad, as I am sure the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell will be, that they do not hesitate to bring to notice defects of the Government schools, which, in some instances, take quite as long, if not longer, to rectify as some private schools.

I now turn to a more helpful and hopeful feature of the Educational Budget, and refer with gratitude to the Hostel Grants of 10 lakhs of rupees that His Excellency the Chancellor was pleased to announce at the Town Hall Convocation of the University. I hope now our colleges, that have long been waiting for their hostels, will have appreciable assistance. Some years ago Sir Edward Baker was pleased to appoint a committee, of which I happened to be a member, to draw up a scheme for providing our private colleges with hostels, and the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler and myself went all over the town, inspected bastis, framed schemes, drew up estimates with the Hon'ble Mr. Slacke, as our President, and we ended in doing nothing. That was many years ago. Our idea was, and my idea still is, to take up some of the insanitary back bastis, which would be comparatively inexpensive to acquire, fairly close to the colleges, and build up a system of hostels that would be the beginning of real corporate University life in Calcutta. I forget the exact amount that was supposed to be at our disposal then, and I believe it was something like 5 or 6 lakhs. Then came the grants mentioned at page 8 of the budget—8 lakhs and 70 thousand as it is shown there—but which I believed was 10 lakhs. The City College, the Ripon College. the Metropolitan College, the Bangabasi College, and I forget what other colleges, were invited to participate. Some moved in the matter in right earnest and made an appreciable advance. even to the extent of acquiring land. The University was not consulted in the matter and does not know how matters exactly stand. But some of the colleges complain that, though their schemes have been ready and they could begin work at once, they could not and cannot do so for want of the assistance that they expected. I have tried to get information as to what actual sum is included in the unspent balance originally earmarked for hostel purposes. and whether it be 8 lakhs 70 thousand or 10 lakhs and more, taking into account the grant made earlier. we take it all, this would be available for the same purposes, when the present troubles pass away and when we are free to touch the balance. Including this year's grant of 10 lakhs near upon 25 lakhs should be to the credit of Calcutta hostels.

Connected with this aspect of student life, I would like to refer to the urgent need of a student infirmary in Calcutta—a need that has been pressed very much upon us in connection with the recent outbreak of small-pox epidemic in Calcutta.

We are thankful that substantial provision has been made for the Belgachia Hospital, and means will soon be found for providing Bengal with a second affiliated Medical Institution, and turning out more highly qualified doctors than we are able at present to do. Establishment of the State Faculty of Medicine, to which reference has been made in the Budget will help in bringing into existence an intermediate class of medical practitioners, who are likely to be very useful to the country. This year Hon'ble Members who did not want free advertisement for their pet schemes of the kind alluded to by the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson in connection with the Hon'ble Ray Radha Charan Pal Bahadur's sporting Budget resolutions studiously refrained from troubling the Council with needless motions. One resolution, however, of which notice had been given by an Hon'ble Member, but which was disallowed on account of the non-compliance with the rules, touched a matter of vital importance to the Provincial Judicial Service. It was in connection with the question of granting an increment of Rs. 50 per month to the lowest grade of Munsifs, 35 in number, as has been done in the case of the Provincial Executive Service. The total expenditure would be Rs. 21,000. The Hon'ble Sir William Duke, in the course of the Budget debate on the 4th April last, spoke as follows on this subject :—

"Satisfaction has been expressed that provision has been made for raising the pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs. I would ask members to adopt an attitude of expectation on this subject. I myself have always contemplated raising the pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs since the time when the Government decided to do it in the case of the Executive Service, and that was carried through about three years ago. We thought that probably what was fair for one service would be fair to the other, and in fact, so far as the Munsifs are recruited rather older, they have an adidtional claim."

As no effect had, however, been given to the scheme yet, I asked a question on the subject in the Council on the 20th January last. Replying to this question, the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming said :—

"It is not possible to state from what date the abolition of the last grade of Munsifs will take place. Government regret that they are not prepared to make recommendations at the present time for the immediate increase of expenditure which the proposal would involve and are awaiting the report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services before taking further action in the matter."

I trust that Government will soon do something to ameliorate the condition of this class of well-deserving public servants.

In the interest of the Service the long deferred act of justice to which I allude should not be further withheld.

Those of us, who had often occasion of drawing the attention of the Council and the Government to the pitious conditions of some parts of the country owing to the Damodar floods, will have the satisfaction of knowing that steps are to be taken for grappling with the question in right earnest. Budget allotment for this first step is, therefore, welcome, and we thank Your Excellency and Your Excellency's Government for this earnest.

The recent publication of the correspondence with local Governments on the subject of Excise Administration in India suggests many matters of interest that this Council might be asked to consider. The Temperance Party have decided to take up the suggestion of His Excellency the Viceroy re-echoed by the Secretary of State for India and seek to arouse among the people themselves definite movements towards the practice of total abstinence from both drink and drugs. At the same time they look for the support promised by the Administration in the statement of His Excellency that the Administration is chiefly concerned with the reduction of actual consumption so minimising temptation to those who do not drink, and discouraging excess among those who do.

Maulvi Musharraf Husain.

We should also be glad to learn whether the Government of Bengal are prepared to act upon any of the recommendations which the Secretary of State for India has urged might be introduced in the interests of Temperance Reform. Among these special mention should be made of an experiment in certain areas, Calcutta for example, of a system of adequate fixed fees instead of the system of auctioning licenses, which is still regarded by Temperance workers as quite as unsatisfactory in controlling consumption as was the outstill system so rapidly being abolished. We have powerful allies now in the War Offices of Great Britain, France and Russia and even in the British Enchequer. Temperance men will no longer hesitate to press for fiscal sacrifices in the interest of Temperance. And to crown all our generous King-Emperor, who is ever to the fore and the first in all good causes has given a noble lead to the world that will prove itself a regenerative force of undreamt of power. The Archbishop of Canterbury has whole-heartedly taken up the cause and these notable exertions there will find adequate response in India as all friends of Temperance and good Government fervently wish and pray.

It would at this juncture be useful and interesting to know if the Government of Bengal is prepared to act according to the suggestion of the Marquess of Crewe that the syllabus of lessons on Temperance which received the support of the British Medical Association and was issued by the Board of Education in 1909 might be adapted for use of schools in India and that at least two or three lessons a year should be based upon it. I would request that this most practical and reasonable suggestion might be forwarded to the department of my hon'ble friend, the Member for Education, for sympathetic consideration and action.

The Secretary of State for India further suggests that the functions of Advisory Committees might not be limited merely to questions of the number or locations of shops but be enlarged "to include the consideration of the methods of trading, the hours of sale, and generally as to abuses and irregularities." And in connection with this I would urge Your Excellency's special attention to the suggestion of the same high authority that it might be within the recognised sphere of Advisory Committees and Licensing Boards "to call attention to special cases and localities in town or country in which it might seem desirable, and likely to be in consonance with the wishes of the inhabitants, that a ward or special area should be kept altogether immune from the sale of intoxicants."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN said :—

"MY LORD,

I beg to congratulate your Excellency's Government on the presentation of a successful budget for the year 1915-16. It is a matter of great felicitation to us to know that the war in Europe has not succeeded in influencing the budget to as much extent as was apprehended before. Our heartfelt thanks are specially due to all heads of departments for observing strict economy in their ordinary expenditure last year and raising thereby the actual free balance to 28½ lakhs of rupees after earmarking an additional 5 lakhs of rupees for a grant under certain conditions to the Belgachia Hospital, although in the beginning of the year it was estimated to be only 26 lakhs.

Coming to the expenditure side of the Budget we are glad to find that the Government, even in this year of financial difficulties, have provided 1½ lakhs of rupees for the reorganisation of the Excise Department. It is from excise that the Government receive the maximum of profit with the minimum of expenditure, and none can grudge an additional expenditure under this head for the more efficient working of the department.

Registration.

2. Coming to the head Registration, it is to be noticed that in 1914-15 Rs. 11,99,000 were provided, but in the revised estimate it was reduced to Rs. 11,51,000 and it has further been reduced to Rs. 11,23,000 in the coming year's budget. It is a matter of regret that, although there was a talk of revision of establishment of this department for some years past, it has not as yet been carried into effect : even this year's budget has not provided for it. In my opinion some more money should have been provided under this head for the revision of the establishment of this department this year, as has been done in the Excise Department.

Jails.

3. Coming to the head Jails, I notice with apprehension the provision of Rs. 21,95,000 in place of Rs. 23,78,000. The decrease is attributed to small provision for dietary charges and purchase of raw material as compared with the figures of the revised estimate. Among all the expenses, dietary charges of the prisoners should be the last that should be touched when economy is to be effected. I would urge upon your Excellency's Government to look to this item of expenditure and increase it, if possible, in the interest of humanity, instead of reducing it.

Police.

4. It has now become a general complaint that the district executive force is not enough to cope with the increasing work of the district police. I would therefore humbly request your Excellency's Government to see if it is not practicable to increase the number of the police force, at least temporarily, to meet the general situation of the Presidency, created by the disorganisation of trade and partial failure of crops last year.

Education.

5. From the statement of expenditure under the head Education it appears that under the sub-head "Expenditure of recurring grant," Rs. 25,20,000 were provided in last year's budget and in the revised estimate the whole amount was omitted. But in the budget for the year 1915-16 again Rs. 13,20,000 have been provided for the expenditure. I do not know why the Education Department could not expend a farthing even out of Rs. 25,20,000, in the first few months of the year, as economy has been thought of practically from the middle of the year only. I would ask the Hon'ble Member in charge to take special care of this item of expenditure and to see that regular schemes come forward in proper time so that money may not lapse by the end of the year, as the country is clamouring for liberal expenditure for its educational progress.

The Muhammadan public has learnt with great regret that the materialisation of the scheme for the establishment of an Arts College for Muhammadan boys in Calcutta in the centre of Muhammadan population will be delayed for want of funds. The Educational Budget for the coming year provides for the expenditure of Rs. 95,62,000, of which more than Rs. 30,00,000 are in the discretion of the Education Department. If the Department likes to establish the college, it can very easily do so, out of these discretionary amounts without interfering in any way with their recurring and permanent expenditure. I hope the Department will fulfil the scheme this year and relieve the Muhammadan public from anxiety.

The Budget.

Chaudhari Muhammad Ismail Khan.

Superannuation.

6. The charges under this head are rising year after year, and the estimate for 1915-16 provides for an additional amount of about 2 lakhs of rupees under this head. This I understand is for commutation of pensions. While discussing the last year's budget I pointed out some gross injustice to the old Sub-Registrars whose pensionable services are counted from the date of the reorganisation of the department a few years ago, and not from the date of their actual entry into the service. In reply, the Hon'ble Member in charge was pleased to say that their case is under the consideration of the Royal Commission. Since then a year has passed and the public have not yet been informed of the decision of the Royal Commission. In the meantime the old people are retiring, but unfortunately their cases are governed by the existing pension rules. I would therefore urge upon Your Excellency's Government to see if some relief cannot be given to those gentlemen who are retiring at present. Whatever be the ultimate decision of the Royal Commission, I beg to impress upon Your Excellency's Government the hardships and sufferings of these old people, and to ask Your Excellency to be a little merciful towards them. It is sometimes pointed out that these old Sub-Registrars formerly retired without any pensions whatsoever. But I beg to say in reply that there was previously no age-limit for retiring and the old Sub-Registrars were allowed to work as many years as they liked even without any transfer whatsoever.

Civil Works in charge of Public Works Department.

7. I beg to thank Your Excellency's Government heartily for expending a good amount for the improvement of the Dooars Roads. I have been impressing upon Your Excellency's Government for the last two years that the two systems of roads—one leading to Jalpaiguri and the other to Alipur—should be linked together for the improvement of inter-district communication. I personally explained this to the Hon'ble Mr. Green and pointed out to him that it was very easy to do so by extending the Dalgaon-Lankapara Road up to the edge of the river Tursha and the Rajabhatkhawa-Joygaon Road to the other bank of the river and keeping a good ferry across the river till the Public Works Department would think it opportune for bridging it. The cost in doing so will I believe be very small indeed, and I hope the Government would kindly accept this suggestion."

The Hon'ble CHAUDHURI MUHAMMAD ISMAIL KHAN said :—

"MY LORD,

It is indeed a matter for sincere congratulation to our Government that, in spite of the serious dislocation of business caused by the general conflagration of the war, our financial condition has not been as depressing and discouraging as was apprehended. Nobody could expect this year a prosperity budget. The serious drain caused by the war has always been regarded as an important factor to reckon with in framing the Budget. The fall of revenue under the several heads has been sufficiently accounted for by the Hon'ble Members in charge of the departments. Looking to the receipt side of the financial statement, I find one item affecting more particularly the people of Eastern Bengal, that calls for some comment. Evidently, both the Imperial and Provincial Governments are not going to stay their hands with regard to the recovery of Survey and Settlement charges. We have our 'Fat' years, and we have our 'Lean' years, and the present unfortunately has been one of the leanest years for Eastern Bengal. The extraordinary drop in the price of jute on account of the war, and the partial failure of rice crop in some of the districts have caused the direst distress to the people. The pinch is being felt by all classes of people, the agriculturists as well as the landholder. The demand of Survey and Settlement charges in this year of distress is not likely to be met by the people of these hapless districts without the greatest difficulty. I implore your Excellency's Government and the Imperial Government to arrange the Budget in such a manner that the recovery of these charges may be suspended for this year. Eighteen lakhs is really a drop in the huge Indian Ocean of revenues, and if the fall of revenue from other sources can be tolerated, it won't at all be difficult to account for these eighteen lakhs between your Excellency's Government and the Imperial Government. In case, however, your Excellency's Government be not prepared to accept my suggestion in full, I earnestly pray that Government may be pleased to issue such general instructions to the superior officers charged with the actual realisation of the Survey and Settlement charges as may enable them to consider cases of hardship on their own merits and order instalments in payment of the charges according to their discretion.

The Budget.

Chaudhuri Muhammad Ismail Khan.

I am glad to note here that henceforth agriculture is to be entered in the Budget as a separate head. This is as it should be, because our country is mainly agricultural and about 70 per cent. of the population depends for their livelihood on agriculture and agricultural pursuits. The work of the department is still in its initial stage, but the field is vast and extensive. In my humble opinion, whenever a successful result is obtained from any experiment conducted at demonstration farms in district headquarters, it should be the endeavour of the department to popularise it amongst the actual cultivators in the interior of the country because very few of them come to town to learn these things as they are generally poor, illiterate, ignorant and unenterprising. My Lord, I may take the case of rice crop for example. If any successful experiment is obtained, it should at once be tried in a Khas Mahal in the south of the Bakarganj district, so that it may be an object-lesson and an eye-opener to the raiyats living there, and from them it would be learnt easily by their friends and relations who live near by the Mahal. This is one of the ways how a successful experiment can be made popular. Unless this course is taken at once and immediately and is always kept in view and successfully pushed on gradually but persistently, no benefit can be gained from the expenditure incurred in connection with the successful experiments at demonstration farms and research institutes. On the 'Expenditure' side, the increase under head 'Law and Justice' calls for certain remarks. The increase is said to be chiefly due to larger payments of pleaders' fees in connection with the several political cases. Everybody in this Council is anxious to stamp out anarchism from the land and bringing the offenders to speedy justice is no doubt one of the potent means for strangling anarchism to death. But there is no reason why the Government should be so lavish in expenditure in engaging counsel and pleaders at enormous fees for conducting these political cases. It is said and, I believe, said with great deal of justice and truth that even very ordinary lawyers, engaged by Government, have made fabulous incomes in connection with these political cases. Why should the Government pay more than what such lawyers can ordinarily earn? The best legal help can be secured at less than half the cost. Everybody expects that Government should take care to spend the tax-payers' money with some regard to economy. Litigation is a curse to the people of this country, and the Government is indeed setting a very bad example by such lavish expenditure.

The Budget.

Babu Upendra Lal Ray.

MY LORD, I would be wanting in my duty as a member of this Council were I to omit to convey our grateful thanks to His Excellency the Viceroy for his recent announcement about a grant of 10 lakhs for the erection of hostels for students. I have no doubt that this liberal grant will give a great impetus to the cause of education and I hope the claims of Muhammadan community will not be overlooked by Your Excellency's Government.

My Lord, I cannot conclude these few remarks of mine on the Budget without a few words on the urgent need of a hostel for Muhammadan students in Calcutta. I know that Government has been contemplating an extension of the Elliot and Baker Hostels, and this no doubt will bring the students some relief. But the real and crying want is a hostel in or near College Square which will enable our young men to live under the beneficial influences of all the various educational institutions in that neighbourhood.

I sincerely hope and trust that your Excellency's Government will take steps to remove this long-felt grievance of our students and thus earn the lasting gratitude of the entire Muhammadan community in this Presidency."

The Hon'ble BABU UPENDRA LAL RAY said :—

"MY LORD,

The position of the Budget under review can be ascertained by a glance at page 5 of the Budget. It appears that under the orders of the Government of India the Budget has been prepared on the basis that all the charges are covered by the Provincial receipts and regrant of all the unexpended balances of the Imperial grants for Education, Sanitation, Police and discretionary grants have not been provided for. In view of the financial situation caused by the outbreak of war in Europe it is satisfactory to note that no new taxation has been imposed and none of the existing taxes has been materially enhanced with the exception of the contemplated increase of the Treasury price of opium to Rs. 40 per seer and the duty on Ganja from Rs. 15 to Rs. 20. This will affect a small minority of the population but the total revenue under these items has been estimated at a much smaller figure than that of the current year owing to an anticipated decrease in consumption. Taking all these into consideration the Government are to be congratulated on the successful framing of the Budget.

Sanitation.—The decision of the Government to make over the whole of the Public Works cess to the District Boards has met with universal approval and the result has been highly satisfactory as it has enabled the District Boards to assist private parties in the re-excavation of several existing tanks. The villagers, hitherto partly indifferent and partly helpless owing to want of funds, are now coming forward to avail themselves of this concession and it is confidently expected that in the near future a crying necessity and a long-felt want will be met and removed by this means. The scheme which I suggested in my speech on the Budget last year will, I venture to hope, be given a trial and, if inaugurated, will, I am sure, tend to stimulate wealthier co-sharers of tanks to undertake their re-excavation. No such permanent fund as mentioned above, however, is at the disposal of the Municipalities and their demand for the same to meet the requirements of sanitation and water-supply is as urgent as it is indispensable. Schemes prepared take a long time to mature with the result that the amounts budgeted very often lapse. The provision of Rs. 60,000 for waterworks to the Chandpur Municipality will, it is hoped, be utilised and the works pushed through.

The Budget.

Babu Upendra Lal Ray.

Fisheries.—My Lord, very little is known of the progress done by the Fishery Department ; and at page 20 a sum of Rs. 2,000 has been provided for each of the following subjects, viz. :—

(1) Carp culture by the Fishery Department,

(2) Experimental culture in Sundarbans Fisheries and

It is doubtful if this is enough for the requirements and also if these amounts are included in the sum of Rs. 57,000 mentioned at page 60. In any case, more financial aid is necessary for improving and promoting the growth of fishes in this Presidency.

Education.—This very important subject has, I am glad to observe, not missed the attention of the Government, but one thing that strikes us, and is a subject of common talk, is that more money is spent for inspection than is certainly necessary. The result is curtailment of expenditure on other more important heads, as for example, provision of teaching staff, affiliation and opening up of new schools and colleges. In the Chittagong Division only two colleges exist at present and even these two have not affiliation in all the important subjects. Hopes have from time to time been held out for improvement of the status of these colleges but their fulfilment is as indefinite as before. Technical and Industrial Education deserves more attention than it appears to have received.

Courts of Law.—My Lord, the prospect of regrading and increasing the pay of the Lowest Grade of Munsifs, for which provision was made in the last budget, is still unrealised and is a case of hope deferred. The amounts sanctioned during the current year do not find their respective places in the budget under discussion and this will tend to depress the overworked members of this branch of the Judicial service who have been anxiously looking forward for realization of their cherished hopes.

General Administration.—The increase in the number of political cases has necessitated the provision of larger expenditure from year to year. I venture to make one suggestion on this subject. The several infructuous prosecutions appear to have been the outcome of perfunctory investigations and misspent energy. The appointment of an independent Legal Advisory Board to consider and advise on all such prosecutions before embarking on the same would, I am sure, reduce the number of abortive prosecutions involving colossal expenditure of public money. Experience has taught us even in the small Municipality of Chittagong that the appointment of such Advisory Boards has been a great success and the means of saving a good deal of public money and good many people from harassment.

Communications.—My Lord, my resolution at the sitting of the Council at Dacca about improvement of communication by the opening up of new lines of railway and also the development of the Port of Chittagong, which Your Excellency's Government had the goodness to adopt, appears to have been lost sight of in the framing of the Budget and in this respect also I wish to remind Your Excellency that the lapse of the provision of Rs. 75,000 for a Grab Dredger for the Port of Chittagong which has not been sanctioned has caused great disappointment in the minds of the Commissioners of that Port, who, in addition to this modest scheme, have formulated some bigger undertakings for the training and conservancy of the Karnafuli river as well as for the construction of some jetties for the coasting trade of the port. That the demands of this port should be met admits of no doubt and not only the Provincial but the Imperial Government also have realized its importance and offered assistance for the better equipment of the port. It is an accepted theory that in matters of this nature money ought to be spent liberally in the beginning before the schemes can become reproductive.

The Budget.

Maulvi Mazharul Anwar Chaudhuri.

Jails.—I venture to remind Your Excellency's Government of the desire to have separate cooking arrangements for Hindu and other convicts in all the jails of this Presidency. It is not known whether any provision has been made in the budget in this direction in view of the reply given to my question on this subject and I hope the matter will receive due consideration and effect will be given to the remodelling of the cooking sheds in the various jails on these lines where such separate arrangement does not exist.

Grand Trunk Canal.—I am glad to observe that there has been an important modification of the Grand Trunk Canal project. The original alignment of Mr. O. C. Lees received the support of all the public bodies with the exception of the Bengal Mahajan Sabha which suggested a shorter, less expensive and more convenient alignment with the outfall at Chitpur. Babu Bidhu Bhusan Chatterjee, the representative of the Sabha, in giving evidence before the Port Facilities Inquiry Committee pointed out that in the event of the suggestion of the Sabha being accepted the necessity of taking the inland canal right across the Bidyadhari river would be obviated. In my budget speech last year I pointed out the advantages of the new scheme as suggested by the Bengal Mahajan Sabha. It is gratifying to note that the Government have been pleased to modify the original scheme on the lines suggested."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MAZHARUL ANWAR CHAUDHURI said :—

"MY LORD,

I congratulate your Excellency's Government and the Imperial Government on the gratifying fact that no additional tax has been imposed, although by the end of the financial year India will have spent about seven millions sterling in meeting her share of the cost of the Indian Expeditionary Force. People everywhere expected some sort of war tax and they have been agreeably surprised to find that their rulers have managed to tide over the crisis with the ordinary means at their disposal and they are very grateful for it.

Although we know that, in the time of stress that we are passing through, strict economy has to be practised in every department, yet I cannot help complaining of the absence of one small item in the Budget under discussion which was provided in the Budget of 1914-15.

My Lord, I refer to the provision of Rs. 21,000 in last year's Budget to raise the pay of the last grade of munsifs from Rs. 200 to Rs. 250. Some years ago the pay of the last grade of Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors was raised to Rs. 250, and from that time the munsifs have been expecting, and justly expecting, that the pay of their last grade too would, in no time, be similarly increased. My Lord, the members of the Provincial Executive Service need only possess the degree of B.A. or B.Sc. and they are appointed before they attain the age of 25, and by the time they are 31 or 32 years old they generally draw at least Rs. 300 a month. But a man must, at least, be a B.L. to qualify himself for a post in the Provincial Judicial Service and must serve an apprenticeship of at least three years in the Bar; and he seldom gets an officiating appointment before he is 28, and he is rarely confirmed before he is 31. The claims of this deserving class of public servants have, for years, been urged in this Council, and by none more forcibly, eloquently and persistently than by my hon'ble friend Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, and I do not wish to take up the time of this Council by enlarging on them.

At last, your Excellency's Government came to recognise the justice of their claims, and a sum of Rs. 21,000 was provided in last year's Budget to meet this just demand.

The Budget.

Maulvi Mazharul Anwar Chaudhuri.

After this provision in the Budget they expected that the increase would take effect very soon, but months of the financial year went by without their hopes being realised, and at last in answer to a question of their steadfast champion they were coolly told to wait till the report of the Public Service Commission was received.

My Lord, hope deferred maketh the heart sick. It is not known when the Report of the Public Service Commission will be received. Even if it is received during the year, it will have to be considered by the Provincial Governments, by the Government of India and by the Secretary of State for India in Council, before its recommendations can be carried out. My Lord, all these processes will take at least half a dozen years.

Owing to the recall from leave of all officers there is a temporary block in promotion among the members of the Civil Service and the higher officers in the Police Department, and for this Government have been pleased to give them adequate compensation. Now to withhold indefinitely the small increase of pay to a very few of the members of the Provincial Judicial Service, for which provision was made in the last Budget and which they consequently expected almost every hour, seems hardly fair and just.

My Lord, the sum of Rs. 21,000 will not make a very big hole in the free balance of about 21 lakhs, which is in the hands of your Lordship's Government for new expenditure; and in spite of all that has happened, we earnestly hope and pray that the well-known sense of justice and fair play of your Lordship's Government will prevail over the desire to save a small sum; and your Lordship's Government will grant early in the course of the year the definitely-promised and long-delayed slight increase of pay to a very few of this deserving and hardworking class of public servants.

My Lord, the expenditure under the heading "Law Officers, Mufassal Establishment", is really getting beyond control and rising by leaps and bounds. In 1913-14, the expenditure under this head rose to about 2 lakhs above the sanctioned estimate of Rs. 2,78,000; last year it exceeded the budget estimate of Rs. 2,91,000 by nearly 3 lakhs; and calculating at this rate of increase we fear that in the present year the actual expenditure may exceed 6 lakhs. It is clear that this item of expenditure needs careful looking after.

My Lord, I now turn to a more pleasant duty. On behalf of the long-suffering people of about 800 villages in the districts of Hooghly and Burdwan I earnestly and sincerely thank your Excellency's Government for having adopted the scheme of Mr. Addams-Williams for mitigating the ravages of the annual Damodar floods; and for having provided a sum of Rs. 35,000 in the Budget presumably for the selection of the sites of reservoirs and for the preparation of detailed estimates, etc. Mr. Terrel, who has already been deputed to select suitable sites for reservoirs, will, I hope, be soon able to find them.

My Lord, when such eminent and experienced engineers as the late Mr. Maconchy and Messrs. Horn and Addams-Williams agree in recommending the same scheme, there cannot be the least doubt about its feasibility and effectiveness, and your Lordship's Government, by the steps they have already taken, clearly show that they are of the same view.

My Lord, I need not tell you that the people of the affected area are profoundly grateful and they firmly believe that their sufferings will soon be over. I hope that after the war, which, we all pray and believe, will end in a few months more, in the complete triumph of our Gracious Sovereign and in the utter discomfiture of Germany, your Excellency's Government will lose no time in going up to the Government of India for a suitable and adequate grant, so that the beneficent scheme may be put into execution and completed during the term of your Excellency's tenure of office and your

The Budget.

Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur.

Lordship's name may be, for ever, blessed and held in grateful remembrance by the people.

On behalf of my community, I thank your Excellency's Government for appointing a committee to consider and report on the best means of improving Muhammadan education. The appointment of this committee is only one of several ways by which your Lordship's Government have shown their solicitude for the advancement of Muhammadan education ; and my community is deeply grateful for it. The committee will, in the course of two or three months, submit their report, and we all hope and trust that their recommendations will be speedily given effect to and not pigeon-holed in the archives of the Secretariat.

My Lord, this is really a war Budget, though it does not directly provide for military or naval expenditure. The war has been the cause of diminished expenditure in many useful directions ; of many urgent reforms being held back and of many contemplated schemes being postponed. I may be permitted to mention one instance out of many of such postponement which greatly affect my community. The long-sanctioned scheme of a Muhammadan Arts college in Calcutta, which we all expected, would be taken in hand this year, has been held back.

This war, my Lord, is the greatest in history and as such it has caused an amount of human misery which no other war ever did before. But, my Lord, nothing in this world is an unmixed evil, and even this war, calamitous as it is, has its compensations. It has, during these few months, enabled the people, the Press, and the statesmen of the United Kingdom to know India more truly and correctly than years of peace and prosperity could have done. It has changed the angle of British vision towards Indian problems, and India hopes, after the war, to find her proper place in the councils of the British Empire.

It has shown to a wondering and admiring world the complete solidarity of the Empire over which the sun never sets, and proved that the ties, which bind its different parts together, are simply unbreakable.

It has also demonstrated that the resources of the Empire are vast and varied and almost limitless ; and that the bravery, endurance and heroism of its soldiers and sailors from different climes are simply wonderful and above praise ; and that all these are at the service of liberty, right, justice and humanity.

We are confident, my Lord, that the sure and inevitable result of all this will be that the British Empire will stand higher in the estimation of the world after the war than it did before ; and any future enemy will think thrice before he lifts his finger against it."

The Hon'ble RAI HARI MOHAN CHANDRA BAHADUR said :—

"MY LORD,

In the crisis we are passing through at present no better budget could have been presented to the Council, and I congratulate the Government on the same and, with Your Excellency's permission, offer a few observations.

It is very much to be regretted that we again find that the grant for works of sanitary improvements was not fully utilized. This, I believe, was owing to the District Boards and Municipalities not submitting schemes and drawing money. My Lord, I believe this state of things will continue unless and until the Sanitary Board is vested with powers to supervise effectually the workings of the District Boards and Municipalities in matters of sanitation and medical relief and to compel effectual steps to be taken to utilize the grant which Your Excellency's Government make for the purpose.

The Budget.

Babu Mahendra Nath Roy.

While on this subject I again submit that it is extremely desirable that the Sanitary Board should be further widened and strengthened by the inclusion in it of some more representative men.

And once again I request Your Excellency's Government to take into consideration the question whether the pay of the lower grade ministerial officers should not be enhanced on account of the high prices of food-grains and increased cost of living generally. The slight improvement which was effected in their salaries many years ago has been more than swallowed up by the increased and increasing cost of the necessaries of life. I submit that a small committee consisting of an official and one or two non-official members may be appointed to consider the question and advise Government in the matter."

The Hon'ble BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"YOUR EXCELLENCY,

I desire to be very brief; in fact, I had doubts whether I could usefully take up the time of this Council in offering criticisms on the Budget prepared under the special circumstances of this year. The most noticeable feature of the Budget is, of course, the economy necessitated by the stress of the great European war which is just going on. The Provincial Revenue must cover the charges, as, we are told, the Provincial balance is not available for expenditure with the net result that the bulk of the non-recurring grants on education, sanitation and other heads could not be provided. We, in this country, hardly feel, except through the 'Daily Press', that a great war is in progress which will have the effect of reorganising the whole civilised world, and which will, or is expected to, bring in order, justice and good-will, and no brute force will any longer rule the nations. So far as we are concerned up to the present moment, the sacrifices which we have been called upon to make are very, very slight indeed. Some great and important measures had been held up; and to take some concrete cases, affecting my own constituency, the people of Howrah, for instance, from which place I come, feel that their important schemes for the improvement of water-supply and sanitation have been suspended for the year because of the inability of the Government to make grants or to advance loans. The people of Howrah, I may add also, feel the loss of their popular Civil Surgeon who has been taken away to attend the sick soldiers. Experts tell us that the end of the war is in sight, and, therefore, let us hope that, when in March next we meet to consider the Budget for the next year, funds will be forthcoming which will enable the Government not only to continue the great and important works which are now being held up but also to contribute largely and substantially for the purposes of education and sanitation.

With your Excellency's permission, I shall make some brief references only to certain special points in connection with the Budget. Even a cursory study of the Budgets for the past few years will reveal the fact that very large savings are being annually made because of the non-utilisation of the Imperial grants on education and sanitation. This, I repeat, ought not to be. Works ought to be pushed on. The local authorities or the local bodies concerned ought to be roused into a state of activity, and unless that is done, it is not likely that sums devoted for such useful and important purposes as sanitation and education will be fully and properly utilised. I fully agree with my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur, in his criticism of the existing constitution of the Sanitary Board and I believe that, until the Sanitary Board is placed upon a more representative basis, it will not be in a position to push on local authorities or local bodies in regard to the measures of sanitation to the extent I desire.

The Budget.

Dr. Nilratan Sircar.

My Lord, I can give another instance. It is fresh in our recollection that the Government of India has made an allotment of 10 lakhs of rupees for hostels in connection with the Calcutta University. The information which has just reached the Vice-Chancellor tells us that the conditions upon which the grant could be utilised are rather stringent, and unless your Excellency's Educational Department and the Calcutta University co-operate without further loss of time and with all possible expedition, I am afraid, at the end of the year we shall find that the bulk of this munificent grant of 10 lakhs will remain unexpended.

The next point in regard to which I beg your Lordship's leave to offer some comment is an allotment of some 4 lakhs of rupees which I find in the Budget under the head of 'Non-recurring expenditure' on education, the details of which have not been settled yet. The Calcutta University is in sore need of about a lakh of rupees for the completion of the Science College Buildings, and I hope your Excellency's Government will consider in connection with this allotment, the details of which have not yet been settled, the supreme need for the money from the point of view of the Calcutta University. I listened with very great attention nearly a month ago to the speech, which my Hon'ble friend, the Director of Public Instruction, delivered while introducing the head 'Education', and I was left in some doubt. I do not know exactly what the 4 lakhs of rupees, the details of which are unsettled, was going to be spent for. I hope, however, my Hon'ble friend, in view of the circumstances I have placed before this Council, will consider the situation. With regard to the division which I represent, I am very glad to see that the total allotment of Rs. 1,25,000 has been made to chain the river Damodar which caused so much damage only two years ago.

I trust, lastly, my Lord, that, with regard to the allotments made to the Municipalities of Chinsurah, Uttarpara and Asansol for the improvement of water-supply during the course of the last year, there would be no difficulty in making a re-grant, if necessary, in the course of this year in order that the works might be completed. I cannot conclude without expressing my full concurrence in what my friend the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari said about the inadequate measures taken by Government for the teaching of M.A. and M.Sc. in the mufassal colleges for the management of which Government are responsible."

The Hon'ble DR. NILRATAN SIRCAR said :—

"MY LORD,

The people of Bengal and particularly the medical profession of this Province are deeply grateful to your Excellency's Government for the munificent offer of the grant to the Belgachia Hospital. We appreciate this help particularly as it has been granted at a time of great financial difficulty on account of the war.

My Lord, I do not think there was any justification for refunding the sum of Rs. 50,000 to the Indian Research Fund but it should instead have been utilized in jungle-cutting, carried out as an experimental anti-malarial measure. It would be difficult to convince the people of this Province that no suitable site or opportunity could be found in Bengal for carrying out this experimental measure. The Malaria Committee did not act wisely by accepting the opinions of their experts in preference to what might have resulted from the experiment. Having regard to the fact that the Government of India had proposed the experiment and made the pecuniary offer on the initiative of some of the highest authorities in India, the public could never be satisfied with the decision of the Committee which actually suggested the diversion of the fund to another experiment, viz., under ground drainage in certain areas—an object quite foreign to the intentions of the Board. No wonder that in these circumstances that body asked for a refund of the amount. Few ever thought that jungle-clearing would eradicate malaria altogether from any locality, but the present experiment might have demonstrated the part played by jungle as a contributory factor in the causation of malaria. It is not denied that jungle when growing near households does form suitable shelter for anopheline mosquitoes as well as conceal their breeding places. In Panama and Italy all jungle is clear within a radius of 100 yards from dwelling-houses.

The Budget.

If jungle clearing has been disapproved, drainage has fared no better. The Arool Bhil Drainage Scheme as an anti-malarial matter was rejected by the Committee: for are not their villages at a distance from the Bhil site where the spleen rate was somewhat higher than in the Bhil area itself? The common-sense man should have thought that though the drainage of the stagnant Bhil could eradicate malaria in that quarter yet one of the potent factors might have been removed by this means.

We thus find all the anti-malarial measures undertaken in 1913 amounting to the following total only :—

Thirteen Sub-Assistant Surgeons were engaged to distribute quinine amongst the people in certain districts.

Certain medical officers in charge of travelling dispensaries distributed quinine and collected vital statistics in Jalpaiguri

Besides, the anti-malarial measures recommended in 1907 were carried on properly in four towns and partially in nine towns.

This speaks for itself. Against this we have five lakhs of deaths from malaria and at least ten times as many sufferers.

The whole world outside Bengal straightforwardly adopts the following measures indicated by Ross for the prevention of malaria :—

First—Destruction of the habitat of the anophelis in the larval stage (drainage, etc.).

Second.—Destruction of all protection of adult anophelis (jungle-clearing).

Fourth.—Controlling the germs in the infected human body by quinine.

In Bengal the last one only has been adopted and that also on a small scale. As regards the other measures we are seriously advised by our experts to wait patiently in spite of an annual death-rate of five lakhs from this cause, until they find out the exact varieties of mosquitoes that carry malaria in Bengal.

But the Government of India are of a different mind. In their resolution on sanitary administration of the 23rd May 1914 the Government of India indicate that, besides encouraging the use of quinine by populations and minor anti-malarial measures, they advise that, notwithstanding the initial expense, those anti-malarial measures should be chosen which will act automatically, be independent of outside help and permanent in their effects. Presumably under this comprehensive definition the wide employment of major and minor sanitary works for the relief of surface and subsoil water is contemplated.

My Lord, I am aware that it will require a huge effort on the part of the Government as well as the people, very heavy expenditure and long time before we can achieve success. One asset we possess in the large stock of surplus anarchy of the people of Bengal and I think that by the adoption of proper means Your Excellency's Government can utilise a good portion of it for this purpose. As regards expenses, I trust your Lordship's Government will not shirk their responsibility in the matter considering that the annual loss to the country in money value (taking the annual number of deaths from malaria to be about five lakhs and the average earning capacity of an individual Rs. 200, that is one-seventy-fifth only of that of an average inhabitant of Great Britain) is about ten crores of rupees.

The Budget.

My Lord, in a province where the death-rate is nearly thirty per mille, where the death-rate from fevers is nearly twenty per mille of which presumably at least half is caused by malaria, the usefulness of the knowledge of sanitary science cannot be overestimated. But this most useful knowledge is most neglected in Bengal. Bachelors of Arts and M.A's and M.Sc's may take their University degrees without knowing a single word about sanitation. In the primary school curriculum the subject of sanitary science finds a place, but the text-books selected are generally below the mark. Sanitary science is a growing science and an author must be a thoroughly educated and up-to-date man and should possess a thorough practical knowledge of the science based upon laboratory experience before his work can be a medium of instruction for young minds. And I am afraid that the Text-books Committee, constituted as it is at present, is not competent as a composite body to judge the merits of a text-book on matters connected with such a scientific subject. It is therefore desirable that there should be a separate committee of scientific men for advising the Director of Public Instruction in the selection of text-books on sanitary subjects.

I would like to draw the attention of your Excellency to the provisional arrangements that have been made in the Medical College Hospital in the vacancies caused by the reversion to the military department of some of their Indian Medical Service officers. The duties of a surgeon who used to operate upon dozens of cases every day were for some time being done by a physiologist and only for the last few weeks by another officer in addition to his own onerous duties as the head of one of the largest medical institutions of this city. The duties again of a physician are being done by a biologist also in addition to his own duties as professor of two scientific subjects, viz., Botany and Zoology. This sort of arrangement unjustly prevents officers of the subordinate ranks, many of whom are fully qualified for the situations now vacant, from rising to the aspired position. But anyhow an Indian Medical Service man must be found to officiate for the posts no matter whether the particular may have more than enough to do in his own line. I trust that your Lordship's Government will not be afraid of creating 'inconvenient precedents' and doing justice to the very deserving surgeons and physicians of the assistant surgeon class in this respect."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"MY LORD,

The order of the Government of India to keep our expenditure within our income as estimated in the Budget is no doubt due to the continuance of the disastrous war which has overtaken the Empire. Still, we are grateful to the Government of India for having allowed us to draw upon the provincial balance to the extent of nearly 30 lakhs and for a grant of a lump sum of 10 lakhs to the Calcutta University for the construction of hostels. The opening balance of the new financial year amounts to a large sum of Rs. 281 lakhs and it appears that this is mainly due to the curtailment of expenditure during the last financial year to the extent of 83½ lakhs, the bulk of which comprises reduction of expenditure on education and sanitation. My Lord, as citizens of the great British Empire, we do not grudge the most rigid economy and curtailment of avoidable expenditure during the continuance of the great war which is taxing to the utmost the resources of the Empire. We all hope the war will soon come to an end with undying glory to our gracious Sovereign. We have not the slightest doubt that the

The Budget.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

British arms aided by the loyal and devoted services of the Indian soldiery will come out victorious in the end. The Indian sepoys are fighting hand in hand as comrades in arms with their English brethren and the glory and success of the British arms is not only a matter of pride to our English fellow-subjects but to the teeming millions of His Majesty's Indian subjects. We have no doubt that after the termination of war the beneficent work of Indian progress and reform will be carried on with greater vigour and energy and greater sympathy with the wants, wishes and aspirations of His Majesty's subjects in this vast Indian Empire whose destinies have been committed by an all-wise Providence to the great British nation.

My Lord, the annual financial statement would be more clear and much more easily understandable if the departmental budgets were appended to it. The Government have granted the privilege to the non-official members of the reformed Council to examine, criticise and suggest amendments in the Budget with a view to meet the popular wishes as far as practicable and that generous intention can be best fulfilled by giving them proper facilities to examine the departmental Budget from which the abstract financial statement is made. This will enable the Hon'ble Members to understand the figures more fully and will enable them to render real and more useful help to Government. May I hope that this suggestion will be taken into the favourable consideration of your Excellency's Government? Another suggestion which I made last year I venture to repeat for your Excellency's consideration. The Finance Committee which is appointed late in the year and meets once or twice towards the end of the year practically does the formal business of approving the distribution of the unallotted amount. A more active participation of the non-official members can be secured if the Finance Committee is re-elected at the beginning of the year and is made a Standing Committee. All the projects intended to be included in the ensuing year might be laid before the Committee for consideration and the non-official members may be given the liberty of bringing any proposal for increase or decrease of any grant or inclusion or exclusion of any new item before the Committee. The interchange of views between the official and the non-official members in the Committee and the threshing out of the facts and figures in the Committee cannot but have a most beneficial effect. In such a Standing Committee much useful and solid work would be done and the non-official members would be stimulated by a sense of real mutual co-operation between the official and the non-official members in the framing of the Budget.

My Lord, a presidency or house allowance is not granted to the members of the Provincial Civil Service posted in Calcutta, whereas the same is granted to the members of the Indian Civil Service and to other officers in the postal and financial departments. To take a concrete example, there are at present four permanent stipendiary Presidency Magistrates and one temporary Magistrate, all of whom have to do the same kind of work, keep up the same dignity and prestige. But, unfortunately, whereas the pay of the Chief Presidency Magistrate (who is a barrister-at-law) ranges between Rs. 1,500 to Rs. 2,000 a month and the pay of the Second Magistrate, who is also a barrister-at-law, is Rs. 1,250 a month, the Third and the Fourth Presidency Magistrates, who have been selected for meritorious work from the ranks of experienced members of the Executive branch of the Provincial Civil Service, get only Rs. 750 and Rs. 650 a month, respectively. The pay is quite disproportionate and will compare unfavourably with those of the sister service, viz., the Judges of the Calcutta Small Cause Court, where the lowest pay of the Fifth Judge, even when he is a member of the Judicial Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, is Rs. 1,000 a month. To add to the inequalities, the Chief Presidency Magistrate and the Second Presidency Magistrate have been admitted to the scheme of the Presidency House Allowance, but the other stipendiary Magistrates, though their work is equally arduous and onerous, and though they have to maintain the same prestige and position as their brother Magistrates the Chief and the Second Presidency Magistrates, have not been admitted to the scheme of the Presidency House Allowance, simply because they are members of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service. It may not be out of place to point out that the Under-Secretary, Revenue Department, though the present incumbent is a member of the Executive Branch of the Provincial Civil Service, gets and rightly gets Presidency house allowance as also the Collector of Calcutta and the Registrar, Co-operative Credit Societies, though both the posts are held by members of the same service to which the Presidency Magistrate referred to belongs. The enrolled officers in the Financial Department and recently some officers in the Post and Telegraph Department have all been admitted to the House Allowance scheme. The cost of living, including house-rent, has gone up by leaps and bounds in Calcutta and the officers posted in the Presidency Town find it very difficult to make both ends meet, with a due regard to their position and dignity. In the circumstances, I would respectfully request Your Excellency's Government to take the case of these hard-worked officers and redress their just grievances by bettering their emoluments and admitting them to the Presidency House Allowance scheme.

The Budget.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

My Lord, an additional grant for the Presidency Magistrates' Courts owing to the division of the Courts and their location in three places has been made at a time when strict economy is being effected in all directions. I do not demur to the small additional sum, but I feel bound to submit to Your Excellency that the partition of the Courts has not produced any public advantage. Already the recurring cost of establishment has been considerably increased, besides a large sum has been spent in non-recurring capital expenditure in making additions to and alterations in the three new Court buildings at Bankshall Street, Kyd Street and Jorabagan. Although the Government have incurred additional expenditure the partition has not in any way increased the efficiency of the Courts. There is rush of work in one Court, while in another the work is not sufficient to occupy a Magistrate fully. The public have been put to immense trouble and inconvenience. The best legal help has been rendered costlier in criminal cases. The lawyers who have established their reputation have stuck to the Central Court and they now charge increased fees for their services in the two other Courts. The travelling expenses of the parties have more or less increased, the Courts being situated at inconvenient centres. Again, under the present arrangement, all S. P. C. A. cases relating to cruelties to animals, all traffic and Port Police cases, all motor-car cases, occurring in any part of the town, are now tried at the Kyd Street Court. An unfortunate carter may be arrested either by a S. P. C. A. Agent at Shambazar, or by a Traffic Police Constable at Bagh Bazar, but he would be hauled up all the way to Kyd Street, to be fined possibly a rupee or two, although he would have to pass over the jurisdictions of two other Courts at Jorabagan and Bankshall Street. A person living in Sitaram Ghose's Street near Harrison Road has to go to Kyd Street to institute a criminal case, although the Bankshall Street Court is very much nearer to him. What is the good of having a partition of the Courts, when cases arising within the jurisdiction of one Court are tried in another and parties in order to seek a redress of their grievances are compelled to go to a distant Court? It may give some work to a highly-paid Magistrate, who would otherwise remain idle, but it means harassment, worry and inconvenience to the public.

The partition has neither led to more efficient despatch of business, nor has it relieved the Registrar of his judicial duties so as to enable him to attend to his ministerial work properly, nor has it given a substantial measure of relief to the Chief Presidency Magistrate.

The Budget.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

As economy and efficiency are the watchwords of Your Excellency's Government, I would respectfully suggest that all the Police Courts might be more conveniently located in one big building. Then, if the work is more evenly distributed and the ungrudging services of the Honorary Presidency Magistrates are judiciously and properly utilised, the Government might eventually be able to dispense with the temporary Magistrate, not to speak of economy in the recurring cost of establishment. If this suggestion be accepted, the Government would not have to deal out these doles to the Police Courts, which would otherwise become a regular feature of the Budget for some time yet to come.

My Lord, a sum of Rs. 50,000 is set apart for gratuitous relief.

My Lord, last year a provision was made for raising the pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs. This year the sum has disappeared. An expectation was raised that it was about to be fulfilled and like a vision it has passed away. The Munsifs are a hard-worked body of public servants recruited from the best intellectual section of our community. The lowest grade Deputy Magistrate gets Rs. 250 but the Munsif gets Rs. 200 only. The Munsif's work is not less onerous and if I may say so is more onerous and burdensome than that of the Deputy Magistrate and yet he gets Rs. 200, a very miserable pittance for an educated man in these hard days. A feeling of despondency gives rise to discontent and I devoutly hope that the scale of pay would be revised.

My Lord, I am not able to know what provisions have been made for repairing the Grand Trunk Road. I once brought to the notice of Government the disgraceful condition of the road, over a portion of the road the Howrah-Amta line runs and the narrow portion that is left is simply impassable during the rains The road requires thorough repairs and in parts reconstruction. It is not to the credit of the Public Works Department that it should be so long left in this condition.

My Lord, the appointment of Mr. Swan raised high hopes in our minds that the Government would avail themselves of the present situation to take some practical steps for the encouragement of swadeshi industries. As yet we find no tangible result. The Government the other day accepted the resolution of the Hon'ble Raja of Kakina to develop small industries by all practical means. I am sure it is a sincere intention of Government to foster our industries. The wisdom of the policy of State aid to industries is recognised by the Imperial Government and many Provincial Governments have already moved in the matter. We are anxious that our Government should move in this direction. I do not mean that the Government as custodian of the public purse should spend money on speculative enterprise. Between embarking on wild speculation and the policy of laissez-faire there is a via media and I implore the Government to consider whether they should not follow some such path. There are some industries in Bengal which are in a pretty well developed condition. The companies are unable to develop them or extend their business to new lines owing to lack of capital and Government patronage. I mention amongst them the Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works and the Calcutta Pottery Works. These companies are not new ventures. They have demonstrated their capacities for successful and profitable management. I can also mention the comb industries of Jessore and the pencil and match factories in Calcutta. I understand the match factory in Taligunj suffers for want of match wood. I learn with pleasure that the Government has already signified its desire to help this concern by supply of wood. The Government may give sufficient impetus to the growth of new industries. It is a well-known fact that Bengal from time immemorial has been the home of manufactured sugar. The sugar industries of Jessore are a well-known fact, but in what a miserable plight are they now ! Apart from date-sugar, the output of cane-sugar has also considerably fallen of. The indigenous sugar refineries, as was forcibly pointed out by the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray in the Imperial Council, are well-nigh extinct. The competition of Java, Mauritius and Austria-Hungary have proved too much for them. The Government can do a great deal. They can assist in the improvement of gur. It is well known that the crushing of cane is very imperfect in our country not more than 50 per cent. of sugar is extracted. Improved cane-mills for crushing may be popularised amongst cultivators and tuccavi grants made for this purpose. Experiments are being made in Madras, Bombay and the United Provinces. In the latter province I understand that financial aid to the extent of 7 lakhs has been given to two large sugar factories. We are aware of one such factory in Bengal which stands in need of such aid. There may be some factories in Bengal which may require such aid and the Government may, after due inquiry, well follow the example of the Government of the United Provinces. Next to sugar comes the industry of leather-making. Bengal is a great exporting centre of raw skins and hides, but there are few leather industries in our province and those that exist are not in a flourishing condition. I am glad to say that an Hon'ble Member of this Council is the proprietor of one and he has invested much capital in it. I am sure he can say as to how the Government can help the industry. Madras long ago showed the way of having a Government Leather Factory. Thanks to the exertion of Mr. Chatterton, this State-controlled industry has, I understand, paved the way for the growth of many private enterprises of its kind. May our Government begin some work in this line. The Government may demonstrate to the people the various cottage industries which may profitably be undertaken. The District Administration Committee has dwelt at length on the economic distress of the people, specially of the bhadralok classes. It is time that some practical steps were taken. The economic distress of the people is the root cause of the detestable crimes which have distressed the community so much. The Government may very well consider the question of appointment of a director of industries with an advisory board of experts to consider and devise the best means of promoting local industries and this is the most opportune time. I regret no allotment of money has been made in this year's Budget for the promotion of local industries.

The Budget.

Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR said :—

"MY LORD,

It is with great pleasure that I congratulate the member in charge for providing us with a satisfactory budget in this time of stress and trouble caused by the war now raging in Europe and which has not permitted the usual normal allotments to be made under the different heads of expenditure. It is no doubt rather disappointing to us to find many desirable and pressing schemes of reform put off on account of the extraordinary financial situation, but we must be thankful for whatever we have been able to get in the shape of modest doles which, let us hope, will keep us going till better times come, as come they must to-day or to-morrow.

EDUCATION.

I am sure our sincerest thanks are also due to our Hon'ble friend Mr. Hornell for the best consideration he has given on the adjustments of the budget heads with the very limited resources at his disposal.

Madrassah Reforms.—I shall be failing in my duty if I do not at the very outset express my high appreciation of the motive which prompted Your Excellency's Government to give effect to the long-wished-for scheme of Madrassah Reforms at a time when the purse of Government has been stretched to its utmost. It will open a new era to the Muhammadans who have for many years past lagged behind in the race of life. And the carrying out of this much-needed reform will fittingly lead up to the Faculty of Islamic Studies to be established in connection with the Dacca University.

The Budget.

Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri.

Mohsin Grant.—My best thanks are also due to Your Excellency's Government for the increased provision of stipends and part payment of fees of Muhammadan students out of the Mohsin grant set free by the provincialisation of the Chittagong, Dacca, Hooghly and Rajshahi Madrassahs. By this act of benevolence Your Excellency will ever be remembered with feelings of pride and gratitude.

Dacca University.—Another important proposal which has been hanging fire for some time and with which is bound up the educational interests of a large section of the people of this Presidency, is about to emerge from the domain of the problematic and become an accomplished fact. For I take it, my Lord, that an allotment for the Dacca University even in this year of financial embarrassment, is a sure indication that Government are fully alive to the importance of the scheme. And let us hope that sanction will be obtained for the detailed scheme without any further loss of time, and the work of building up the first residential University of India expedited.

Hostel accommodation for Moslem students.—Talking of the residential University brings me on to a subject on which my community feels very strongly —I mean the want of adequate hostel accommodation for the Moslem students of Calcutta. And in this matter our grateful thanks are due to Your Lordship's Government for the liberal grant for an extension of the Baker Hostel. I desire at the same time to make it clear that any extension of the Baker Hostel, whatever its usefulness might be in connection with the proposed Moslem College and other Arts Colleges, will not certainly dispense with the necessity of founding another suitable hostel in the vicinity of College Square to accommodate the Science and Law students of the Presidency College and of the University.

It is truly conceived that for the training of the intellect and for the moulding of character the students should be brought together outside school hours under conditions of greater individual freedom. The effect of corporate life on character is great. It promotes intellectual discipline, mutual sympathies and universality of true knowledge—an object which can be attained only through the personal and active co-operation of teachers and students. The conditions under which a considerable proportion of our Calcutta students live are unfavourable to the growth of that esprit de corps which alone enlarges the mind, broadens sympathies and fits students for public duties.

It is, however, a matter for great regret that the two premier colleges in Calcutta, viz., the Presidency and the Law Colleges are yet without any hostels for Muhammadans. The benefits of residential colleges are immense and should not be denied to a section of the community whose interests are bound up with the material progress of the country they live in. The Muhammadans have reasons to feel that in the matter of higher education they have not received their due share of attention from the University which guides the destinies of our schools and colleges.

As instances of the apathy of the University authorities towards the interests of the Muhammadans, I may here point out that although the University received a grant of 3 lakhs of rupees from the Government to erect a college hostel, no provision was made for accommodating Muhammadans therein. Certainly, Government did not specify that the sum was to be spent for any particular community. I shall also take the liberty of giving another instance. The Government grant a sum of about ten thousand rupees and sometimes even more on an average, which is further supplemented by

The Budget.

Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri.

University grants for the Calcutta messes. Till 1913 only one Muhammadan mess appears to have received Rs. 20 per mensem and one other perhaps a similar sum. The consequence has been that Muhammadan students are obliged to find quarters in unhealthy centres away from all that contributes to healthy living.

We certainly owe an immense debt of gratitude to the Government of India for the very liberal subvention of 10 lakhs to the Calcutta University for provision of hostels for students in Calcutta. But our gratitude would have been still greater if a substantial portion of this had been earmarked for hostels for Muhammadan students of the University. Knowing, as I do, of the anxious solicitude of the Government of India for all that makes for the educational advancement of all classes alike, I appeal, on behalf of my brethren, to Your Excellency in the hope that a suitable portion of the Government of India's subvention will be earmarked for hostels for Muhammadan students in College Square.

Moslem Institute.—While the University Institute comes in for an allotment, it is a matter for regret that no provision has been made for the Moslem Institute, the needs of which have already been pressed upon Government.

Hastings House School.—I hope Your Excellency will pardon me when I raise my voice against a scheme for the foundation of a special school for the children of men in affluent circumstances, I mean the Hastings House School, as I understand from the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell when explaining the Education Budget. The inception of the idea comes as a surprise to me. I am afraid that the public was not consulted in the matter by Government in the same manner as in connection with a very similar scheme proposed by the Dacca University Committee. In opposing the scheme, I do not oppose the principle of starting a model school on the lines of public schools in England, and I would have had nothing to say against the Hastings House School if it were entirely endowed by the well-to-do classes I would surely advocate the necessity of a model institution staffed, equipped and furnished after the fashion of a best English school, provided it be thrown open to those who might choose to receive the best education and bear its expenses and be maintained by them exclusively. Such an institution will do a world of good to the ordinary schools in general who will endeavour to emulate the high standard of efficiency maintained by it in respect of education, discipline, management and organisation. My Lord, I think it is only meet and proper that public revenues coming as they do from the coffers of the rich and poor alike should be utilised in the best interests of the people. And to my mind there can be no justification proposing to spend a large sum from general revenue for the sake of a favoured few who should be able to provide for the education of their children without any financial aid from Government. I beg to remind Your Excellency that all the arguments which were made use of against the proposed college for the well-to-do classes, which has since been knocked on the head, can be applied with greater force against the present proposal, for under the Dacca scheme the institution was not meant to be a burden on public revenues.

POLICE.

The Police Department has our sympathy in the very responsible and arduous task before them especially at this juncture. That some heinous crimes which are on the increase go undetected is a matter of great concern to all of us and may indicate the inefficiency of the police, and I am sure that in the best interests of Government and the country, we shall be glad to see the police staff so strengthened numerically as well as in point of efficiency as to be able to cope with the evils now existing and which threaten the homes and hearths of the people.

MEDICAL.

Malaria.—The Malaria question seems to loom large just now. From a perusal of the latest report on the sanitation of Bengal, I notice with grave concern the increase in the death-rate as compared with the other major provinces while there is a marked decrease in the birth-rate, 72 per cent. of the general death-rate is put down to fevers which we may take it is mainly malaria. It is therefore to be regretted that the grants for works of sanitary improvements have not been fully utilised and that the sum of Rs. 50,000 has been returned to the Indian Research Institute as the sum could not be utilised in the manner suggested by that body.

Water-supply.—In this connection I note with regret that neither under Medical nor Civil Works do I find any allotment for water-supply. The want of pure drinking water is greatly felt in the mufassal stations, and it is an urgent necessity the importance of which cannot be overrated. In this matter I may add that the District Boards labour under a great disadvantage. For although there are ample funds in the hands of the District Boards, thanks to the release of the Public Works Cess, according to existing rules for the supply of pure drinking water the local people have to contribute one-third of the cost, and this hard condition does not make it possible for District Boards to undertake the work in very many instances. I beg to point out that this rule prejudicially affects those localities where the poverty of the people does not allow the contribution of the requisite one-third to be made. Thus in practice only those who are comparatively well-off and not those who are really in need can, under these conditions, derive the benefit of District Board grants for drinking water.

Having regard to these circumstances, I think it is proper that a fair proportion of the Public Works Cess should be specially set apart for the supply of pure drinking water in the mufassal, and the stringency of the present rule should be relaxed in favour of poorer localities.

EXCISE.

I notice that there is a slight increase in revenue under excise, though there is a fall under other heads notably under Stamps, and this steady increase year by year demands our serious consideration. I would take this opportunity of urging Government to extend the system of local advisory committees in Bengal with increased power over the issue of licenses. In the matter of counter-attractions to intemperance, it would be interesting to know what Government intend doing In this connection, I may observe that I am not aware of any local temperance organisations engaged in useful work having local habitations for public meetings or reading-rooms stocked with temperance and purity literature. I might also here suggest that the question of the introduction of temperance teaching in schools be reconsidered and more lessons on the subject introduced and facilities given to colleges and schools to have temperance and purity lectures and Bands-of-Hope instituted by means of which useful work may be done systematically among the youth of the country.

The time-limit does not permit me to say all that I wish to say, and in concluding I cannot but repeat my thanks, and the thanks of those whom I represent, to Your Excellency's Government for tackling the present situation in a truly statesmanlike way. We are passing through a period of extraordinary stress. And I am proud to point out that my community has been preserving a perfect equanimity in the midst of rather trying circumstances. Before resuming my seat I can assure Your Excellency, if any assurance is necessary, that the Moslem community is loyal to the core to-day quite as much as it was before the European war broke out."

The Budget.

Raja Dinendra Narayan Ray.

The Hon'ble RAJA DINENDRA NARAYAN RAY said :—

"MY LORD,

It is with very great pleasure that I congratulate the Government on the successful results in the Budget which provides for no new taxation in spite of the critical financial situation caused by the outbreak of the European war.

2. We have to offer our grateful thanks to the Government of India for permitting us to draw on our accumulated balance to the extent of nearly thirty lakhs for expenditure during the ensuing year. But for this liberal treatment, which is highly appreciated in the present critical financial situation, our necessary expenditure would have had to be curtailed considerably.

3. On the whole the Budget under all the heads has been so carefully prepared and so lucidly explained that not much remains to be said by way of suggestion.

4. There is, however, one point in regard to the provisions under Education and Medical on which I desire to make some remarks. The actuals for 1912-13 and 1913-14 and the revised estimates for the current year under the heads compare as follows with the Budget grant for the years.

		1912-13.	1913-14.
		Rs.	Rs.
22. Education ...	Budget ...	78,45,000	1,34,88,000
	Actual ...	73,77,000	81,12,000
		Rs.
	Budget ...	1,45,43,000
	Revised ...	83,73,000
		Rs	Rs.
24. Medical ...	Budget ...	36,95,000	41,01,000
	Actual ...	26,42,000	28,50,000
		Rs.
	Budget ...	47,81,000
	Revised ...	30,23,000

These figures indicate that although provision under these heads is very generously made in the Budget the actual expenditure falls far short of the estimate. This is apparently due to the fact that it takes a good long time to mature a new programme in the direction of reforms. I fully realise that it is not in any way desirable to rush through any scheme simply with the object of spending the money provided for in the Budget. It however occurs to me at the same time that this inevitable delay is due partly to the present arrangement of incurring the major portion of the expenditure through the agency of Government. I find from the actuals under head 22—Education that nearly $\frac{1}{4}$th of the total expenditure is given as grants for expenditure by local bodies leaving $\frac{3}{4}$ths to be spent by Government themselves. This ratio, I submit, may be increased considerably by giving to the local bodies a larger share in the expenditure. Municipalities and District Boards may easily be asked to open new colleges and schools or improve the status of existing ones at the cost and under the direction of Government. This is, I submit, more desirable than showing a large unspent balance under head 'Education' from year to year. It may also remove the congestion in the existing colleges in calcutta of which we hear so much now and again. There is only one Medical College in Calcutta and every one knows that a large number of boys are refused admission into the college every year simply for want of accommodation. I am not aware whether there can be any serious objection in having two instead of one Government Medical College, or subsidizing well-managed private medical schools so that their status may be raised I have the honour of being a governor of the Mayo Hospital which renders, I believe, valuable medical aid to a very large number of residents of the northern part of the town and it is, I know, badly in want of additional funds though its resources are administered very carefully and economically under the wise management of Colonel Maynard, the Superintendent of the Institution.

The Budget.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

5. I may be permitted to add that the unspent portion of the Budget provision under the heads 'Medical' and 'Sanitation' may also very usefully be applied to sanitary reforms through Municipalities and District Boards which for want of funds are quite helpless in combating with the ever existing havoc played by diseases like malaria, small-pox and cholera throughout the length and breadth of the Presidency.

6. There is no more crying want in the province than the provision of pure drinking water in the mufassal. All the learned researches about malaria will be of no avail if the people have not got pure water to drink. We can do without a grant to the Calcutta Improvement Trust or additional expenditure on Education, Police, Public Works and Medical relief, but we cannot do without pure drinking water. I am inclined to think that every pice unspent under any head may be devoted to the provision of pure drinking water for the mufassal. It is a subject the importance of which no one in this Presidency, whether in or outside the Council, will deny, and I do not find adequate words to impress upon our sympathetic Government this prime necessity of the Presidency, a necessity beside which all others pale into insignificance.

7. I have now only to express a hope that the Government will in future be pleased to direct their attention to the crying want referred to above instead of keeping a large budget provision unspent under the Heads of 'Education' and 'Medical.'

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"MY LORD,

It is a matter of congratulation that in this year of stress and strain, your Lordship's government have been able to present, if not quite a prosperous, at least a fairly presentable budget. But, my Lord, in prosperous years when there was, if not superfluity, at least fairly large sums at the disposal of your Lordship's Government due to large allotments made by the Government of India, your Lordship's Government did not utilise the money and we find the Hon'ble the Director of Public Instruction complaining this year that the amount available falls far short of requirements.

In placing the financial statement in the Imperial Council on the 1st March last Sir William Meyer while dealing with provincial expenditure said : 'The aggregate provincial expenditure was taken in the budget at 34 millions sterling. It is now estimated at 1½ million sterling less, viz., about 32½ millions. The principle reductions occur under education, medical and civil works, and are due to the Local Governments not having spent in full the grants at their disposal for the development of education and sanitation and for other purposes. As I suggested in paragraph 28 of my speech last year, I was a little sceptical then as to their ability to spend all that they hoped ; and it may be that some lapse would have occurred in any case'. My Lord, if the Finance Member of the Government of India was sceptical about the inability of the Provincial Governments to spend the Imperial grant whether recurring or non-recurring there were men among the non-official community, whether in this Council or outside, who also thought that the money thus granted would not be spent. From the financial statement which has been placed in our hands it appears that there was a total decrease in the revised estimate on the expenditure side for the year 1914-15 of Rs. 99,75,000 and of this amount no less than Rs. 61,70,000 are due to savings in the Imperial grants for both recurring and non-recurring expenditure on education. I think, my Lord, it was the intention of the Imperial Government that the money which is set apart for a particular purpose should be spent; at least there ought to be some attempt on the part of Government to spend it. We do not know what steps have been taken by Government to spend the money and we have not been able so far to see any indication in that direction. We are not in the secrets of Government, but we have every reason to believe that if Government had the will it would have spent, if not the entire, at least a good portion of the money allotted. Complaints are generally made that improvements cannot generally be made on account of lack of funds. But seldom do we find that ways and means cannot be found to spend money in a profitable way when we have got it.

The Budget.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

The secondary education of this country is almost entirely in the hands of its people, the expenses being almost entirely borne by them. Though, according to the Government rules, Government contribution is not to be more than one-half of the income guaranteed from private sources, the actual contribution has only been about 14 per cent., or a little less than one-seventh. It is with very great difficulty that the school authorities can make both ends meet. The Indian Universities Act of 1904 and the regulations framed thereunder have imposed additional obligations on the authorities of secondary schools which require additional expenditure. It was expected that Government would come forward to help the schools with monetary grants to tide over their difficulties, but very little has been done in this direction. For the last three or four years there have been no doubt large grants by the Imperial Government to this Government for expenditure on education. But these grants have not been distributed to the institutions they were intended to benefit. My Lord, we hear of complaints about the management of secondary schools. But we should like to know what steps have been taken by Government to improve the financial condition of these schools so that they may have funds enough at their disposal to employ good teachers that the boys may live in healthy surroundings. If Government had been in actual need of funds, that would have been quite different. But when Government have got the money and money for the purpose of spending on education, one really cannot understand why the schools should starve.

I have been informed that a large number of schools cannot comply with the University Regulations and have been threatened or may be threatened ere long with disaffiliation. But compliance with University Regulations means additional expenditure—additional money. Government have not so far contributed their fair share to the secondary education of this province. The people have got a legitimate grievance on this head which needs redress.

The policy of Government with regard to primary education has, I venture to submit, not been altogether satisfactory. The policy pursued by Government with regard to the allotment of grants from Provincial revenues and local funds with regard to primary education has tended towards taking away the grants from private schools and concentrating the same on the development of board primary schools so that during 1913-14, 626 primary schools were abolished with a diminution in the school-going boys of more than 17,000. If, with the large sums allotted for education by the Government of India, Your Lordship's Government are unable to improve or even to keep alive the existing primary schools, the prospect of the progress of education in this country does not appear to be very bright.

While on the subject of education I should like to suggest for the consideration of your Lordship's Government the desirability of establishing elementary schools for girls throughout the Presidency. If primary education for boys is necessary, that for girls is equally so. Time has come when a beginning ought to be made in this direction. It is time that Government should unloose their purse-strings for fostering primary, secondary and female education of the Presidency. Government may have at heart the desire to improve the education of the province, but people are anxious to see more practical demonstration of the same.

PROVINCIAL JUDICIAL SERVICE.

In answer to a question at the meeting of this Council on the 19th January last as to whether the abolition of the existing last grade of Munsifs in Bengal would take effect from the commencement of the current financial year, as provided in the current year's budget, if not, from what date would the abolition take effect, and what the reasons for delay were, the reply was given that it was not possible to state from what date the abolition of the last grade of Munsifs in Bengal would take effect. We were further told 'Government regret that they are not prepared to make recommendations at the present time for the immediate increase of expenditure which the proposal would involve and are awaiting the report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services before taking further action in the matter.' I need hardly say that the answer is very disappointing. It was expected that the last grade of Munsifs drawing at present a pay of Rs. 200 would get the pay of Rs. 250 from the beginning of the last financial year, i.e., 1914-15. In fact, provision of Rs. 21,000 was made in the budget of 1914-15 for giving effect to the present proposal, but we are now told that the last grade of Munsifs must await the report of the Royal Commission for the increase in their pay. It is unfortunate that when these hard-working officers were on the tip-toe of expectation of getting an addition to their pay, they have suddenly been told that they would have to wait for an indefinite period. The Courts of Sub-Judges and Munsifs are one of the principal sources of income to Government. Government would not have to bring money from other heads of revenue to pay them this additional amount. Since the constitution of this Royal Commission, the members of the Indian Civil Service have had their salaries increased twice, no doubt not twice in this Presidency. They were never told to await the report of the Royal Commission. When about two years ago Government found that there was block in the promotion of the members of the Indian Civil Service in the Punjab and the Central Provinces and I think in the United Provinces as well, an increase in their pay or a separate allowance was given to them. When again after the outbreak of the great European war, the members of the Indian Civil Service who were on leave had to return to India, additional allowance was given not only to those who had been deprived of acting or deputation allowance but to all members of the service. They had not to await the Report of the Royal Commission. Nobody objects to the granting of these additional allowances to the members of the Indian Civil Service for it is necessary that the hard-working and devoted servants of Government upon whose shoulders fall the task of administering the empire should remain content if you want to get full share of work from them. But if the members of the Indian Civil Service deserve well of the Government, the members of the Provincial Judicial Service equally deserve encouragement at the hands of Government. They are really an ill-paid lot of gentlemen who do hard work without complaining and in places where proper accommodation being wanting they have to live in huts. But whether they live in huts or in brick-built houses, their administration of civil justice yields a large revenue to Government. It is necessary that every wheel in the machine should be properly greased if you want the machine to work properly. It is only fair that Government should treat all their servants in the same way, that no branch of the service should be discontented. In the Provincial Executive Service the minimum pay has been raised to Rs. 250. It is rather anomalous that the pay of the last grade of Munsifs should still be Rs. 200.

The Budget.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

My Lord, the amount which will be required to raise the initial pay of Munsifs to Rs. 250 a month is not very large. It is only Rs. 21,000. I need hardly say that if Government have the will, they will find out the ways and means to give effect to this proposal.

MALARIA.

My Lord, malaria is decimating the country. From the answers given to my questions on the 2nd March, it appears that in the district of Nadia alone nearly 12,000 people died in the month of November last and nearly the same number in the month of December. If proper enquiry is made it will be found that a large number of these deaths is due to malaria.

That quinine is the best remedy for the cure of malaria is admitted on all hands. It is, however, said by those who are in a position to speak with authority on the subject that at least 80 grains of quinine should be administered to a patient suffering from malarious fever to check the disease effectively. But dispensaries and hospitals in the mufassal can ill afford to pay for and adminster quinine according to this rule. They are financially not so solvent as to distribute such large quantities of quinine as is considered to be sufficient to kill the malaria germ in the system and prevent the relapse of the fever. We are grateful to your Lordship's Government for the steps which have been taken to improve the sanitary condition of this Province. Large contributions have been made by Government for the supply of pure drinking water in mufassal towns. But steps should be taken to give greater medical relief to the poor. Certain quantities of quinine have no doubt been supplied free of cost to the mission dispensaries at Ranaghat, Ratanpur and Meherpur. Your Lordship's Government stated the other day in reply to my questions about the insanitary condition and heavy mortality of the Nadia district that District Boards and Municipalities had been requested to arrange for the administration of adequate doses of quinine to all persons treated for the disease at charitable dispensaries. We have also been informed that in exceptional cases grants had been given from Provincial Revenues to such municipalities as were really unable to bear the extra charge incurred on this account. The rich and the poor alike have been suffering from the effects of malaria,—its ravages have been far and wide. I respectfully submit for the consideration of your Lordship's Government that if there be a substantial contribution from Government for the free and larger distribution of quinine, if as a beginning at least 250 dispensaries be supplied with sufficient quantity of quinine, thousands of poor people will be saved from the jaws of death. Magistrates and Civil Surgeons in charge of malarious districts might very well be entrusted with the disbursement of the amount under this head. It is time that the Public Works cess which has been set free should be properly spent in sanitary improvement of districts and be not amalgamated with the income from other sources of District Boards.

JUNGLE-CUTTING

We find from the Financial Statement that your Lordship's Government have returned to the Government of India the sum of Rs. 50,000 which they had paid for jungle-cutting. The first thought that struck us on reading about this refund was that there was no more any jungle in the

The Budget.

Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff.

Province, otherwise why should your Lordship's Government take this unusual step of refunding this amount? The second thought was that Government of India must have made a mistake in connecting malaria with jungles in this Province. We have, however, not been informed as to what led to the refund of this money."

The Hon'ble MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF said :—

"MY LORD,

I shall with your Excellency's permission make a few observations on some outstanding questions of the day.

Naturally, the subject of education claims an important place in our attention. As belonging to the commercial Muhammadan community, my views and those of the Government, as embodied in the expenditure side of the Budget, do not coincide. There is much to recommend in the old saying 'Learning for learning's sake': it represents the high-water mark of scholastic altruism; but men can't grow and races cannot live on mere learning. My Lord, I am not concerned with politics in education, and I venture to urge that in order to free our schools from the suspicion or the taint of political bias, the best way to approach the question of education is as one of education and not of politics. And if we approach the question as I submit it should be approached, what have we done to equip the people for the struggle for existence, what have we done to bring hope into the homes of the thousands of our poorer middle classes, for whom the uncertainties of to-morrow are even more fearful than the sufferings of to-day? We talk glibly of agriculture and of return to the land; but apart from the difficulty of finding suitable lands, could the middle classes here or anywhere else in the world compete with the manual labour of actual cultivators, with their special inheritance of centuries of work in the fields, or would they be able to compete with artisans where families, men, women and children are engaged in their handiwork? My Lord, Germany was an agricultural nation until recently and so was Japan. We must study the methods which these countries have pursued to introduce and develop the spirit of industrialism in their peoples and adapt them to Indian conditions and, in invoking light, we must go to other prophets than those bred on the soil of India. What we want is not more directors and inspectors for the supervision or suppression of existing institutions, but schools which will teach our boys industries suited to India and how to develop them, not as if we had the wealth and organisation of the West, but according to our humble resources and materials. We want our boys to be earners of bread and not to be mere on-lookers on stores which they may not touch. Apart from politics, just as you cannot stop a starving man from breaking into a provision shop, religion or law notwithstanding, you cannot stop mental ferment when there is something radically wrong in a system which only teaches our young men to read and write and nothing more. I see no indication in our Budget of any real move in this direction. A committee of experts composed partly of those who have the knowledge as to how these problems have been solved outside India would be of great value to the people. Whatever may be the character of the controversy over the question of Secondary Education, there is no question about Primary Education and the disappearance of nearly 500 primary schools and 30,000 pupils is a matter for serious consideration; especially, as it is in these schools that the number of Muhammadan boys has any real relation to the numerical position which they hold in the general population. Various causes have been assigned for this decrease in primary schools, none of which is satisfactory. I believe it is the insistence on a more expensive type of primary schools that has led to this result. We must bear in mind that these schools are meant essentially for the very poor, and if we cannot find means to support these schools, can we not afford to avoid improving them out of existence?

The Budget.

Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff.

From Education to Jail is not a violent transition, if all that the Administrative Committee has reported is accepted. I understand that, at present, juvenile offenders are taken to the new juvenile ward direct from Alipore and Sealdah. I hope this arrangement may be extended to Calcutta. It is a matter of sincere gratification that juvenile offenders are taught useful handiwork in the juvenile jail at Alipore; but there is no provision under which the careers of these offenders subsequent to their release are watched or guided. Once in jail, it is difficult to find agreeable employment outside it, and this question of providing work for released convicts, who are trained inside the jail is one which demands serious attention. In my mills I have had from time to time taken about 500 boys from the Alipore Reformatory School; but my expectations were not realized. These boys left the mills as soon as their term expired; and though I built separate special quarters for them to make them as comfortable as possible they never put in appearance again.

I would call special attention to the high death-rates in some of the jails, viz., 51·7 per mille in Burdwan, 59·9 per mille in Barisal, 83·6 per mille in Howrah; and while dealing with this subject, I would call earnest attention to the want of arrangements for segregation and separate treatment of consumptives. It is a pity that this want should continue.

My Lord, it is not an easy matter to speak of the Police. That they are doing their duties under circumstances of exceptional difficulties, only a heartless man will deny. The training schools have given us a better type of men; but there cannot be an efficient police, unless there is frank co-operation between the public and the police, and this cannot be secured until the latter realize that they are the servants of the public and not their masters, that their general behaviour towards the public should be marked by courtesy and consideration and not by bullying and intimidation. Whatever the training schools may teach, nothing is more essential to a police officer than good manners, and good breeding, willingness to help and abstention from needless interference.

My Lord, there is a marked increase of expenditure in the Criminal Investigation Department. I know that under the peculiar circumstances of the times this cannot be helped, and so long as assassinations and dacoities are resorted to by youths who should know better, the expenditure on this head cannot be justly curtailed. It is said that amongst these criminals are young men of good birth and social position. But do they realize the essential cowardice involved in killing an unsuspecting man even if he were an enemy, and that it is opposed to all religion and every dictate of morality and humanity? Has ever any nation risen on the soiled and slippery steps of crime? This is what I so earnestly wish they could realize in the very interests of the motherland.

My Lord, the community to which I have the honour to belong, is unfortunately a poor community and for want of educational facilities is necessarily lagging behind. We are grateful to Government for the encouragement it is giving to Muhammadan education; but it will not be right to solve the problem in the way in which it has been solved for the other communities in India. For the great masses of our people, agriculturists or working men, we do not want any elaborate system of literary education. We want schools where particular classes of our people may be trained in arts and crafts for which they may have already shown some aptitude. Our weavers, our potters, our other craftsmen will be all the better, if they are taught the elementary principles of the work in which they are employed, if for them it could be raised from mere manual handling to a conscious process of the brain. It requires great forethought and care, for we must preserve the inborn artistic sense and not petrify it into wooden moulds. There is good material at our disposal, if only we could utilise it. The Muhammadans of the maritime parts of Bengal have proved their capability as reliable and intrepid sailors. Must they for ever remain the ignorant serangs that their forefathers were? A school in Chittagong for teaching them the elements of the art of navigation will not be a useless investment, when the Government of India will have a navy of its own. Muhammadan youths have been good mechanics, good joiners, abstemious and sober, and if their difficulties, principally of means, could be overcome by giving them special facilities for technical training, the community, as a whole, would greatly profit. This aspect of Muhammadan education, I hope, will not be overlooked.

The Budget.

Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff.

Then, my Lord, my community is not adequately represented in the public services of the Province. I am not one of those who would train our youths simply for Government service; but circumstanced as we are in Bengal, I confess it gives our youths an honourable career, it makes our further advance socially and politically more possible and supplies the elements of self-respect and self-dependence. The future of this province, where the Hindus and Muhammadans are nearly equal in number, very much depends on their mutual co-operation and good understanding, and that can only be possible when the two great communities stand on an equal level. To this end, I hope both Hindus and Muhammadans will cheerfully work. And, my Lord, while I am on this subject and before I conclude, it is well to point out that the time has come when the position of the Muhammadan community on the District Boards and Municipalities should be considered and defined. The municipal elections, lately held in Calcutta, have resulted in the return of not a single Muhammadan candidate. It may have been our fault; but surely our Hindu fellow citizens could very well have exercised some self-restraint to allow some of the Muhammadan candidates to be returned for wards largely composed of Muhammadan residents. My Lord, it is not now the time for me to say anything about special electorates.

My Lord, there is one other question to which I should like to briefly refer. Indian manufacturers are suffering from want of materials and ingredients. I cannot ask the Government to come to their help, for I know the Government are powerless in this matter. But, my Lord, without entering into trade or business, the Government can help them in many other ways, if they have a real Commercial Bureau, where people desirous of starting industries for which there may be a reasonable opening, can get all the information they want. It is not possible for Government to be in a position to give information on every conceivable subject, but it may, however, take up the question of some industries which they think may be profitably started in India and place information regarding them before the public. Such information may fall on deaf ears for some time: but if the way could be shown towards starting industries on a commercial basis, capital will not be lacking in Bengal.

My Lord, the year we have entered upon will necessarily be a strenuous one. But the special aspect of it to which I wish to invite the attention of Your Excellency's Government is the awkward situation of my community in India, in the present war. I feel we are here to help the Government: not to deceive it. Therefore, I have not the least hesitation in assuring the Government that no Muhammadan can contemplate without emotion the breaking up of the Ottoman Empire. Its great traditions and past achievements are a heritage of which the Muhammadans are proud. I think I need not say that such members of the Muhammadan community, who advertised that they had no sympathy with Turkey in the present crisis, vainly tried to deceive the Government and underrated their intelligence and judgment. But I can, with equal force, assure the Government that all Indian Muhammadans most deeply deplore the rupture of the old, old friendship between Turkey and Great Britain. I am here intentionally avoiding the question of the loyalty of the Muhammadans of India to the British Throne ; for the simple reason that it must not and cannot be questioned. However, our only hope is that the Muhammadans of India, who form no inconsiderable part of the Muhammadan population of the world, will be enabled to rekindle the light which the Muhammadan universities of old had lighted. In that we ask the help of our Government and their support, and I am sure we will not be disappointed."

The Budget.

Mr. Chakravarti.

The Hon'ble MR. CHAKRAVARTI said :—

"MY LORD,

I shall confine myself to two or three topics for purposes of my criticism. I have held and I still hold that, as long as there is this struggle going on with the external enemy, it does not serve any useful purpose to criticise the internal administration, except where the questions are of such paramount importance that they require immediate attention on the part of your Excellency's Government. There is one matter to which allusion has been made by several Hon'ble Members, and to which I desire to draw your Excellency's attention specially. I am told that during the last two months of last year, that is November and December 1914, in the district of Nadia, the number of deaths from malarial fever amounted to the appalling figure of 23,000. Whatever may be the theory in regard to the causation of malarial fever—as to whether it is to be attributed to anophelis or any other kind of animal or stagnation of water in the sub-soil. I do not pretend to have any scientific knowledge of the subject so as to be able to offer any useful suggestions as to the method to be employed. I take the fact as it is, that in one district, Nadia, during the months of November and December last the number of deaths from malarial fever amounted to 23,000. But there is one thing which was noticed by the man in the street in Nadia, and it was this that people who had a short distance to go for their drinking water from the Jellingi suffered far less from malarial fever than those people who were away from the Jellingi and who had to depend upon water drawn from tanks, wells, etc. It seems to me that it may, after all, be a question of the supply of good drinking water ; but, however that may be, I find no solution at all, except that I may congratulate my friend the Hon'ble Nawab Shamsul Huda with regard to the possession of a sanitary officer for the town of Krishnagar. This gentelman has found his office regarding sanitary duties a sinecure because he tells me that he has no funds with which to help the people at all. There is a little small-pox in the town—imported cases from Calcutta—he says he can do nothing, he is absolutely helpless. On the other hand, I found him rather social and agreeable when I met him at a garden party on Saturday evening, and he was particularly conspicuous as a social human being, but so far as any useful work in the Department in which he has been employed is concerned, the ambitious programme which my friend outlined while introducing the Bill has not been given effect to. We have the Sanitary officer, but he apparently has plenty of time to attend garden parties and he has not been able to prevent 23,000 people dying in the course of two months.

Then, as regards the question of economic distress, I entirely agree with my friend the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji that there are two classes who have been very hard hit, but at the same time I congratulate the Finance Member of your Excellency's Government that the finances taken as a whole under the conditions of this year are remarkably good for the province. One would have thought that, regard being had to the conditions under which we are living this year, there would have been a larger dislocation of business and greater financial distress in the province, but your Excellency's Government and the Finance Member have to be congratulated that the dislocation in the financial affairs of the province has been very limited.

The Budget.

Mr. Chakravarti and Babu Surendra Nath Banerji.

The two classes of people, viz., the landlord and raiyat, have been very hard hit. Whether rightly or wrongly, during the last ten years or so, the staple crop in the country was jute, and the raiyat, either because he is more greedy than other human beings, or just because he is as greedy, took to translation of paddy lands into jute lands; he had bumper crops which fetched very high prices from Rs. 7 to Rs. 14 and he thought that he had only to shake the jute plant, and gold would fall. He did get gold for some time and he fattened on that, but the experience of this year has taught him a lesson which I hope he will take to heart, and he would not in future be so sanguine and will keep a medium between paddy lands and jute lands. Probably there will be a contraction in the area of jute cultivation this year, but I do not at all look upon that with any degree of apprehension. On the other hand, I look at it with a certain degree of approbation and congratulation that the raiyat may be led to divert a certain portion of his jute into paddy lands."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI interrupting said: "I did not express any regret at all; in fact, my sympathies are just the other way."

The Hon'ble MR. CHAKRAVARTI continuing said: "I am very glad to hear that, because in point of fact we have to sell jute for export, practically the whole of it, retaining a very small percentage for the supply of the jute mills locally. When there is distress you cannot eat jute; on the other hand, rice is certainly a commodity which will sustain human beings. I am very glad to find that I was mistaken with regard to the remarks made by the Hon'ble Mr. Banerji.

What has been the result of all this? The tenant has not been able to pay the landlord his rent, but the landlord has to pay the Government revenue and other public demands. I do not think that anybody knows the difficulty which the landlord had on the last date of payment, i.e., the 29th of March this year, with regard to the payment of Government revenue and other public demands. I venture to think that almost all had the same difficulty. I do not know whether my friend the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has had the same experience, but I am speaking from knowledge in connection with the association to which I belong, that almost all landlords had to supplement the local collections with money drawn either from banks or from money-lenders, for the purpose of paying road cess and public works cess on the 28th of March. What the position will be in future I do not know, because there is another kist in June, and one knows from experience that, at this time of the year, there is hardly any crop on which people can make collections and the position of the landlords will be very much worse, and the position of the raiyat is likely to be very distressful at the time he approaches the early paddy crop, which he would not get before July or August next. That is one of the things which Government will have to attend to later on.

There is a remark which has been made by the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha with which I am in complete accord, and if I may be permitted to make a suggestion, with regard to the survey and settlement operations, that, if it is possible—I do not wish in any way to interfere with the regular arrangements of the survey—to stay the hands of the Government this year, at all events till the financial prospects of the tenants and landlords are brighter. I have no doubt that Government will consider the desirability of doing so.

I now pass from the comments which have been made in connection with the amounts which have been held over simply for this reason, that, owing to the war we have to postpone everything and after the war is successfully over, we may quarrel as much as we like. At the end of the war we will quarrel as much as we like and nobody will ever give me the credit, nobody has ever given me the credit, that I am not a pugnacious creature. Under these circumstances when the time comes we will fight, but at the present moment let us bury the hatchet and let us think of the immediate surroundings of our life.

The Budget.

Mr. Chakravarti and Mr. Hornell.

There is one matter and I press Your Excellency's Government regarding it. It is a small matter, only a question of Rs. 21,000 in connection with the sanctioned increase in the pay of the Munsifs. A number of speakers have alluded to this subject, and I can assure Your Excellency's Government that it is a very hard thing for the officers getting only a pay of Rs. 200—that on account of the rise in the price of commodities and various other necessaries it is very, very hard indeed for them to make both ends meet If it be possible for Government to give effect to this measure, it would be a great benefit indeed to this deserving class.

I pass on to a remark which has been made by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur with regard to the employment of Mr. Swan. I have nothing but to congratulate the Government upon the employment of that officer because from the nature of things it is absolutely impossible that in a very short time you will be able either to start new industries or to revive dead ones—it is not in the nature of things that you can do so—but I have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Swan will be able to collect very useful information which will be not only of importance to Government later on, but, when published, will be of great assistance to practical industrial people, to commercial people and to the general community. As regards the question of Government subsidising or helping or patronizing private industries, it may be that my education in political economy has somewhat disqualified me to express my opinion. I have always been against the diversion of taxes raised from the general public for the purpose of devoting to, and fostering of, industries. It is possible on account of the difficulties in which we are placed that some of the industries may be fostered by Government grants. I am assured by a very high authority that an experiment was made in connection with the aluminium industry in Madras and with great success. Government started the industry, made it successful and then passed it on to a body of private individuals. In the same way it is possible that Government may be able to do something in connection with the growth of industries of this kind. With these few remarks I resume my seat."

The Hon'ble MR. HORNELL said :—

" MY LORD,

Education has, as usual, proved to be the popular item of the programme, but I doubt whether I should be popular, if at this hour of the afternoon I took up the time of the Council by saying all that I should like to say with reference to various educational problems or even all which has been suggested by the remarks which have been made at this meeting.

The great criticism which has been levelled against the efficiency of the Education Department is that we are always crying out for more money and that when we get it we cannot spend it. A dreadful picture has been drawn of the Department gazing impotently on the piles of money, which it is too feeble to spend, while all around the need is clamant. Well, I want first of all to remind our critics that the Imperial grants which have been made to us are of two kinds—capital and recurring. Last year I mentioned some of the difficulties in the way of the rapid spending of capital grants. The amounts available are not adequate to the demands. Consequently, we have had first of all to select projects ; then sites had to be selected and plans and estimates drawn up and approved. What a business all this is, any one who could see some of the files in my office would realise. As regards construction works, which have to be carried out through the agency of the Public Works Department, we have to remember that the Education Department is not the only Department whose demands the Public Works Department, etc., have to try to satisfy. During the last few years every Department has been putting forward large building programmes and the Public Works Department cannot, I understand, work miracles.

The Budget.

As regards recurring grants, when they were sanctioned first, it was not possible to spend them in full, because we had to work out schemes and get them sanctioned ; but as regards these grants, there will be no difficulty in spending the money in future, for schemes have now been formulated and we can assign any anticipated savings to capital projects.

At this stage I am afraid I must go into some detail, for there has been a certain amount of misapprehension owing to the figures in the budget not having been understood.

The Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerji referred to page 53 of the budget. Under the head " Budget estimate for 1915-16 " there appears on that page a sum of Rs. 2,800 for lower primary schools for boys. Mr. Banerji said that he presumed that this amount was so small, because the main channel for the support of primary schools was the District Boards, but then he went on to refer to the figure shown on page 54 under the head "Budget estimate for 1915-16" against the side heading " Payments in support of local schools under District Boards" and asked why, when the revised estimate for 1914-15 was Rs. 10,76,000, the provision for 1915-16 should be Rs. 2,88,960 only. Mr. Banerji is right in assuming that the main channel for the support of primary schools is the District Boards, but the discrepancy between the figures of 1914-15 and 1915-16 to which he refers is due to the fact that, whereas the revised estimate for 1914-15 includes the Imperial grants, the budget provision of Rs. 2,88,960 for the year 1915-16 does not include them. If he desires to compare the figure shown under the budget estimates for 1915-16 with the corresponding figure for 1914-15, he should have compared the figure 2,88,960 with the figure 2,88,560. In other words, the position is this : The amount from provincial revenues available for primary schools during the year 1915-16 is Rs. 400 in advance of the amount available during 1914-15. All the Imperial recurring grants have been made available. Consequently, the amount available for primary schools for 1915-16 will be certainly not less, and probably a little more, than the amount available during 1914-15.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray refers to savings to the extent of Rs. 99,75,000 on the expenditure side of the budget for 1914-15, of which no less than Rs. 61,70,000 are according to him due to savings on education. The Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerji has said something to the same effect. The Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Hussain referred to the expenditure of the Imperial recurring grant of Rs. 25,20,000, the omission of which from the head " Revised estimate for 1914-15 " led the Hon'ble gentleman to assume that no money was spent during that year under that head. I admit that the position is a little complicated. The sum of Rs. 25,20,000 to which the Hon'ble Member refers is made up of the original Imperial recurring assignment of Rs. 13,20,000 plus Rs. 12,00,000 reallotted as the unspent balance of the same recurring grant assigned for the previous year, the reallotted portion being available for expenses on capital projects only. It was of course very regrettable that more of this particular Imperial recurring grant could not be spent during the financial year 1913-14, but schemes had to be worked out and sanctioned before the grant could be utilized. As regards the provision of Rs. 25,20,000 made in the budget for last year, I am glad to be able to inform the Hon'ble Member that we spent out of this sum not less than Rs. 10,48,016, and a scrutiny of the figures which I shall be very happy to show to my Hon'ble friend will indicate that the chief reason why we did not succeed in spending considerably more was that the provision includes the annual grant of Rs. 5,00,000 to the Dacca University, a scheme which has not yet been found possible to inaugurate. The amount of Rs. 13,20,000 provided in the budget for the current year represents of course the recurring grant, assigned to 1915-16, the unspent balances of previous years not having been made available. I can assure the Hon'ble Member that we shall have no difficulty in spending the greater portion of this amount during the current financial year. Schemes of recurring expenditure are now in process of adoption and anticipated savings can be spent on capital projects.

The Budget.

Mr. Hornell.

Before leaving the criticisms of my Hon'ble friend the Maulvi on the financial administration of the Education Department, I must allude briefly to his statement that the Education budget for the year provides for a total expenditure of Rs. 95,67,000, with thirty lakhs of which he seems to think the Education Department can do anything they like. I wish we could. I am not quite sure how the Hon'ble Member arrived at the thirty lakhs figure. He seems to have taken the provision of Rs. 30,00,000 provided in the budget for 1914-15 as the portion made available for the year from the Imperial Capital assignment of Rs. 75,00,000 and supposes that the whole of this 30 lakhs is still available and can be spent on anything we like even though the amount has not been regranted in the current year's Education budget. I wish the Hon'ble Member's view was correct. A certain portion of last year's provision of Rs. 30,00,000 was spent and what remains is unfortunately not within the discretion of the Education Department to do what it likes with. The whole amount has been assigned to various purposes and is required for them.

It is not, I regret to say, possible to find the money for the Muhammadan Arts College from this Imperial assignment. I share the Hon'ble Member's regret at the postponement of the scheme for the Muhammadan Arts College in Calcutta, but I think that he can rest assured that so long as the present Hon'ble Member is in charge of Muhammadan education an opportunity for materialising the project will not be missed.

I turn to the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray's criticism. In the first place, the figure of Rs. 61,17,000 which he quotes is a little misleading. The provision made for exponses on education in 1914-15 was Rs. 1,45,43,000. When the draft financial statement for that year was being prepared, it was calculated on the basis of expenditure actually incurred during the first nine months of the year that Rs. 83,73,000 would be spent. This estimate was subsequently increased by the Financial Department to Rs. 85,23,000. The Hon'ble Member has taken the difference between Rs. 1,45,43,000 and Rs. 83,73,000 as the savings. As a fact we actually spent in the course of the financial year 1914-15 a considerable portion of the amounts provided under the head "Imperial grants both recurring and non-recurring." This expenditure does not appear in the budget against the various heads of Imperial grants. The total amount spent from the Imperial grants, both recurring and non-recurring, I calculate to have been about 37 lakhs. Of this amount a sum of Rs. 20,32,000 is included in the figure shown in the revised column of the budget for 1914-15. To this sum must be added a sum of Rs. 16,64,000 which was spent during 1914-15 on educational buildings through the agency of the Public Works Department. This brings the total expenditure during 1914-15 to Rs. 1,01,87,000 and reduces the savings to Rs. 43,56,000. This last figure includes the sum of Rs. 23,00,000 provided for the Dacca University; so that the amount which we have not been able to spend out of the allotments from public revenues assigned to educational projects other than the Dacca University scheme does not in fact amount to more than about Rs. 20.00.000 or £1.37,000. Not a very large balance to have in hand considering the vastness of our undertakings!

I should like to say here for the information especially of the Hon'ble Nawab Syed Nawab Ali Chaudhury that we are doing our best to inaugurate the Dacca University scheme. It is proving a tough job, but it is not being neglected.

Of course it is very regrettable that when our needs are so great we should not be able to spend more expeditiously the money placed at our disposal by the Imperial Government. So far as the Education Department is responsible, I accept the responsibility and deplore the delay, and this brings me to certain remarks which have been made with reference to the directing and inspecting agencies of the Education Department. One Hon'ble Member has said that there is too much inspection. Another Hon'ble Member who is more polite said that though he recognised the value and even the necessity of inspection and direction he cannot but feel that it would be better, if we had more institutions to inspect. Of course we are very badly in need of money in spite of the balances to which I have just alluded, and it is very desirable and necessary that we should not over-increase our establishment, but I venture to remind the House that officers of the inspecting agency have a great deal more to do than to inspect educational institutions and that the officers of the directing agency have unfortunately a great deal more to do than merely to pass orders on such inspection reports. The inspecting and directing officers of the Education Department carry on, with the assistance of the officers of the executive and others, the administration of education, so far as that depends on departmental agencies. The system is centralised. Whether the system can be improved or not is a matter which is entirely beyond the scope of this speech, but what I desire to impress on Hon'ble Members is, that unless we have an adequate and efficient directing and inspecting staff, the delay in maturing the schemes and getting the work carried out will be greater than ever. The officers of my Department are as hard worked as any in India. They do their best; they cannot perform impossibilities.

I gather from what is sometimes said and written on the subject of primary education that there is a feeling that we spend a great deal too much on inspectors and far too little on schools. A picture is painted of a number of well-paid and underworked inspecting officers wandering luxuriously round an inadequate number of half-starved schools. I think that if those who write and say these things would accompany some of my inspecting officers on their tours, they might perhaps be willing to revise their estimate of the general position. After all, to concentrate for a moment on primary education, what is a primary school in Bengal? It is not, I am sorry to say, usually an institution accommodated in a suitable building and staffed by effective teachers. Such an institution would at least go on without the inspecting ministrations of sub-inspectors. A primary school in Bengal is as a rule a teacher who collects a few pupils round him and every one who knows anything about it at all knows perfectly well that the progress of primary education in a district depends almost entirely on the inspecting and administrative officers of that district. If the Deputy Inspector is a keen man, if he takes the trouble to find out pandits, to encourage them to teach, to see that the stipends are easily made available for them and are regularly paid, then the number of children under primary instruction increases. Without such an officer it invariably goes back.

As regards primary education as a whole, I desire to say that I am profoundly dissatisfied with the present state of affairs. From what I have myself seen in the course of my visits to primary schools, and from statistics,

The Budget.

Mr. Hornell.

I am exceedingly doubtful whether the primary school system in Bengal is performing the function that it should be performing. I am exceedingly anxious that the whole system should be overhauled, and by way of instituting an effective enquiry I have put on two of my best officers to study the conditions in certain areas. What they have been told is to survey the problem of that area and to put forward practical proposals. These proposals will probably go at a later stage before a large committee which I shall ask Government to appoint to consider the whole question.

I admit that things are not right and I appeal to the representative members of the Bengali community to help Government to put them right. No good will come of repeating criticisms which are based on falsehoods. It is always being represented that the Education Department has closed primary schools by raising the standard in a quite unreasonable way. What, it has been asked, is the use of spending money on establishing Board lower primary schools when the establishment of one such means the closing of a number of private schools? It is true that we have spent some of the Imperial money on Board primary schools. I can say from my personal observation that these schools have been a great success. They have been a great success because they have formed, as it were, permanent centres of primary instruction, of a standard of general efficiency which is comparatively speaking high. These schools are attended by a considerable number of children. The result is that the pandits and maulvis who teach in them get a reasonably adequate remuneration for their work, partly by stipends and partly by fees. Consequently, they take some pride in their work and try and do it well. What is the condition of primary education in those parts of the Presidency in which there are still practically no Board lower primary schools, for example, the Burdwan Division? There primary education is imparted by a number of pandits whose total receipts from all sources do not exceed on an average more than Rs. 5 or Rs. 6 a month. On such a basis how can you expect your primary instruction to be anything but uncertain and transitory? The work of such men is bound to be very largely worthless. We have not refused to grant them stipends. We quite realise that something is better than nothing, but it is beyond the power of anyone to retain the permanent services of a set of teachers who earn far less than an ordinary cooly.

I do not think that the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray was fair when he said that Government was doing nothing for private secondary schools. We have two Imperial recurring grants, one of Rs. 1,50,000 and the other of Rs. 2,26,000. The whole of the grant of Rs. 1,50,000 is being spent and a good part of the grant of Rs. 2,26,000 will be spent, on giving additional grants-in-aid to secondary schools. Some schools have not received the additional grants which were available for them, because we have in every case made the payment of the additional grant conditional on the employment of a more efficient and better remunerated staff of teachers. I repeat what I said last year that these grants are merely a drop in the ocean of secondary schools in this Presidency. As long ago as 1908 it was estimated that it would cost from 15 to 16 lakhs to put secondary schools in the then province of Bengal on anything approaching a satisfactory basis. We have now less than three lakhs and a half; the number of schools has considerably increased. And yet people are surprised because every school does not get what it wants!

I now desire to say something about the Hastings House School. As was natural there has been a good deal of misunderstanding about this project. The scheme has been a great deal criticised. Most of the criticisms were based on ideas which were evolved from the consciousness of those witty persons who write in newspapers. The facts are perfectly simple and straightforward. It is years since the Government of Bengal was first asked to establish a residential school for those who desire for their sons an education on somewhat different lines from those on which the education in the ordinary high school is conducted. Various proposals were put forward and discussed at great length. Some thought that the school should be at Ranchi, others that it should in the Himalayas. Last year two or three practical Bengali gentlemen of position came to Government and said. This discussion is all very well, but our boys are growing up. Why should not Government start a school on a temporary and provisional basis?' It seemed to me both a sensible and a reasonable proposal. So with the consent of Government I and two of these gentlemen set out one morning in a motor-car to see whether we could find suitable premises in which the school could be started. More or less by accident we passed Hastings House. One of the gentlemen said, 'It is just the place.' I agreed to approach the Government of Bengal who subsequently asked the Government of India to lend us Hastings House for the purpose of the school. The Government of India consented. The Hon'ble Mr. Faz-ul-Haq has referred to the lakhs of rupees which Government has poured into this venture. As a fact we have the use of Hastings House for nothing and the whole capital expenditure which has been incurred has been confined to the installation of a modern sanitary system and to the furnishing and equipment of the buildings. The scheme is admittedly a temporary and provisional one. If it succeeds, it will doubtless lead to the establishment in buildings of its own of a permanent school to which the wealthy men of Bengal will contribute liberally. In the meanwhile all that Government has undertaken to do is to finance the school on a temporary basis within the limits of a financial guarantee from certain gentlemen interested in the scheme. School fees will be charged at the rate of Rs. 100 for boarders and Rs. 25 for day scholars. The greater part of the recurring cost of the school will be covered by the fee receipts. The school is not merely intended for the wealthy. It is intended to meet the needs of those who want for their boys a training which the ordinary high school does not in their opinion provide, and who cannot obtain what they want without the co-operation and assistance of Government.

Dr. Nilratan Sarkar has mentioned sanitary education. We had a capital grant from the Government of India for this and a committee has been sitting. Their report is on its way to Government. This report deals with text-books and the question how much can be done in schools in the matter of instruction in sanitation.

It remains to say a few words about that vexed question 'the education of Moslems.' My friend the Hon'ble Mr. Haq (for he really is my friend in spite of the fearful things he says about the Education Department; he always greets me with a smile; I suppose that he is thinking of the next budget debate) has drawn a harrowing picture of a neglected community suffering in silence. However, I do not think that things are quite as bad as he makes out. He has represented himself as repeating hopelessly year after year the same list of grievances and needs. Well, I do not suppose that next year's list will be any shorter, but I hope that he will be able to introduce a little variety into it. For example, there is the question of the extension of the Baker Madrassah Hostel. The Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq says, 'Why Rs. 91,000 was set aside for this project years ago, the amount is still available but nothing is done.' I am glad to be able to inform him not only that the sum of Rs. 91,000 is available but that two lakhs of rupees are available. The fact that this assignment has been made is solely due to the personal efforts made by the Hon'ble Member in charge of Muhammadan Education. There has been delay in connexion with this scheme. As a rule no one chafes more than I do at delay. This particular delay I do not regret in the least. The original scheme has been very greatly improved and we shall now be able to take up a great deal more land and make a very much better job of it. The project has been administratively approved at an estimated cost of more than the double amount originally allotted. As I have said already, two lakhs are immediately available. The work will be taken up as soon as possible. I am sure that when the Hon'ble Member sees the new scheme realised he will admit that in this matter we have not done so badly.

The Budget.

Mr. Hornell.

Then there is the old grievance about the hostel in College Square. I dealt with this matter in the meeting of the Council which was held at Dacca. I then said that I could not recommend that Government should start a Muhammadan College on a temporary basis and in hired premises, but that if the chief difficulty of Moslem students was a lack of hostel accommodation, I did not see why a hostel in the neighbourhood of College Square should not be started. Here, again, we have been told that nothing whatever has been done. As a fact I instructed Mr. Taylor some months ago to try and find a suitable house, and he told me this morning that he had found one. I propose with the permission of Government to take this house and I hope before the beginning of the next session this hostel will be opened.

Then we have been taken to task about the Muhammadan Arts College in Calcutta. Here, again, though a man of great humility, I am not altogether prepared to say that I have sinned, in that I have done nothing. When I looked into this matter some 18 months ago I found that not only had nothing been worked out but also that a considerable number of influential persons were opposed to the scheme. I was not opposed to the scheme. So I set myself to work out a plan for carrying it into effect. The scheme has now been worked out and submitted to Government. It is an expensive one, but this unfortunately cannot be avoided. The money not being immediately available it has been found impossible to take up the whole scheme at once. The scheme involves the removal of the Anglo-Persian School from its present location in the Madrassah buildings. I need scarcely remind the Council that suitable sites for schools in the neighbourhood of Wellesley Square are not very easy to obtain. There happened to be a piece of vacant land in Wellesley Street which was obviously well suited for a new Anglo-Persian School. Having then some funds at our disposal we acquired this land and now we are blamed for not having carried out excavations on it. This, I venture to think, is a little hard. Surely it is something to have acquired the land on which to locate a new school when funds for building it are available. Personally, I should prefer a piece of land and no building to no land and no building. If we had not taken up this land we might subsequently have found ourselves in the position of having the money for carrying out the scheme, but not being able to proceed with it, simply because there was no place to which the Anglo-Persian School could be moved.

One word in conclusion with reference to that most troublesome topic—I refer to the construction of certain college hostels in Calcutta. I cannot take up the time of the Council by going into detail with reference to this scheme. Originally, my predecessor advised Government to build certain hostels for certain colleges on condition that those colleges provided the sites. The colleges were unable to find sites, and after an immense amount of delay some of the institutions concerned came forward and asked us to find the sites and build the buildings and in fact to do every thing for them.

The City College undertook to find a site and to build a hostel with the help of the Government grant. They have obtained a permanent lease of a site, but now the Government Solicitor refuses to recognise this as providing a good security for the grant. Some of the schemes are now fairly well advanced, but the money to carry them on will not be available this year. The eight lakhs Imperial capital grant to which the Hon'ble Mr. S. N. Banarji referred has to cover the whole of the capital expenditure which we incur from the Imperial grants during the current year. I understand, however, that the Government of India has granted an additional ten lakhs to the

The Budget.

Nawab Syed Shams-ul-Huda.

University of Calcutta for the purpose of hostels. The fact that these schemes have been hanging on so long is a source of perpetual annoyance to me. The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray expressed the hope that I would be willing to co-operate with the University in working out a satisfactory hostel scheme to Calcutta. I assure him that I shall only be too glad to do so, and I feel that, if the University and the Education Department can work together in this matter, we may in the course of the current year, effect something.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor said something about the desirability of increasing the number of M.A. and M.Sc. classes attached to Government colleges in the mufassal. A good many schemes of University Education are now on the anvil and I should have thought that this was scarcely the time for increasing the number of post-graduate classes. Some specific proposals in this connexion are now under consideration, and I hope that the discussion of these proposals will ultimately help us to contribute towards the satisfactory solution of the problem of the reorganisation of University education throughout this Presidency.

The Hon'ble NAWAB SYED SHAMS-UL-HUDA said :—

MY LORD, the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell has relieved me of the necessity of saying much under the head of Muhammadan Education. I can only assure my Hon'ble friends who have spoken on the subject that it is not for lack of any sympathy that the various schemes referred to by them have not progressed as well as they might have done. As has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell, the question of the Muhammadan Arts College is one which involves large expenditure, and I cannot say that there is any hope of having that college established at very early date, until at least our financial difficulties have disappeared. But I think there is no difference of opinion on the necessity of such an institution and I hope that when the money is forthcoming, the Muhammadans will have the satisfaction of having in Calcutta a well equipped college of their own.

As regards the Baker Hostel, the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell has explained the circumstances, and I may only add that if it were a question of Rs. 91,000 only probably there would have been no difficulty, in starting the work earlier but the estimates rose from Rs. 91,000 to Rs. 2,16,000 or something like that, and we are thankful to the Government of India that they have removed the embargo on the grants to the University Institute and the Baker Hostel.

The Hon'ble Nawab Nawab Ali Chaudhuri has made a reference to the money that was promised to the Moslem Institute. As regards that, what has happened is this : the Moslem Institute was going to be part and parcel of the scheme for the Arts College and that scheme is now postponed. This scheme had to be postponed also on that account. But we have not lost the money in this sense that a part of the money allotted to the Baker Hostel has been the amount of Rs. 45,000 that was earmarked for the Moslem Institute. I hope that when the Muhammadans have got their Arts College they will have the institute as a part of that college.

As regards the question of hostels for Muhammadan Law students, I am glad that the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor of the University has been able to hold out hopes of a solution, and I trust that this grievance will in course of time disappear. For the present, Mr. Hornell has informed the Council that a house has been rented for opening a hostel, and I think this will meet present difficulties.

My Hon'ble friends will also remember that when grants were made to private colleges, for instance, the City College, the Ripon College and the Scottish Churches College for hostel accommodation, it was expressly stipulated that a part of the hostels will be reserved for Muhammadan students.

The Budget.

Nawab Syed Shams-ul-Huda.

Leaving aside the question of the accommodation for Muhammadan students, as to which the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell has said all that was necessary, I come now to the question of sanitation. A great deal of criticism has been levelled at the department under that head and a good deal has been said as regards the non-utilisation of the sanitary grant. I may say that a part of the complaint is based on a misapprehension. What happened is this : When grants made to local bodies were transferred to the head 45—Civil Works, the actuals under the head of sanitation are reduced to that extent. The amount of the decrease of the actuals due to the transfer was in 1912-13, approximately 4½ lakhs ; in 1913-14, 1 lakh ; 1914-15, 3½ lakhs non-recurring and 1 lakh recurring ; in 1913-14 also an amount of 5½ lakhs was distributed among local bodies from the Civil Works budget. It cannot therefore be said that Government have not been fully helping local bodies. I confess we might have done a good deal more, but as a rule when making grants out of sanitation funds, we insist on local bodies bearing a portion of the cost. Previously the practice was to ask local bodies to contribute two-thirds —Government contributing the remaining one-third. We have found from experience that local bodies are not able always to find the two-thirds, and in many instances recently we have raised the proportion from one-third to half, and even in some cases to more. But we have not and I am afraid we cannot—make contributions to local bodies who are not able to contribute a part of the cost. In some cases it has so happened that the finances of local bodies have not been found sufficient to enable them to maintain the waterworks. It has not therefore been for want of funds in recent years, but rather for want of matured schemes and Financial difficulties of local bodies that money has been left unutilised under the head of sanitation.

The Hon'ble Nawab Ali Chaudhuri has referred to the fact that local bodies such as district boards and others insist on the people finding one-third for the excavation of tanks and other purposes before any contribution is made. There is some little misapprehension on that point which I desire to explain. When Government promised to give aid to local bodies to enable them to improve water-supply in rural areas, they insisted on a certain proportion being borne by the people themselves, but now that the whole of the Public Works Cess has been transferred to local bodies there are no hard-and-fast rules existing ; as a matter of fact, even when Government contributed, there was no hard-and-fast rule, although it was generally understood that the contribution of one-third was asked for from local bodies. Now District Boards are perfectly free to spend anything they can afford towards the improvement of water-supply in rural areas, and if they fail to do so it is not the fault of Government. As a matter of fact, District Boards have large surpluses and attention has been drawn in our recent resolution to this fact, and I hope local bodies will now take care to spend larger sums for the improvement of sanitation in the country.

A great deal of criticism has been levelled at the malaria committee Members of this Council who probably do not know much about this committee will be surprised to hear that its greatest critic in this Council is a member of that committee—I refer to my Hon'ble friend Dr. Nilratan Sarkar. The malaria committee is an advisory board, and I do not think my Hon'ble friend can complain that Government have not shown sufficient consideration or respect to any recommendations made by that committee. It has been said by several Hon'ble members that it was very wrong of Government to have refunded the fifty thousand rupees which the Government of India gave in order to carry out experiments in jungle cutting. My Hon'ble friend Dr. Sarkar is himself an expert and we are all at the mercy of experts. The malaria committee advised us that they could not usefully spend the money, and we had to accept that advice. But if that advice was wrong Dr. Sarkar could have influenced his colleagues to give us the right advice upon which to act.

The Budget.

As regards the Sanitary Board, suggestions have been made for its improvement. It has been suggested that the number of non-official representatives on the Board should be increased, that its functions should be enlarged, and that its deliberations should be made public. As regards these suggestions it is enough to say that the Sanitary Board was only recently reconstituted, and that we have not seen enough of its work to justify us to make a change, but the suggestions made by my Hon'ble friend, Mr. Surendra Nath Banerjee, as regards making its deliberations public, will receive consideration. I may point out that the Sanitary Board is an Advisory Board and nothing turns upon what it says, until Government has accepted its advice. Incidentally the Hon'ble Mr. Banarji referred to the scheme for water-supply, of Riparian municipalities, near Calcutta and he said that the municipalities concerned know nothing of what is going on I may assure my Hon'ble friend that nothing will be done without consulting the municipalities which are concerned in the scheme.

Fault has been found with Government for not doing all that could be done, in order to eradicate malaria from the country. My friend the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sarkar has given us certain instances of Government efforts, and suggested that this was all that the Government had done. I do not think it is quite correct. It is not correct that we have been satisfied with merely supplying quinine to municipalities, but the whole of our sanitary grant for the improvement of water-supply and drainage is intended to improve the sanitation of the country, and they ought all to be considered as anti-malarial measures of great importance. So far as the supply of quinine goes, not only do Government sell quinine at cheap rates, but whenever a municipality has been unable to supply sufficient quinine to hospitals, and have applied to Government for help, we have seldom refused such help. In every case where we have found municipalities are not in a position to pay, we have helped them. I think the Government have done a great deal more than my Hon'ble friends are prepared to give us credit for.

The Hon'ble Mr. Banarji complained that the ferry fund has been diverted from its legitimate purpose. This is a misapprehension. The ferry fund was always considered as a provincial asset, and as a matter of fact, about 20 years ago. the Government of India said of this fund as follows : 'The ferry receipts in Bengal have up to the present time gone into the common account of the province ; they are part of the general revenue assigned to the province by the Government of India in the provincial contract, and there is not the slightest reason for regarding them in any way especially claimable by the District Boards from the Provincial Government'. So that even if Government took every pice of the ferry receipts, it could not be said that the funds had been diverted from their proper use, but, as a matter of fact, a certain portion of the receipts from some ferries, though not all, have been made over to the district boards as part of the compensation given for the expenditure on education and medical.

The Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad expressed a hope in his speech that the money which has been withdrawn from the sanitary grant should not lapse. He suggested that the unexpended balance of the Imperial grant, reserved or restricted this year, should be held to the credit of this Government to be drawn upon whenever a favourable atmosphere was re-established. My Hon'ble friend will be glad to know that the unexpended balances of the Imperial grant will not lapse, they are only suspended, and will be available for their general purposes, as soon as the return to normal conditions allow us to draw again upon our provincial balances.

The Budget.

Mr. Lyon.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ariff has referred to the municipal elections, and to the fact that very few Muhammadans have been returned from Calcutta—as a matter of fact no one was returned at the last election. This is a question which is not new. It has been carefully considered in connection with the amendment of the Calcutta Municipal Act and all public bodies, including the municipalities, have been allowed an opportunity of giving an opinion on that subject. I hope that a solution of it will be found when we introduce our new Municipal Bill. I do not think there is anything else to which I need refer this afternoon."

The Hon'ble MR. LYON said :—

"MY LORD,

I will only detain the Council for a very few minutes with some remarks regarding hostels for colleges in Calcutta. It is a subject in which, in spite of the accusations to the contrary which have been levelled against us, we take a very practical and real interest. I desire to give some figures to show how extremely difficult it has been to come to a final decision with regard to certain particular hostels. When the committee, to which the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari referred, sat some 4 or 5 years ago, to decide the question of the expenditure of the grant of 5 lakhs for hostels, a certain portion of that grant was allotted, and was spent almost at once. The sum of Rs. 2,86,000 was, however, reserved for the hostels attached to the Ripon College, the Bangabasi College and the Metropolitan Institution, and this sum was divided into Rs. 90,000 allotted for sites, and the rest for buildings When the acquisition of land was carried out, the sum of Rs. 90,000 rose to Rs. 1,74,000, and this increase, with the estimates which were made for the buildings, raised the total from Rs. 2,86,000 to Rs. 4.21,000. We realised the desirability of building these hostels and made arrangements to provide Rs. 4,21,000. When the matter was, however, gone into still further, the estimate of Rs. 4,21,000 rose to very nearly 6 lakhs. We cannot secure funds for this expenditure immediately, but as soon as we can draw upon our balances we hope to provide this sum of 6 lakhs and we shall then be able to provide this hostel accommodation. In the meantime, we may make a beginning with some of these buildings.

The City College scheme, in the same way, is one for which we are prepared to provide 1½ lakhs as subsidy. But there has been endless trouble between the City College authorities and the owners of the site which they wish to occupy, and it was only during the latter half of March that we were presented with a scheme, which had been prepared with great difficulty, and on the basis of which we were asked to pay out the 1½ lakhs. An examination of that scheme, however, showed that it rested on an unsound financial basis and that the lease which had been entered into was not one of which the Government Solicitor could approve. It was therefore impossible to advance the grant immediately on the basis of that lease. This, however, is a matter of time. The money is there and it will ultimately be handed over. On the general question I may inform the Council that, out of the total sum of 16 lakhs for hostels, we have actually spent 7 lakhs already, and for the rest we have full and complete schemes.

Lastly, as regards the Muhammadan hostel, we hope to erect one in the neighbourhood of College Square. In common with the Muhammadan members of this Council, I listened with the greatest interest and appreciation to the endorsement of their claim made by the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari, Vice-Chancellor of the University. We feel quite confident that that sympathy will be translated into action when the Hon'ble Member, as Vice-Chancellor, comes to deal with the 10 lakhs recently made over to the University for hostels.

The Hon'ble RAI PRIYA NATH MUKHERJI BAHADUR said :—

"MY LORD,

I have only to answer two points in the speech of the Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Husain as regards the Registration Department.

The first point referred to is the revision of pay of the ministerial establishment in the registration offices. No one regrets the delay more than I do, and ever since I took charge of the department, I have been steadily endeavouring to bring about this much-needed improvement in the pay and prospects of the clerks and muharrirs of the Registration Department, who are paid miserable salaries. Their lot is indeed hard, and needs amelioration, specially as all the other branches in the district offices have been reorganized on the recommendation of the Salaries Reconstitution Committee in East and West Bengal. Last year we sent up a scheme costing Rs. 45,610 to the Government of India for the reorganization of the headquarters office establishment, but they deferred passing orders on it until they received our proposals also for the revision of the mufassal establishments and they also asked us to consider the principles of the Bihar and Orissa scheme, which they had just sanctioned. We have since prepared a complete scheme of reorganization for headquarters and mufassal establishments combined which has been fully examined by the Financial Department of this Government and will soon be submitted to the Government of India for approval. The cost would be Rs. 1,38,670 per annum. As Hon'ble Members are aware, almost every scheme involving recurring expenditure has had to be kept back owing to the present conditions. But we shall have the scheme approved by the Government of India and ready for introduction as soon as normal conditions return. But for the war I am sure that some money would have been found for introducing at least a portion of the revision this year.

As regards the second point, viz., pensions to Sub-Registrars who were paid by commission before the service was reorganized and they were brought on the pensionable establishment, I beg to refer the Hon'ble Member to the observations of the Hon'ble Nawab Syed Shams-ul-Huda made in this Council last year. The matter is still before the Royal Commission on Public Services in India, whose pronouncement on the question has not yet been made, but one of the conditions under which the service was reorganized on a pensionable basis was that Sub-Registrars who chose to come under the new scheme would not have their services under the commission system count towards pension. If they objected and their age was above 15, they had the option of remaining on the commission system. The Secretary of State sanctioned the scheme on these terms and although there is no doubt that some hardship is inflicted, we try to mitigate it as far as possible by granting them extensions, so as to enable them to complete the term for minimum pension. As regards Sub-Registrars still working on the commission system, who are not entitled to pension on retirement, they are allowed to work up to the age of 60 and even longer if they remain efficient. In some cases they have been allowed to work up to 65 years of age."

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING said :—

"MY LORD,

I desire to make a few remarks on the subjects which appertain to the Jails and Judicial Departments ; for I think in regard to these subjects there must be some misapprehension.

The Budget.

Mr. Cumming.

Under the head of Jails, the Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Husain is concerned because in his belief the amount which has been put aside for the dietary of prisoners has been reduced ; and he says, and I think very properly, that this is not a matter in which Government should economise. In fact, however, there has been no economy in the rates of the dietary of prisoners, because there is no officer in the service of Government who is more humane and more considerate to those under his care than the distinguished and senior officer of the Indian Medical Service who is in charge of that Department. What has happened is solely due to the number of prisoners who come under his charge and the price of the commodities. During the last three years, partly on account of the rise in prices and partly on account of the variation in the number of prisoners, the total sum allotted to this head has varied from under 4 lakhs in 1911-12 to nearly 7 lakhs in 1913-14. The amount which is allotted for the current year is 6½ lakhs against 5 lakhs allotted last year. I can therefore assure the Hon'ble Member that he need have no apprehension on this score.

Under the same head of Jails, the Hon'ble Babu Upendra Lal Ray had remarked that he would like to see separate cooking arrangements for Hindus and for others. I would refer the Hon'ble Member to the reply given in this Council on the 14th December 1914, when it was said that Government recognised the desirability of having separate arrrangements in jails and that provision would be made when kitchens were reconstructed. I need only say that this policy is being followed.

One other remark under this head of Jails, and that is with reference to what Mr. Ariff said, that there should be some expenditure of Government funds on prisoners who are released from jail. I desire to point out that in the West this is a duty which has almost universally been assigned to private philanthropy. There is already an institution on a small scale in Calcutta which was inaugurated through the exertions and humanity of a High Court Judge ; and another Hon'ble Judge is now in charge of it. It is as yet on a very small scale ; but Government have confidence in it and have afforded to it no small measure of assistance in the purchase of land.

I now turn to the department called the Judicial Department ; and under this head I desire to answer the criticism that has been made by no fewer than five Hon'ble Members of this Council regarding the grading of Munsifs. They all urge that it is very hard lines that last year a sum of Rs. 21,000 was put in the budget which has now been excluded, and that their hopes that the Rs. 200 grade would be abolished have been dashed to the ground. It is true that this subject has been before Government during the last four years ; it is also true that this Government have made certain recommendations on the subject to the Public Services Commission ; and it is also true that Government through the mouth of Sir William Duke said last year that he fully sympathised with the proposed change, and that effect would be given to it. But it has fallen to my lot to inform Hon'ble Members of this Council that Government must at present await the final proposals of the Public Services Commission. That is also the view of the Province to which we were so lately attached, namely, the Province of Bihar and Orissa. There appears to be some misunderstanding as regards the expenditure required ; it is alleged that the amount is so small that Government should not grudge to pay it. The answer to that is this, that the matter will not be settled simply by excising one grade from the cadre. Two grades will have to be amalgamated, the 4th and 5th. It is considered that if this change is contemplated, there must be a reorganisation of all the grades ; and this will cost not Rs. 21,000 but more than three quarters of a lakh. I would ask therefore the members of the service, for whom I have the greatest sympathy, and who are rather jealous of what they think is the good fortune of the executive service, to wait a little longer and to remember that even now the average pay of a member of the judicial service is Rs. 378 and the average pay of a provincial executive officer is Rs. 376 ; so that even under the present circumstances they have the advantage. They also have the advantage that a new Rs. 500 grade has been constituted throughout the whole of Bengal.

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

This now leads me to say something in reply to the criticism which was made under the last head. The question is—Why has Government given allowance to the Police and Civil Services? The facts are quite different from what has been supposed. It is alleged that all the members of the Indian Civil Services have received extra allowances ; this is far from being the case. A time-scale has been fixed by the Secretary of State for officers between three years' and twenty-one years' service. There are however only 21 officers who have derived any benefit out of a cadre of 183 officers. It has affected only officers of between two and eleven years' service and only for limited periods. In the case of the Police Service no member so far has been able to benefit from the time-scale approved for that service by the Secretary of State."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"MY LORD,

I think the House will be glad to see me rising, as this means the end of our long debate on this Budget. I desire to make my remarks as brief as possible. In the first place, as regards general questions, I notice that many members still gaze with hungry eyes upon the unspent balances of non-recurring Imperial grants, and some of them ask that if we cannot spend them at least they should remain at our disposal. The fact is that these balances cannot at present be touched by us. They form a part of the general reserve fund of the Government of India, and at present we can touch them no more than we can at present touch the reserve funds of Kaiser Wilhelm, however much we may hope to do so in future ! All we can do now is to hope that when brighter times come, these sums will again be placed at our disposal. As regards another general question, several gentlemen have asked that the Departmental Budgets should be printed and circulated along with the Provincial Budget. I am not sure those who make this request have seen the Departmental Budgets and realise their enormous bulk. It would hardly be worth the trouble to print all these papers and circulate them to members. Moreover, the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson and the heads of departments are always glad to provide Hon'ble Members at any time of the year with any details they require as regards the departmental Budgets. Besides, there is the practical difficulty that, until the Provincial Budget is passed, the Departmental Budgets are not finally passed and so all we could circulate to Hon'ble gentlemen while the Budget discussion is going on would be a set of level estimates. In the circumstances, the present system seems to be the most convenient.

Then I turn to the different departments which are under my charge. These departments are many, viz., Land Revenue, Public Works, Medical, Excise, Emigration and Commerce. The criticisms which have been made upon these departments are numerous. I hope therefore Hon'ble Members will pardon me if I do not deal in detail with every one of these numerous criticisms. I can only say that we have noted the criticisms with care, and when better times come we shall see what we can do to meet the wishes of the Hon'ble Members. I will therefore confine myself to the most important points which have been brought forward in the discussions on the Budget.

As regards Land Revenue, the first criticism is made by the Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad. He points out that there has been a drop of 11 lakhs of rupees in the income of last year compared with what we had expected. I gather that he has drawn our attention to this drop of 11 lakhs in a spirit of mild criticism, but as far as I can see the

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

11 lakhs to which he refers are 4½ lakhs which are due to the leniency of Government in collecting the dues from raiyats in khas mahals and 6½ lakhs which are due to similar leniency on the part of Government in collecting from landlords and tenants the costs for surveys and settlements. I hardly expected that we should be criticised for this leniency. In fact, while the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur has criticised us for not collecting these 6½ lakhs other Hon'ble gentlemen have earnestly asked us to postpone the survey and settlement operations and to refrain in a very great measure from collecting the charges which are still outstanding. At first sight this is a very reasonable proposal, but I am sure if Hon'ble gentlemen had as much practical experience of survey and settlement work as the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon, the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr and myself they would realise that to stop a survey and settlement which is in actual progress is almost always a great mistake. It has been tried on more than one occasion and it has turned out to be a very bad move. In the first place, it is an extremely hard thing that we should suddenly dismiss a large body of hard-working and low-paid officials. The settlement staff is not numbered in units of tens or hundreds, it is numbered in thousands—thousands of low-paid amins and clerks. These deserving men pick up a precarious livelihood in every settlement, and I am sure Government should think twice or three times before it turned them out without a penny until the end of the war. Not only so, but if we turned out these men we would be turning out a highly-trained staff which would be extremely difficult to collect again. Any business employer knows that when he has spent years in training and collecting a special staff it is the very worst economy to let the staff go and try years afterwards to collect them. Even if we took this course and dismissed several thousand men, it would be impossible to dismiss every one. It would be absolutely necessary to retain a nucleus in the dictrict and the expense would thereby mount up The house-rent that we pay would also have to go on. The steamers would have to be retained and paid for. The tents would have to be stored and they would certainly rot and deteriorate. In short, when we stop a settlement and try to pick up the threads in a later year we invariably find that the ultimate cost of that settlement is very much greater than if we had not stopped, and that when we come to collect the cost from the landlords and tenants we have to collect a very much larger sum than would otherwise be the case. Not only so, but the results are very much worse. When an operation is suspended the draft record becomes stale. You may suspend an operation for a year or two years, but you cannot stop people being born and people dying ; you cannot stop transfers and you cannot stop alluvion and diluvion. A very large percentage of the entries become incorrect and we have to struggle against time to bring them up to date and to rectify all the errors that have crept in. Try as we like, the ultimate record is sure to contain errors. Perhaps worst of all we stir up disputes and leave them undecided for several years with the result that riots and bloodshed occur. From bitter experience we have found out that it is bad policy, it is not real kindness to the landlords and it is not real kindness to the tenants to stop a settlement which has once begun.

Then Hon'ble Members may say, if you cannot stop the work, at least you can stop collecting the cost. I do not know if the House generally realise what a small sum it is that we collect from the raiyats. I cannot at this moment quote the figures for every district, but I can give you the figures for the district of Bakarganj where I was Settlement Officer. In that district the charge made against the raiyats was only one anna on the rupee on their rent. A raiyat, whose rent was Rs. 5, paid 5 annas and a raiyat, whose rent was Rs. 10, paid 10 annas, and so on. I am afraid that many zamindars realise larger sums every year in the shape of abwabs or takavi. We have never had any settlement in any part of Bengal and Bihar in which the raiyats have not simply tumbled over one another to pay their settlement dues. Something between 95 and 99 per cent. has always been paid on the first opportunity without the slightest compulsion; and no wonder; for the raiyats, when they pay those few annas, get what is to them a regular charter of their rights. They get a clear statement of every field in their holding, a clear statement of their status and legal rights, and a clear statement of the rent which can be demanded and which cannot be enhanced save by the process of the Tenancy Act. Finally, each raiyat gets, without additional charge, a good printed map showing every field in the village The Settlement Officer of Mymensingh, who is now collecting his dues from the raiyats, writes and assures me that he has not had to issue a single certificate and yet the raiyats almost to a man have come forward and put down their few annas in order to get these papers which they value so much.

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

Turning from the raiyats to the zamindars, it is perhaps in these days a little harder for them to pay the entire demand at once. We recognize this and we have issued instructions to the settlement officers that they are to treat their landlords with the greatest possible consideration. Whenever they find that a landlord is unable to pay in a lump sum he is to get a "kistibundi" in such terms as are reasonable, and we have asked that certificates and coercive processes should be used in a most sparing manner. I am sure the Hon'ble Members will see that we have taken all steps that are reasonably necessary. As I have said before, it is extremely difficult to stop a settlement once it has begun, but it is not so difficult to stop it when only the traverse survey has been done and the cadastral survey and draft record-writing have still to be undertaken. We have therefore given instructions that the settlement operations in the district of Bankura shall be kept in abeyance for a year; but in other districts after most careful consideration we have come to the conclusion that it is much better for all concerned that the operations should proceed and we have full confidence that the kindly feelings with which every Settlement Officer is inspired will ensure that no hardship results either to the landlords or to the tenants.

Turning to agriculture, the Hon'ble Chaudhuri Muhammad Ismail Khan has drawn attention to the value of demonstrations of agricultural improvements. We are fully alive to the value of such demonstrations and we are now engaged in increasing the staff of demonstrations. The Hon'ble Member would like to see more demonstrations in the khas mahals of Bakarganj, and I think he may rest assured that I for one am not likely to overlook the claims of that district. As regards fisheries to which another Member has referred, I would recommend him to read Mr. Southwell's very valuable Bulletin (Bulletin No. 5) in which the whole history of our fishery operations is given in detail. Then I was asked by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur what is the sum of Rs. 50,000 which was been put down for gratuitous relief. An exactly similar sum was put down in the year which has just closed. We thought it was wise to make that provision in view of the distress which might still be prevalent in the Burdwan Division. I am glad to say that we had only to spend Rs. 2,000 of that amount. But, although last year we spent only Rs. 2,000, we considered it wise in the present year to repeat the full allotment of Rs. 50,000. We do not know when or where it will be required. We trust it will not be required at all, but all will agree that it is a prudent and considerate provision.

Turning to Public Works, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has asked for some particulars about the Grand Trunk Road. The road, he will remember, is partly under Government and partly under local bodies. We admit that this is not altogether a satisfactory arrangement and we have been considering whether the whole length of the road from the capital until it leaves this Province could not be brought under one management. In the meantime, for the stretches which are under Government management I can tell the Hon'ble Member that Rs 1,33,000 have been set down for repairs and

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

Rs. 15,000 for improving and widening the road at one place. While I am on the subject of roads in that neighbourhood I may allude to what the same Hon'ble gentleman said about the Howrah-Amta Road. That road is under the District Board, and any representation about that road should be made to that local body.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Husain and the Hon'ble Mr. Chaplin have referred to the Dooars roads. We are going on with our programme for the improvement of roads in that district and have allotted four and-a-half lakhs for the coming year. As the Hon'ble Maulvi Sahib has pointed out there are two systems, the Eastern system and the Western system, and he is very anxious that we should connect the two. Sooner or later we must connect them. In the first instance, however, we will confine our attention to improving the two systems, and when they are in a proper state of efficiency we will consider what is the best way to connect them.

Turning to other branches of the Public Works Department several gentlemen have alluded to the measures which we are taking to obviate a recurrence of the Burdwan floods and mention has been made of the admirable report of Mr. Addams-Williams. It is the intention of Government to carry out as far as possible the recommendations in that report. In the present year we have allotted a small sum of Rs. 35,000 which will be spent for survey, etc., in connection with these projects. I assure the House that we are not likely to forget the Burdwan floods and that we shall do all in our power to prevent their recurrence.

Turning to the question of the Chittagong Port, the Hon'ble Mr. Bayley has asked us to make a pronouncement of our policy. I am afraid I can make no pronouncement beyond referring him to the resolution which was moved by the Hon'ble Babu Upendra Lal Ray and accepted by Government at the meeting of the Council at Dacca last autumn. We accepted that resolution then and we still accept it. As regards the finance of the Port, I find that during the last two years Government have given 26 lakhs to this port in addition to a recurring grant of one and a half lakhs which runs for five years and is borne half by the Imperial Government and half by the Provincial. These sums that we have made over to the Port Commissioners of Chittagong have not, we find, been entirely spent. In fact, the other day when they came up and asked us either to give them or lend them Rs. 75,000 in order to buy a dredger we looked into the state of their finances and found that they had been banking some of the money which we had given them. At that time they had a comfortable banking balance of two lakhs of rupees. In the circumstances we were hardly inclined to give them another Rs. 75,000 either as a loan or as a gift and we suggested that the Port Commissioners should use part of the sum which they had banked to buy this dredger. I do not think the House will say that this was an unreasonable thing on the part of Government. The Hon'ble Mr. Bayley has put in a modest request for 72 lakhs of rupees. Well, I can only say that it is a difficult thing to take the "creeks from a Highlander" and it is an equally difficult thing to take 72 lakhs of rupees either from this Government or from the Government of India within the measurable future. But although we cannot give any promise for such a large sum this Government always have had and always will continue to have a very kindly eye on the port of Chittagong. I must apologise to the Hon'ble Mr. Bayley and to his colleagues for having repeatedly promised to go down to Chittagong and examine these questions on the spot, and having repeatedly found at the last moment that I could not do so, but I am really going down in the last week of this month. The Hon'ble Mr. Cowley will accompany me and we shall examine every question in connection with the port of Chittagong and see what we can possibly do to improve the circumstances of the port.

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

Turning to the medical budget, the Hon'ble the Nawab from Comilla has drawn the attention of Government to the needs of mufassal hospitals. I would be the last person to neglect the mufassal at the expense of other places, but at the same time it must be recognised that the duty of providing hospital accommodation in the mufassul rests primarily not with Government but with the local bodies. I find it is estimated the District Boards and municipalities will allot in the coming year Rs. 8,80,000 towards the upkeep of hospitals and dispensaries. Government look to them to do the major part of this work but at the same time I find that Government themselves propose to spend on mufassal hospitals and medical attendance in the mufassal no less a sum than Rs. 6,29,000. Considering that we have laid down that this is primarily not our business but the business of the local bodies, we are not doing badly when we are giving six lakhs odd in addition to the eight lakhs odd offered by the local bodies.

Turning to the question of Belgachia Medical College, to which several Hon'ble gentlemen have referred, the Secretary of State has sanctioned an initial grant of 5 lakhs and half a lakh recurring for the improvement of this college, but it must be remembered that this was not an unconditional grant. The Secretary of State has sanctioned it on the distinct understanding that the college authorities will provide 2½ lakhs as initial expenditure, also that the municipalities will provide Rs. 30,000 and the University Rs.10,000 as recurring expenditure. I sincerely trust that the college authorities, the University and the municipalities will be able to provide their share because it would be a thousand pities if the generous grant that the Secretary of State has sanctioned were allowed to lapse.

Turning to the question of excise, it is refreshing to hear the two sides of the question put before us, the whole-hearted temperance advocacy of the Vice-Chancellor and the brave defence of the consumers of intoxicants by the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha. Government as usual are trying to steer a middle course between the Scylla of the Vice-Chancellor and the Charybdis of the Raja. We want to see the minimum of the drinking and the maximum of revenue, and we steadily pursue that policy.

On behalf of the Government, I tender our thanks to the Advisory Boards in the mufassal and the Licensing Board of Calcutta. This is a subject to which several gentlemen have alluded. The Advisory Boards, as the House is aware, have no statutory functions ; they confine themselves to helping the local officers. These committees exist, I am glad to say, in every municipality and in every area which has a local board throughout the province, and they are doing excellent work. In Calcutta, the Licensing Board has very large statutory functions in deciding where there should be excise shops and where there should be none. Hon'ble gentlemen would perhaps like us to have boards with statutory functions throughout the province ; possibly we may have this in time, possibly we may not. I think it will be wise to confine ourselves in the first instance to the experiment of Calcutta. After all, it is not a small experiment. One-third of the whole excise revenue of the province comes from Calcutta. Therefore, in an area which is responsible for one-third of our excise revenue we have set up an independent Licensing Board with very large statutory powers. This is an experiment which, I am sure, the House will watch with the greatest interest and until we see what happens in Calcutta it would be unwise to rush in and institute similar boards in the mufassal.

Turning to the question of emigration, the Hon'ble Mr. Chaplin has alluded to the question of coolies in the district of Darjeeling. He said that during the Abor Expedition considerable numbers of transport coolies were, he believed, taken from the tea-gardens and he has also voiced other grievances which the tea-planters feel with regard to the recruitment of coolies. These coolies were recruited not for this Government, but for the Assam Government. They were recruited, in the first instance, for a military expedition and afterwards they were recruited in connection with political raids on the frontier. I think there has been some misapprehension regarding this. It has been alleged that these coolies who were recruited in the hill have suffered in health by being sent to work in the plains. This is very far from being the fact. A gallant officer who is now fighting in Flanders at the head of Indian troops informed me that he himself worked with these coolies at a height of 10,000 feet in the Mishmi Hills in the year after the above expedition. For such work none but hill men could be employed, and the coolies recruited in Darjeeling did, as might be expected, admirable work for the State. Then, as regards Mr. Chaplin's allegation that coolies were taken from tea-gardens, I find that he is again under a misapprehension. The Tea Association has specifically disclaimed this allegation. It has confined itself to saying that coolies were taken in large numbers from the bazars and bustees and that to fill the vacancies so caused coolies are attracted away from the tea-gardens. That is quite a different matter. We, like anybody else, can go to the bazar and see what labour we can get from it, but we do not go round and snatch coolies from the gardens of planters. That is a thing which we have never done and which we never shall countenance. In order that the House may understand the real issue between the Government and the tea planters of Darjeeling, it will be convenient if I read what we wrote a few months ago to the Tea Association on this subject :—

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

> "Your letter under reply raises two questions : firstly, the recruitment for Government purposes in the Darjeeling district, and, secondly, the abolition of the thana parade of military recruits at Darjeeling. The first question has been discussed on many occasions, and it is unnecessary to examine it at length in the present letter. But I am to point out that the coolies recruited by Government have been recruited for semi-military purposes and for employment mainly in hilly districts, and that the facts and figures on which your Association base the assertion that these coolies have been employed to the detriment of their health have not been furnished to Government. The attitude consistently adopted by Government in this matter is that it is impossible to admit the claim of the tea planters in Darjeeling to a monopoly of Gurkha labour. Owing to their proximity to Nepal they are already favourably situated with regard to this labour, and there is no desire to deprive them of this advantage. But it is impossible for Government to limit the field for the employment of Gurkha labour, and the tea industry in Darjeeling must compete for this labour in the local market, the labour being allowed to seek the employment which it considers to be most to its advantage. At the same time, His Excellency in Council is prepared to direct the local authorities that, while giving reasonable facilities to recruiting parties for Government purposes from other Provinces, they shall do nothing to dissuade any man from entering the labour force of a tea garden, if the man himself desires to enter it.
> "As regards the thana parades, it was represented to this Government that the orders requiring that every recruit should be paraded for two Saturdays at the thana were very inconvenient to the military authorities and led, in some cases, to recruits being detained for an undesirably long time through missing one detachment and having to wait for the next. It was further reported that during the last ten years there had been no instance of recruits being claimed at the thana parade. It is still open to managers to claim recruits from the depôt, but the recruits concerned belong to the fighting castes, and as it is the accepted policy of Government to discourage in every way the recruitment of Gurkhas of the fighting castes for civil employment, the danger of the military recruitment interfering with the labour on the gardens will in the future cease to exist ; and the opportunities given of claiming at the depôt any Gurkhas who were employed in the garden before the issue of the orders against the recruitment of military castes would seem to be a sufficient safeguard for present requirements."

That is a plain statement of the case, and I think the Council will agree that the attitude of the Government has been reasonable and fair throughout.

I would only mention one other subject, and it is a very entrancing subject, which has been alluded to by many Hon'ble Members. I refer to the industrial expansion of the Province. In this matter, the Local Government are, as you understand, at some disadvantage. We are not like a ministry in the British Parliament who are more or less homogeneous in their economic views. The members of a Local Government, on the other hand, are brought together in a more or less fortuitous manner and I think it is probable that our personal opinions of the Members, Secretaries and Heads of Departments represent every shade of economic thought—from the stern rectitude of John Stuart Mill on the one hand to the whole-hearted heresy of Joseph Chamberlain on the other. When therefore we are asked to make a collective pronouncement on an economic problem we are placed in some difficulty. We feel very much like the cow-boy who purchased a printed prayer and framed it and pointed to it every night saying 'them's my sentiments.' So it is with a Local Government. We can only take the dispatches of the Secretary of State and the speeches of the Member-in-Charge of Commerce and Industry, and point to them saying 'them's my sentiments.' But within the limits laid down for us we are willing and anxious to do whatever is humanly possible for the industrial development of this province and as a beginning we are asking the Government of India to obtain for us an expert Director of Industries, and the larger the powers that are given to our Director of Industries the better pleased the Local Government will be. With these few words, I close my observations and thank once more the Hon'ble Members for the kindly and considerate way they have received the Budget of 1915-16".

The Budget.

Mr. Beatson Bell.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 26th April 1915.

Summary.—During the week under report rain fell generally throughout the province. It has facilitated ploughing operations and bhadoi sowings and has been also favourable to the standing crops. More rain is however wanted for aus paddy and jute. Damage to boro paddy and the mango crop by hailstorm has been reported from Murshidabad and Malda. Cattle-disease is reported from ten districts. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by 0·6 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.
